Taggart-Teigen Vows Are Exchanged January 18th

First Baptist church of this city was the scene of the marriage on Saturday, January 18, of Carol Taggart, Detroit Lakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Taggart of Thief River Falls, and Peter Teigen, also of Detroit Lakes, son of the Donald Teigens of this city.

The double-ring service was read by Rev. Ronald Dalrell. Only the members of the immediate family were present. Floor baskets of pink and white gladioli and white carnations enhanced the altar setting. Wedding music from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. Orvis Nelson of this city, a friend of the bride. "OPerfect Love" was sung as a duet by Mr. and Mrs. James Erickson, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, before the ceremony. James Erickson sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, in a suit of winter white, with avacado green assessories was given in marriage by her father. She wore a corsage of deep pink roses and light pink carnations with white stephanotis and green accents. The only jewelry which she wore was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Dale Bernard of Thief River Falls, sister of the bride. She wore a dress of avacado green wool with accessories to match, and a corsage similar to that of the bride. She also wore pearl earrings as her only jewelry.

Gas and Cigaret Tax Deductible on U.S. Returns

Taxpayer, However, Must Be Able to Substantiate Claims for Deductions

Gasoline and cigaret taxes paid to the state of Minnesota are deductible on your 1963 federal income tax return if you itemize and list all allowable deduction on page 2 of Form 1040, George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue said today.

During 1963 the tax rate on both gasoline and cigarets purchased increased, Lethert stated. In claiming the Minnesota gasoline tax as a deduction, 5 cents per gallon should be deducted for the number of gallons purchased up to June 30. After July 1 the tax increased to 6 cents per gallon, which is the allowable deduction for the number of gallons purchased after that date.

Similarly, the state tax on cigarets increased last year. Up to May 21, 1963, the deduction allowed is 7 cents per package purchased and used, Mr. Lethert declared. After May 21, the tax increased to 8 cents per package, which is the rate of deduction for the packages purchased and used.

If requested to prove deductions for gasoline and cigaret taxes claimed on the Federal return, Mr. Lethert indicated it would be the taxpayer's responsibility to substantiate these deductions. Taxpayers are urged to keep records of their purchases of gasoline and cigarets so that they will be able to substantiate the amounts of tax paid on these items.

He also added, "there has been a combined effort of hundreds of volunteers to make this record possible. Banks, newspapers, industry, radio, television, and a host of individual citizens have given generously of their time to help the sale of savings bonds."

Sales of savings bonds in Pennington county for the year, amounted to $164,265, according to J. M. Roche, county chairman, or 77.9 per cent of quota.

House Plants Is Topic of Women's Program Tuesday

C. Gustav Hard to Talk At Session As Part of Soil District Meeting

C. Gustav Hard, extension horticulturist from the University of Minnesota, will speak on the topic of houseplants at the city auditorium on January 28 at 1:30 p. m. This meeting is for all interested women, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, County home agent.

The meeting is being held in connection with the Pennington county Soil Conservation District annual meeting. Dr. Jim Justin and Dr. Curtis Overdahl will be speaking to the men. Both men and women are invited to attend the district soils meeting and women's session.

Growing potted plants is one of the most popular indoor pastimes today. House plants provide color and beauty during the winter months, especially for holidays when entertaining is at its peak. Plants are even considered an important part of the interior decoration.

In addition, the growing of plants in the home helps satisfy the gardening urge of those who cannot have outdoor gardens and for those who wish to continue their horticultural activities during the long Minnesota winters. It also presents a challenge for even the most ardent outdoor gardeners. Thus, attending the "house plant" talk would be rewarding for many people, Miss Offerdahl said.

Following the talk by Gustav Hard, free coffee and lunch will be served in the basement of the city auditorium.

Psychologically Speaking. . .

by DR. PAUL HAUCK

Western Mental Health Center
Marshall, Minn.

In Cooperation with Pennington County Association for Mental Health

Free Association

As a rule, a person's unconscious thoughts remain hidden from him except at such times that his guard is down. Thus, in such moments a person's true feelings can suddenly slip by his censor in the form of slips of the tongue.

His guard is down also when he is hypnotized. He believes so completely what the hypnotist is telling him that he will face most any kind of unconscious material the hypnotist is calling forth. The same happens in our dreams. Sleep is a form of unconsciousness and our thoughts during sleep can easily arise from the unconscious reservoir.

You may have noticed that each of these methods seems to have to trick or knock out our conscious guard. You may have wondered by now if it isn't possible without all this trickery to face one's unconscious thinking quite deliberately. The answer is yes. It is a method first used to its full advantages by Sigmund Freud, the founder of psychoanalysis.

Freud had used hypnosis in his work for some time. He was dissatisfied with this method however, because the patient often forgot all he said during his hypnotic sleep. He, therefore, asked the patient to relax and say anything that came to his mind. He found that this was a technique that patients had to work at to master, but when finally learned, enabled him to hear a walth of material which was not heard of until that time. He called this method free association, and the information he gained by it is the foundation of psychiatry today.

Here, then, was a penetrating technique. It can be compared to a searchlight swinging around on a swivel, illuminating distant corners of the night for fleeting moments, then leaving it in darkness, but soon swinging back again.

If you doubt that this will work, may I suggest that you try it a few times? Find a comfortable position on your couch, stare at the ceiling or close your eyes and from that point say aloud anything and everything that enters your awareness.

You'll probably be uncomfortable with this at first, and your talking will be entirely too sensible. But if you can truly be honest with yourself and really say anything that flashes across your mind you may surprise yourself. Of course, that's the very reason that some subjects have such a hard time saying everything that enters their minds. Thoughts can be upsetting at times and, if the going gets too rough, the free association either never gets started, or if once begun, immediately stops.

Whether or not you experiment with this is immaterial. The really important point to keep in mind is that very much of our thinking takes place on an unconscious level. In fact, it is estimated that nine-tenths of our thinking is unconscious. If this is true, we are like icebergs. The part that shows above water (consciousness) is by far the smaller when compared to the part that holds this up, (the unconscious).

MAIN STREET, U.S.A.

BY BERT MILLS
Washington Editor of "National Publisher"

Mrs. Esther Peterson, already one of the best known women in Washington and the highest government official of her sex, will soon be one of the best known ladies throughout the nation.

Earlier this month President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed Mrs. Peterson special assistant to the President for consumer affairs. This is a new post and the first time that American housewives have had their own representative at the White House.

A former teacher and labor union lobbyist, Mrs. Peterson is also assistant secretary of labor. She will retain that post and double as the government's consumer leader. When space is found for her at the White House, she will have an office there as well as at the Labor department.

Mrs. Peterson also holds a third major position. She is executive vice chairman of the President's commission on the status of women—a post in which she succeeded the late Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

This commission was assigned by President Kennedy the task of developing "plans for advancing the full partnership of men and women in our national life." Its report is due next October.

Mrs. Peterson is a youthful 57, though her hair is white. President Johnson called her "dynamic" and that appears to be the right word. She is outspoken and outgoing, the kind that fits in any company.

Interviewed by the National Editorial association less than two weeks after her appointment, Mrs. Peterson talked freely about her hopes to better the lot of the nation's consumers. She realizes that she has a big job and will need a lot of help to succeed in it.

Wants Women to Write Her

Mrs. Peterson has asked women to write to her and she is receiving about 50 letters a day from housewives and others. In the first 500 there was only a single negative message. One lady thought the government should save its money and not have a consumer representative.

Women write to Mrs. Peterson about all sorts of things, such as to complain that "economy size" packages are not always economical, and that financing charges on installment purchases are too high.

At the moment, Mrs. Peterson is just getting started on her new job. She has no staff, no budget and no finished plan of operations. She is also just out of bed after contracting a cold on her quick trip to the LBJ ranch in Texas to confer with the President about her new job.

Mrs. Peterson will be aided by two advisory groups, a new President's committee on consumer interests, and an old consumer advisory council. The committee will be appointed soon and will include at least nine government representatives, plus private citizens.

The council which she inherited will continue to serve until July 1. It is comprised chiefly of "professional consumers" who represent organized groups, like the League of Women Voters and General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Peterson is anxious to "broaden the base" of the advisory group. She feels that many consumers are "not really represented" and she is anxious to have a "real citizen's group" to assist her in developing a program.

Vigilance Promised

While her assignment is rather vague, Mrs. Peterson has been charged by the President with making sure that "the voice of the consumer will be loud, clear, uncompromising and effective in the highest councils of the federal government."

The President said that the consumer committee "will be vigilant to keep consumers informed so they are not completely at the mercy of those who exact unfair prices or levy unfair charges."

"My special assistant and the new committee," the President added, "will lead the campaign of America's homemakers against sharp practices and unwarranted price increases."

That is quite a charter and Mrs. Peterson is aware of the pitfalls ahead. For example, housewives are complaining of higher sugar prices. But Mrs. Peterson does not want to go off half-cocked. A mere passing comment from her might upset the sugar market and have international repercussions. She will remain mum on sugar prices until she is sure of all the facts.

A Housewife and Mother

Mrs. Peterson is the wife of a retired foreign service officer who is now a professor at American university in Washington. Two of their four children are in college now. One is in the Peace Corps in the Philippines and the youngest is a prep school senior.

A native of Utah with degrees from Brigham Young and Columbia, Mrs. Peterson has lived in Sweden and Belgium, as well as in Boston, Philadelphia, New York and Washington.

She is well known on Capitol Hill and looks forward to testifying before congressional committees on behalf of consumers. In her labor department capacity, she has already been a witness in favor of bills to regulate packaging and fiance charges.

Mrs. Peterson is an ardent Democrat and expects to be active in the Presidential campaign this year. Republicans no doubt will charge that politics was one reason why her job was created.

Whatever the motivation of the President in making the appointment, Mrs. Peterson is obviously a woman worth watching.

Thieves Suffer First Loss at GF

Grand Forks Warriors handed the senior hockey Thieves their first defeat of the season when, on Sunday afternoon in the Winter Sports Building in Grand Forks, they scored a 10 to 7 win over the Northwest Hockey leading Thieves.

The Thieves will play a league game on Sunday when they travel to Crookston for a game against coach Bud Salem's Pirates.

On Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 1 and 2, the Thieves will participate in a four-team tournament at Eveleth. The first-round pairings, for games on Saturday night, will find the Thieves meeting the St. Paul All-State squad at 7:00 p. m.; and the Eveleth Rangers meeting the Carlson-LaVine team at 9:00 p. m. The championship finals will be played on Sunday.

In Sunday's league encounter at Grand Forks, coach Purpur's club, with Stan Paschke and Jerry Wentz each accounting for three goals, held the lead throughout most of the game. It was only in the first period, which ended in a 2-all draw, that the Thieves were able to hold the Warrior scorers on even terms.

Center-ice man Paschke, the former Grand Forks Central and North Dakota U star, in addition to scoring three goals, had four assists for a seven-point performance.

The game's individual scoring star, though, was hustling Eddie (Gus) Holmes, with the blond wingman tallying four goals, and getting three of these goals in the final period. Other Thieves' scorers were Dale Wennberg with a pair and Jerry Westby with a singleton.

Prowler Sextet in Win and Loss

The Warroad Warriors, tallying goals in the second and third periods, handed the hockey Prowlers their first loss in Region Eight conference play on Tuesday night by scoring a 2 to 0 win over the locals on the Arena ice.

The Prowlers will play the defending state champion St. Paul Johnson team here on Saturday night. And as a preliminary to that game, coach Jerry Westby's Prowler B team will play coach Jim Smalley's Bemidji Lumberjacks. The Prowler B's racked up a pair of wins this week, scoring an 8 to 1 over the East Grand Forks B squad at East Grand Forks on Monday night, and defeating the Warroad B squad, 4 to 1, here Tuesday night.

Before a cram-packed crowd here on Tuesday night, coach Myron Grafstrom's Warroad Warriors, one of the Region Eight's top-ranked teams, edged out the Prowlers, 2 to 0.

The Prowlers missed a scoring opportunity in the opening second of the game when Don Mathieu, gaining the draw at the face-off, rushed into the Warroad zone, and just missed the short corner with a drive from close in. In this Mathieu was foiled on a pair of scoring attempts by the agile goaltending of Dave Erickson. Nobby made one brilliant save when he covered the far side and kicked out a shot as the Warriors were taking advantage of a Prowler penalty.

Warroad moved into the scoring column at the 5:56 mark of the second period when, following a rush into the Prowler zone, Vern Hodgson, from close in, banged a rebound past Erickson and into the south net.

And in the third period, on a "sleeper" play, Charles Marvin, getting a clearing pass in center ice, skated in to score, driving the puck into the north goal from just in front of the crease. Marvin followed the puck into the net.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Perhaps the Best

Local high school fans have seen some capable basketball players on the local court this season, and among these visiting stars have been Dave Cirks of Ada, Jim Wheeler of Fosston, and John Warford of Bemidji.

And another good one is due to perform on the local court on Friday night when coach John Buchli brings his Fargo Central high school Midgets into town for a game against the Prowlers. The Midgets have played impressive basketball the past several weeks, and one of the pacesetters in the Midgets play has been Charles (Chipper) Litten, a junior center.

Litten, as a sophomore, was a starter against the Prowlers in the game played at Fargo, and which was won by the Midgets, 67 to 60. In that game, though, the scoring star for the Fargo club, and the lone senior in the starting lineup, was forward Mike McNair. McNair, a deadly southpaw shooter, racked up ten field goals and five free throws. Litten, who tallied 12 points against the Prowlers last season, has proven to be Central's prime scoring threat this season.

The Fishing Derby

The seventh annual fishing derby, sponsored by the men's club of St. Bernard's church, will be held on the Red Lake river off Tindolph Point Sunday, Jan. 26. The hours of the derby will be from 1:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m.

And there are a number of valuable prizes that will be awarded to the angler who is successful in catching the first fish, the biggest fish, etc., and etc. And the grand prize, a 14-foot aluminum boat, will be "up for grabs".

While the actual fishing competition will be from 1:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m., the men of St. Bernard's will be there from 9:00 a. m. drilling holes, placing stakes, and preparing refreshments. Given favorable weather, a big crowd of anglers is expected. And don't forget that a 1964 fishing license will be required. Provisions will be made whereby 1964 licenses can be purchased.

Wrestling Tonight

The Prowler A and B wrestling squads will be in action this evening, Wednesday, against the Bemidji Lumberjack A and B squads.

The B squad preliminary matches will start at 6:30 p. m., while the varsity matches will begin at 7:30 p. m. Bemidji is the defending Region Eight squad champion, and coach Al Shaff's Prowlers will enter the meet as shortenders. There are several matches that should generate plenty of interest, and it will be worth while to watch such Prowlers as Myles Olson, Rocco Wilson, Gary Nereson, Joe Taylor, and several others, in their individual bouts against the Jacks.

Miscellany

Every Christmas season, for the past twenty years or so, I have been receiving a Christmas card from Joe Popiel of Winnipeg. Recent hockey fans do not know Joe, but the old-time States-Dominion hockey fans who can recollect the days of George Beverley and his senior hockey Thieves, well, they will remember Joe. Joe Popiel was a member of the Thieves' "pony" line, playing at a wing, with Joe Novak at the other wing, and Paul Kornek at center. That was the Thieves team that played an exhibition game against the St. Paul Saints of the American Association, and played before perhaps the largest crowd to cram into the arena. The Saints, a powerful team, defeated the locals, 8 to 3. . . .The senior hockey Winnipeg Maroons suffered a grievous loss last week when their playmaking center-ice man, Fred Dunsmore, was badly injured. Dunsmore, who is rated as one of Winnipeg's finest all 'round athletes, was hit in the eye by a stick during an exhibition game, and while he will not lose the sight in that eye, his vision will be impaired. And he is finished as far as hockey is concerned for this season. Dunsmore is well known to the hockey fans in this area as he played several seasons with the Roseau Cloverleafs in the States-Dominion league. . . .Art Blackburde, one of the two Warroad Warriors declared ineligible for further participation in Minnesota high school athletics, revealed that he spent two years in the ninth grade while attending school in Canada. For this reason Blackburde was declared ineligible for this, his senior year season. And Allen Kostynk, the other Canadian boy at Warroad who was declared ineligible, spent two years as an eleventh grader, and so he lost his senior year of competition.

Nonfarm Workers Top 1,000,000 in December

Minnesota's nonfarm employment, at 1,007,200 workers in December, showed a drop of 7,400 from November; but was 13,400 higher than one year ago. Frank T. Starkey, commissioner of employment security, reported that December was the seventh consecutive month that nonfarm wage and salary employment in the state has remained above the one million job mark.

The loss of 7,400 jobs between November and December resulted from a drop of 1,400 jobs in manufacturing and 6,000 in nonmanufacturing. The manufacturing job decline was due to a cutback of 500 in employment in durable goods firms and 900 in nondurables. These changes were seasonal in nature and none were unusual for this time of year, Starkey said.

The nonmanufacturing employment decline was made up of job losses in mining and quarrying (1,300), construction (10,300), transportation (600), public utilities (100), services (500), and government (500; these were partially offset by the seasonal upturn in trade of 7,500 jobs.

All of the above changes were seasonal in nature, with the increase in trade employment being due to the Christmas season. The decline in construction employment, however, was significantly larger than usual. The 10-year average decrease between November and December is 8,800 compared to 10,300 in 1963, according to Starkey. Construction employment had been relatively high in 1963 because of highway construction projects; it remained high through November because of warm weather, but the cold December dropped employment to usual winter levels.

Production workers in manufacturing earned an average of $107.07 per week in December, compared to $106.02 in November and $104.96 in December, 1962. The average hourly earnings for the same months were $2.61, $2.59, and $2.57; the average weekly hours were 41.0, 40.9, and 40.8, he said.

Total unemployment in Minnesota increased seasonally to 78,000 in December, an increase of 20,700 from November, and 900 higher than a year ago. Starkey reported that the December unemployment rate of 5.5 percent was the same as last December in contrast to the November rate of 4.0 percent.

Veterinarians to Hold Convention January 27 to 29

Minnesota's 600 veterinarians will hold a three-day seminar at the Radisson Hotel in Minneapolis January 27, 28, and 29 to outline plans for coordinating veterinary science with all phases of the forward movement so evident today in the livestock industry.

This means intensifying disease eradication programs, greater usage of preventive health measures, more attention to nutrition problems, increased support of basic research, and the rapid application of new techniques and new pharmaceuticals as science makes them available to the profession.

Theme of the three day conference will be "The Role of the Veterinarian in a changing Agricultural Economy." This will be the 67th annual meeting of the Minnesota Veterinary Medical Association.

1964 Engineers' Conference Set

Highway Dept. Arranges Parley February 17-19

About 300 highway engineers are expected to attend the annual Minnesota highway department engineers' conference Feb. 17-19 at the Hotel Saint Paul, St. Paul, the department reports.

The annual conference brings together representatives of the state highway department, county and city highway departments and the Bureau of Public Roads.

Governor Karl F. Rolvaag and Highway Commissioner James C. Marshall are scheduled to address the opening session Feb. 17.

Topics to be covered include maintenance of interstate highways, the future of the federal highway program, performance standards, current highway department research projects, status of the Minnesota highway program, public contacts, aesthetics of urban and rural freeway construction, data processing, continuous reinforced concrete paving, the highway department's responsibility in a national emergency and color slides of the construction of the Dartmouth bridge.

Guest speakers scheduled are; W. W. Fryhofer, division engineer, Bureau of Public Roads, St. Paul; E. L. Sherertz, design engineer, Illinois division of highways; E. Bachman, director, Minnesota Nurserymens association; Vera Likens, state civil service; Jack Sehlin, Industrial Construction Co., Minneapolis; and William L. Minarik, H. B. Fuller Co.

Drivers under 21 Can't Operate Car in New York State

Minnesota drivers under 18 headed for the World's Fair in New York City should plan on having an adult along to do the driving, the Minnesota AAA warned today. New York City has an even higher minimum driving age; drivers must be at least 21.

"Even though they may have a valid driving license from their home state, out-of-state motorists under 18 are forbidden to drive in New York State," said Dr. William G. Sauer, Rochester, president of the motoring organization.

Knowledge of New York State and New York City law is especially important during 1964 and 1965, the two years when the New York World's Fair will be held and millions of motorists will be New York-bound. The Fair runs from April 22 through October 18 this year.

Newfolden Quint Loses Two Games

Nordics Are Defeated by Middle River and Roseau

The Newfolden Nordics, taking a pair of losses last week, had their Border basketball conference lead erased, and are now in a three-way tie with Roseau and Middle River.

On Friday night, on the Newfolden court, and in a non-conference tilt, the Nordics dropped an 88 to 68 decision to the high-scoring Greenbush Tigers. Greenbush, with Ron Brazier and Jim Johnson accounting for 24 points apiece, turned in a pair of 23-point periods, the second and fourth, tp pull away from the Nordics.

On Tuesday night, also on the Newfolden court, the Middle River Skippers, with Rick Holmes scoring 30 points, edged out Newfolden, 65 to 63, in a double overtime game. This game, which was a Border conference contest, found the Nordics, in a come-from-behind effort, knot the game at 56-all in the final seconds of play to force overtime play. In the first overtime period each team marked up a pair of points, but in the second overtime period the Skppers tallied three field goals and a free throw while the Nordics were marking up one field goal and three free throws.

Newfolden will entertain the Williams Wolves on the Newfolden court on Saturday night, Jan. 25.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Stewart Are Found Dead Sunday

An elderly rural Warroad couple died Sunday of asphyxiation as a result of a faulty fuel oil heater in their home, according to Roseau County Coroner Dr. J. L. Delmore of Roseau.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. Walter (Ray) Stewart, residents of the Warroad community since 1915. Mr. Stewart, 81, and his wife, Carrie, 71, resided five miles south and one and one-half miles east of Warroad.

The bodies of the couple were discovered at about 1:30 p. m. Sunday by their son, Carl Stewart of Warroad, who had visited them earlier on the same day.

Mr. Stewart's body was found on a sofa and his wife's body was on the floor near another sofa. The couple's dog died on the couch near Mrs. Stewart.

Subsequent investigation pointed to a floor heater in the living room as the cause of the fatal fumes. A second heater in the kitchen was operating properly.

Winter Shows Aim to Attract Valley Youth

"Let's keep some of our top youth in the valley" might well be a quote of the board of managers of the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, as they have readied the program of many youth activities for the 1964 show.

Saturday, February 2, is Farm Youth Day. 4-H members and FFA members from the entire Northwestern Minnesota, with their coaches, will gather at 7:30 a.m. in the Pavilion at the Northwest School and will organize for judging various classes of livestock. Following closely at their heels will be F.F.A. Crops Judging judges gathering at the Hill building at the Northwest School to identify crops, weed specimens, and to judge the quality of grain and other crop seeds.

The dairy industry of Northwestern Minnesota is trying a new idea. They are doing their best to bring together, at the shows, some top-quality purebred dairy heifers to provide an unusual opportunity for farm youth who might wish to get started in the dairy business with a quality calf. 4-H'ers and F.F.A.'ers are especially invited to this sale.

Also on Saturday, the potato judges among farm youth of the area will gather at 1:30 p.m. for competition in judging potatoes and identifying potato diseases and varieties. This contest will be held in the Hill building at the Northwest School. The 4-H Public Speaking contest is scheduled for 1:45 p.m. in the Kiehle building at the Northwest School.

The Futurity livestock breeders will enter into competition in the livestock show ring at two o'clock in the afternoon and continue until all the animals have been judged.

The day winds up with the Farm Youth banquet to be held at 6:00 p. m. in the dinnig hall of Northwest School. Duane Wilson, commissioner of agriculture for the state of Minnesota will be the speaker.

Further information on the Farm Youth Day activities will appear in future news items.

Editorials . . .

"When we look critically at public reaction to welfare, at the harshness and rejection which it so often shows, let us not forget that we have a multi-billion dollar program, and that welfare has a large enough place in society to make it a visible target. Yet, we have never come to grips with the concept of interdependence in our society.

"We still cling to the picture of the self-reliant pioneer, with a gun in one hand, and an axe over the other shoulder, striding into the wilderness to provide his own maintenance. To us, self reliance is a moral, as well as an economic question, and dependence on others a threat to a cherished image. Some go so far as to say that we lash out at measures for the dependent because of an innate, deeply personal, fear of dependency."

—Wayne Vasey, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

How to Smack a Quack

"Quackery will be profitable as long as we continue to fall for it," states the American Medical association, commenting on the health quack and food fad quack which have been around since the beginning of time. The way to stop this menace, which costs an estimated billion dollars a year and untold damage to health, is to make quackery unprofitable.

The AMA's department of investigation has offered six guidelines to assist in spotting a quack. A person is usually a quack if: he uses a special or "secret" machine or formula he claims can cure disease; he guarantees a quick cure; he advertises or uses case histories and testimonials to promote his cure; he clamors constantly for medical investigation and recognition; he claims medical men are persecuting him or are afraid of his competition; he tells you that surgery or x-ray or drugs will cause more harm than good.

It is getting toward the season when quacks of all types begin their northern migration. Be on the alert. Don't be taken in by glowing words. The quack depends on you for a living.

Academic Freedom

When the recently-publicized comments of a University of Minnesota professor were released, reference was made to the term, "academic freedom." How can it be that we, as citizens of the United States, can condone and even encourage the propaganda pitching practices of the Communists in the very soul of our nation's future—the institutions of higher education?

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, had this to say to a meeting of the Catholic Youth Organization in New York City:

> "Communism—in all its forms and in all its variations—is the avowed enemy of liberty and of justice and of God. The Communists fear free and independent thought. They fear truth. They fear God even though they deny Him. They fear the inherent courage and dignity of man created in His image.
> "Today, the Communists are engaged in an intensive campaign to control the minds and win the allegiance of American youth. Toward this end a National Youth Commission has been established within the Communist party, U. S. A.; special publications have been issued; front groups have been organized; and an ambitious speech program has been directed against our colleges and universities.
> "During the past two years, Communist spokesmen have appeared on nearly 100 campuses from coast to coast. Their purpose: to create confusion, raise questions and spread doubt among our young people concerning the American way of life.
> "If their constitutional right to free speech allows them to use the public school forum to promote the secular creed of Marxism-Leninism which openly and avowedly denies God, does their constitutional freedom also prohibit the rest of us from using the same public school forum to express our faith that God does exist?
> "It is indeed ironic that Communist party speakers — whose minds and thoughts and actions are in no manner free — should demand the opportunity to parrot the Moscow line to young Americans under the guise of academic freedom".

A considerable amount of FBI work is directed against the Communist party and its working to overthrow our government. Director Hoover knows whereof he speaks—and we believe he speaks with wisdom borne of experience and knowledge.

"Academic freedom" or not, Communist propagandists should not be permitted to sow their seeds of discontent on such fertile soil as the inquiring minds of our nation's students. We do not say that the ideologies of Communism should not be taught. We believe that our future leaders should be aware of our greatest menace and how it works—but this can be accomplished by people other than propagandists. The pitfalls of these ideologies should be presented at the same time.

In our society we do not advocate instruction on committing crimes or lectures on how to get away with murder. Why should we toe the Communist line? Should we offer our enemies the key to our own front door?

Need Not Apologize

We recently heard a recorded speech by one of the nation's outstanding speakers on Americanism. One point he made was that this nation does not need to apologize to any other nation for whatever problems we may have.

The speaker said he was asked to appear at a college question and answer session. As the students filed in, he noted about a dozen "students" from India—the youngest of whom seemed to be about 30 years of age. The first question came from a member of that group: "Will you tell us about Little Rock?"

"Do I understand you to say that you would like to discuss segregation today," the speaker had asked, and he had received an affirmative answer. He said he had been at enough of these meetings to know that a number of the "older students" did not carry books but carried Communist party cards. His answer to the question was something like this:

> "Why should you want me to discuss segregation? In India you have the greatest segregation in the world. For more than 500 years you have had a caste system where millions of people are untouchables —where if their shadow so much as falls upon another person they are cursed and can't be cleansed for 60 days. Why should a rank amateur like myself attempt to talk about segregation when we have a real professional right here. YOU come up and tell the people how segregation is practiced."

The speaker concluded that the United States owes nobody any apologies for its problems. The United States carries the only hope of freedom that the world has—and it must carry this hope with head held high.

New Hat in the Ring

Into the political ring in Ohio has been tossed a new hat—this one bearing great resemblance to a space helmet. The hat belongs to one John H. Glenn Jr., hero of the nation's space program, who has forsaken his post of astronaut to enter the Ohio race for U. S. Senator.

In seeking the Democratic nomination for senator, Glenn recently scored as apprent victory. In Ohio's first Democratic party pre-primary convention in nearly half a century, delegates adjourned without endorsing either Glenn or incumbent Stephen M. Young. Sen. Young had said he wanted party endorsement.

It now appears that there will be a "survival of the fittest" battle for the Democratic nomination. Republican opposition has not yet been named for the senate post, but Robert Taft Jr. is expected to be a likely candidate. Young, Glenn and Taft are all well-known names in the nation.

As it looks on the surface, the race between Young and Glenn will be a test of party strength against popular appeal. Young has assurances of support from state organization stalwarts, and we believe his tenure of service entitles him at at least that. Glenn is riding the wave of publicity and popularity occasioned by his participation in a program which has made him a hero of sorts.

From the standpoint of political value, Sen. Young should be the obvious choice for the nomination. He has made politics his life and has enough seniority to carry some weight in national policy making. As for Glenn, a few orbits around earth hardly seem to qualify him as senate material. If elected, he would be "starting at the top" in the political world. This could be both good and bad. He would lack the experience of negotiating so important in politics, but he would also be relatively free of obligations for past political favors.

Just why Glenn has chosen to enter the race is a matter of speculation. It does not seem logical that he would reach such a conclusion by himself. Who is encouraging him, and why, are also important questions. We will watch the May 5 primary with interest.

Get MORE egg dollars

Now is the time to do something about your egg income — to get the highest possible return from your flock. Take your cue from official Random Sample Tests conducted from California to Rhode Island in which Starcross 288 proved to be the top profit producer. Just look at the three year summary of Shaver superiority in Western New York Random Sample Tests.

	Net Income	Eggs Per Pullet Housed	Per Cent Eggs Large and Extra-Large
Shaver Starcross 288	$2.976	245.9	75.37
Test Average	2.418	222.5	70.70
Shaver Advantage	+.558	+23.4	+4.67

A New Layer—Starcross 288 was developed from strains with the best egg-producing and feed-conversion qualities. Poultry scientists took these desirable characteristics and bred them into one layer. The result is a bird that excelled in across-the-board comparisons of white egg layers.

Hearing at Bemidji Tuesday Arranged by Interim Tax Group

The Bemidji Chamber of Commerce today urged all business, labor and civic leaders in northwestern Minnesota to "be seen and heard" at the Interim Tax Study Commission hearings scheduled for Tuesday, January 28, in the Bemidji Elks Lodge, starting at 9:30 a. m.

James R. Hambacher, chamber president and general manger of station KBUN, said, "It is past the time when Minnesota businessmen and employees should make their wishes known about the state's outmoded and punitive personal property taxation. I believe all of us should give serious and immediate attention to revising state tax policies to promote plants, payrolls and profits."

"The interim commission hearing in Bemidji," he added, "gives us all a place to be seen and be heard."

Created by the last legislature, the interim committee consists of seven state senators and seven state representatives with Sen. Donald O. Wright, chairman. It is charged with the task of studying the impact of state and local taxes on the state's economy and to make recommendations for legislative action in 1965.

Minnesota's personal property tax on business inventories and productive machinery, in particular, are generally conceded to be a barrier to new plant location in the state and a depressing factor on expansion of existing industries.

Two new taxes appear to be those generally favored as replacements, (1) a 3 per cent sales tax and, (2) a net earnings or net profits tax. The sales tax would align Minnesota with 37 other states and the District of Columbia which now have such a tax. All of the states adjoining Minnesota —North and South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan — now have a sales tax. It is also argued that Minnesota's tourist-travel industry would provide at least $7 million in out-of-state money and that a sales tax would have little or no effect on vacationers and conventioneers since most of them come from sales tax states.

A 4 per cent net profits tax has been proposed which would have the advantage of taxing business only when it is operating in the black and which would encourage businesses to keep a full inventory and full employment the year around.

The interim commission hearing in Bemidji will take testimony from witnesses in a fourteen-county area of northwestern Minnesota.

Phone Pioneers Collect Glasses

Local NW Bell Group To Aid Needy Around World

Telephone Pioneers of America in this area are again aiding the work of New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., an international volunteer, non-profit, non-sectarian organization, according to J. M. Wilson, local Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager.

"For the second year in cooperation with Northwestern Bell, we have set up a collection box in our local phone company business office," he said. "We need metal frames in any condition, unbroken plastic frames with or without lenses, safety or sunglasses, soft eyeglass cases and bits of precious metals such as gold, silver, platinum in old watches or broken jewelry."

New Eyes For the Needy, Inc. is a unique organization. In operation for 28 years, it collects discarded eyeglasses, sorts them and distributes them to hospitals and medical missions throughout the world. The work is carried on without soliciting funds. Any money needed to buy new prescription glasses for the needy is realized from the sale of the metal in metal-framed glasses, and of precious metals collected.

Last year, the Telephone Pioneers in the Detroit Lakes Council including Thief River Falls collected 1100 pairs of glasses. Pioneer members here include L. G. Hetland, Joe Cummings, A. J. Rau, Susie Schalz, Verna Wold and Louise Steenerson.

LETTER TO THE OCCASIONAL CHURCH-GOER

Dear Sir:

I understand your problem. For years it was mine.

I'd say to myself, "George, it's about time you went to church." And I'd set the alarm, and put on my best suit, and start out with great intentions.

Then the kids would deflate me: "Gee, Mom, is Pop going with us?" I felt awkward already!

And the awkwardness never left. All through the service I felt stiff, uncomfortable, and very conspicuous.

So I'd stay away six more weeks—or was it sixteen? Then I'd try again. Same result! So I figured there was something wrong with the Church—or with me . . .

To rule out that slim latter possibility I decided to try worshipping every Sunday . . . just for a month or two. You understand. I had to prove the fault was with the Church.

Strange! Along about the third week the awkward feeling disappeared. And the kids stopped expressing amazement. And I began understanding a great many things about the Church . . . and myself . . . and God!

There's more to religion than meets the eye—after you get used to the Light.

Sincerely,

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sidelines Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

Thinking in terms of human traffic around the clock, day in and day out throughout the year, the busiest spot in Thief River Falls probably is Northwestern Hospital. The number of patients served is in itself an impressive figure. Throughout the country in modern, well-managed hospitals, the plant personnel exceeds the number of patients by more than two to one. Then there are the many professional people and their assistants and certainly a most numerous group would be the friends and relatives of the patients who are daily visitors.

Breaking these totals down into accurate statistics is, of course, not possible. For the month of December the number of admissions was 239, less than average. January is showing a marked increase, and the number of patient days also varies a great deal month by month. But over a period of years there has been a steady increase in the number of admissions and the average occupancy and that trend is expected to continue. There now are 127 full time and 68 part time employees or a total of 195 in all, and the operation, as we stated, works around the clock.

According to surveys conducted by the State Department of Health, the hospital now serves a population area of about 30,000 people. The new addition that will provide special services for physical medicine and the chronically ill is expected to serve a population area of 60,000 people, according to official surveys. New equipment made available for this service will also improve greatly the facilities in other departments. The new x-ray, for instance, will be the best available in the state and will further improve the hospital's overall radiological service.

A large share of the hospital's operating costs are spent locally and these dollars continue to circulate in our community. According to Norm Peterson's totals for the first eight months of the present fiscal year, total expenses for the period added up to $523,382.98. Of this total, $419,049.20, or about 80 per cent, was spent locally.

Incidentally, having spent a few nights in the hospital last week for inspection purposes, I was surprised by one return to old hospital standards. I had called Norm for a "good" room and had his assurance that the best would be available. On being shown to my assigned quarters, I was a little surprised to note the return to old standards. The "good" room which I occupied several days without comment. I didn't want to indicate my ignorance to modern trends, had one door, one window, one table, one chair, one lavatory, electric lights and one bed pan. It seems that good hotel rooms no longer provide good toilet facilities. Will check further with Norm on this.

CHECKING of radio signal at the "Omni" station at the Thief River Falls municipal airport was done last week by a three-man crew of the Federal Aviation Agency using the above plane. The converted DC-3 flew patterns at a cruising speed of 160 miles per hour, flying about 1,600 miles and using about 700 gallons of gasoline while making the local check. The station wagon in the photo is owned by Stone's Mobile Radio service which has the contract for maintenance of the station.

FAA Crew Checks Airport VOR Station

Test Will Permit Radio To Be Used In Bad Weather

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

There are more gadgets, gauges, dials, buttons, levers, switches, graphs, charts and other instruments and controls in a Federal Aviation Agency flight check plane than the average person would care to count. Most of them were used last week in checking the VOR or Omni radio station at the Thief River Falls municipal airport.

For benefit of the uninformed, we can advise that VOR is the abbreviation for Very High Frequency Omni Directional Radio Range. "Omni" is in itself an abbreviation for omni-directional or all-directional radio signal. The flying radio laboratory, a converted DC-3 leased by the FAA, checked the station for accuracy to see that the radiated signal will be precise enough to permit pilots to make blind approaches to the airport, primarily in bad weather.

Russell Mosler, electronic technician on the three-man crew, termed the local facility "..a honey of a station". He said it appeared to be well withing the FAA requirements and that approval of the station through FAA headquarters could be expected in about two weeks.

State Owns Station

The 35,000 VOR station was installed at the airport in 1960 by the Minnesota Department of Aeronautics, according to Robert Engelhardt, radio engineer for the state department, who was in this city while the FAA check was being made. The city cooperates in the program by furnishing the site and the electric power for operation of the station.

Equipment checks have been made by the state department until the FAA check with more precision equipment last week. An agreement has been made between the state and federal agencies so that a similar check will me made by the FAA annually as well as

Land Bank Loans $110.9 Million To Midwest Farmers

New Buildings, Land and Debt Consolidation Major Credit Uses In This Area

Federal Land Bank of St. Paul loaned $110.9 million to farmers and ranchers in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota during 1963. That is the largest volume of loans made by the bank in any one year except during the emergency financing period of the 1930's, according to Harold Sorensen, manager of the Federal Land Bank association of Warren. It is an increase of 11 per cent over a year earlier.

The Federal Land Bank of St. Paul had loans totalling $433 million outstanding to 57,893 farmers and ranchers at December 31, 1963 Sorensen said. This was an all-time high in volume in the history of the bank.

Sorensen explained that the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul is owned by 87 Federal Land Bank associations in the four states it serves. Money used for land bank loans is obtained by selling bonds in the money markets.

Commenting on the increased loan activity during the past year, Sorensen said that among the major purposes for which farmers obtained long-term credit in the territory served by the Federal Land Bank association of Warren were: financing new buildings, purchasing land and debt consolidation.

Jan. 31 Deadline for Grain Loans

Marshall County ASCS Office Issues Reminder

January 31, 1964, is the deadline for taking out price-support loans and purchase agreements on a number of crops harvested in 1963, Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said today. The crops include wheat, rye, barley, oats, and flaxseed.

The chairman listed the following general provisions of loans and purchase agreements on the 1963 crop of commodities;

Farm storage Loans are made available to eligible producers. The support rate on No. 1 wheat is $1.93, No. 1 Barley -.77, No. 1 Oats, -.54, No. 1 Rye, 1.08; and No. 1 Flax, 2.88.

Mr. Dahl reminded growers that good storage is necessary in order to obtain a price-support loan on a farm crop. While the farmer himself is responsible for storing a crop covered by a purchase agreement, the condition and quality of the crop will be a determining factor in the amount of the support he receives should he decide to deliver his crop under the support program at the end of the season.

McLeod Reelected to Head Association; 3 New Directors Named

Election of eight members to the board of directors took place when the Northwest Dairy Improvement association held its annual meeting Thursday afternoon at the Rex cafe in Thief River Falls. The association is the sponsor of Northwest Dairy Day—this area's major June dairy month promotion.

Reelected to the board were Klemens Gigstad and Paul Stelmaschuk, Thief River Falls; Vernon Stardig, Middle River; Walter Schon, Fosston; and Conrad Swanson, Ada. Martin Ellingson, Fosston, was elected to succeed Sam Hauge, East Grand Forks, while Donovan Bruggeman, Thief River Falls, was elected to fill the unexpired term of Harry Petry, Ada. Richard Hamilton, Thief River Falls, was elected to fill the unexpired term of Roland Larson.

At the reorganization of the board, Stuart McLeod of Thief River Falls was releeted president. He has headed the association since it was organized 15 years ago. Gigstad was reelected vice president and J. J. Womack was reelected treasurer with Hamilton elected secretary to replace Roland Larson.

Considerable discussion was held in regard to possible improvements for the 15th annual Northwest Dairy Day to be held June 9 in Thief River Falls. A number of recommendations were made for study and report at the board meeting to be held in April.

Among ideas discussed were an expanded award program for participants and the serving of pancakes and sausages from early morning through the noon lunch period. Slides of 1963 Dairy Day were shown and are available with written narrative free of charge from the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, c.o. Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, Thief River Falls. Any groups wishing to use the slides as program material may pick them up at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Multi-County Library To Be Aired Tuesday

Persons interested in improved library services for their communities are invited to attend a meeting at the Argyle school on Wednesday at 8 p. m., according to Ralph Larson, Argyle school superintendent, who is in charge of local arrangements.

To be discussed at the meeting will be the multi-county library plan involving Pennington, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Services of a bookmobile and full time librarian for the area free of charge are being made available through federal and state funds.

Personnel from the library division of the Minnesota Department of Education in St. Paul will be present at the meeting to explain the proposal and answer questions from interested persons attending. Persons interested in receiving transportation from Thief River Falls are urged to meet at 7 p. m. at the library.

At the present time there are county libraries operated in Anoka, Koochiching, Martin, Blue Earth, Chippewa, Hennepin, Kandiyohi, Nobles, Polk, Stearns, Olmstead and Waseca counties and multi-county units for Clay-Norman counties, Dakota-Scott counties and Isanti-Mille Lacs-Pine-Aitkin counties.

Congress has passed legislation providing funds to aid in developing rural library services. The federal money must be matched. The Minnesota legislature has passed an appropriation providing sufficient funds to match the federal grants.

Money so appropriated must be spent on rural public library service. It must be spent for service in truly rural areas including small villages and towns. Money must be spent only on public library service and none of the aid money may be spent for library buildings or land.

In anticipation of the multi-county library for this area, the Thief River Falls city council has authorized the expenditure of funds for making the basement of the present library suitable for the multi-county library headquarters.

The main advantage of the regional or multi-county system, the library division states, is that it can provide great economies in library overhead, thus allowing more library money to go for direct service to the people. More local libraries, many more books and materials and more economical bookmobile service are the usual result of the formation of this kind of library system.

A bookmobile is a library of about 2,400 volumes which can go anywhere in the area to bring good library service to the most scattered farm areas. The time of stops may range from a short time to several hours, depending on the number of people to be served. It also visits smaller libraries to deliver books and pick up the ones no longer in use locally.

Regional library systems have large collections of books, hundreds of magazines, pamphlets, recordings and 16 mm films. All these materials would be available to every resident of the county or region and could be obtained through the local community library, the center, or the bookmobile stop most convenient to him.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. ORVILLE DAHL

Winter winds or summer breezes, what with modern shipping methods, the greens of Florida and Texas are now available the year 'round and salads can be an everyday feature of the family's meals. What better sources of essential vitamins are there, and at modest prices, to say nothing of the enjoyment of their crisp goodness for variation in texture, color and appetite appeal.

Mrs. Dahl, a city housewife, says that this salad dressing is a standard commodity at their house, and it adds so much to the flavors of the vegetables with which it is combined. They especially like it on lettuce or cabbage salads. It keeps as well under refrigeration, as any other dressings, even in a fruit jar. Small families may want to try only half a recipe, however.

SWEET-SOUR DRESSING

10 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon dried mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1 small onion, grated
one-third cup white vinegar
1 cup salad oil
1 teaspoon celery seed

Beat well until thick. Yields about one pint.

The Dahls have four children, Linda, 16; Alison, 13, Stuart, 9, and Gloria, 8. The two older girls attend Lincoln high school, and the other two are at Northrop. There are three scouts in the family, and their mom is a leader for troop 158. She and the children attend St. Bernard's Catholic Church, and our homemaker is a member of the Guild there.

She hasn't much time for hobbies, but states that she loves canning, and amplifies that statement with the announcement that she cans about 500 jars of assorted fruits, vegetables, jellies, etc. each summer. She raises a fine garden, also. She does some sewing, and states flatly that she loves patching. Letters are so welcome at her house that she doesn't mind writing them to insure her getting them. Since they have many relatives, this could take up a great deal of time.

The family are great picnickers in the summer; they go to state parks, lakes, and just any park that is handy. The children are enthusiastic swimmers. Mr. Dahl is employed at Brodin Sheet Metal Company.

ACID-ALKALINE BALANCE

Q. What, if anything, can be done for an alkaline condition of body secretions?

A. Fortunately, the body is fairly well protected against radical changes in the delicately balanced acid-alkaline mechanism. The blood is slightly alkaline. Make it acid and you wouldn't survive to tell about it. The stomach is normally acid but the bile and the intestinal tract are alkaline. And so it goes. Under certain circumstances, conditions of alkalosis or acidosis may develop, but they are situations which must be dealt with by a physician. Don't try to "adjust" the acidity or alkalinity of your body — you might get into serious trouble.

"CLINIC" DEFINED

Q. This may not be a proper question but I'll send it in anyway. What is a "clinic"?

A. In some parts of the country the word "clinic" refers to free dispensaries. Most often, however, the word "clinic" is applied to the offices of several physicians who more or less pool their efforts and practice as a group. According to the American Medical Association, the ethical principles actuating and governing a group or clinic are exactly the same as those applicable to the individual physician.

Dr. C. W. Mayo Selects Taconite Committee

Dr. Charles W. Mayo, Rochester, recently appointed chairman of the Citizen's Committee for the Taconite Amendment, announced today the formation of a bi-partisan executive committee. It will launch a 'citizens crusade' on behalf of the Taconite Amendment No. 1 which will be on the ballot next November 3rd.

Governor Karl F. Rolvaag will serve as ex officio chairman, Dr. E. W. Davis, the 'father of Taconite' is honorary chairman, Earl Bester, Duluth, district vice president of the United Steel Works, and Mrs. Scott Schoen, Redwood Falls, president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs, are the vice chairmen.

The executive committee consists of:

Elmer L. Andersen, former governor; Val Bjornson, state treasurer; John A. Blatnik, congressman from the 8th District; George A. Farr, state DFL chairman; Robert A. Forsythe, state Republican chairman; Robert E. Hess, executive vice president of AFL-CIO; A. M. Keith, lieutenant governor; Walter F. Mondale, attorney general, Ancher Nelson, congressman from the 2nd district; and Stanley J. Wenberg, vice-president for educational relationships and development.

Mayo stated that the Taconite Amendment would add thousands of jobs and millions of dollars in Minnesota's economy. It will increase our prosperity by (1) furnishing thousands of jobs in northern Minnesota to people now unemployed; (2) allow full utilization of natural resources that are now unused and useless; (3) attract large amounts of investment capital and building taconite plants; (4) stimulate other businesses throughout the state from the wage-income and purchases generated by an enlarged taconite industry.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

It is gratifying to those of us engaged in the business of librarying to realize members of the city council (whom we helped to elect) are the far-sighted representatives we thought they were when we walked to the polling place.

They have adopted a resolution favoring the proposed multi-county library which means they have your interests at heart; it means they are interested in the growth (educationally, culturally and financially) of the community citizens they represent. It means they are looking toward the future, not the past; they are building for tomorrow, and the tomorrows to come after.

It means they not only are interested in your comunity welfare, but in the welfare of their neighbors (those in the other counties—Marshall, Kittson and Roseau). It means that they are interested to the point of doing something about it. . .not just talking big and sitting tight!

We're indeed fortunate, aren't we? We're fortunate in having the gift of the multi-county or regional library offered to us for a period of time (about two years) with absolutely no cost on the part of any community or individual. The funds are a gift. . .no strings attached. You're under absolutely "no obligation to purchase" if the goods aren't as represented.

"The Friends of the Library" also wholeheartedly endorse the proposed regional library. Their reasons are practical. They are:

1. The facilities will be obtained and maintained for a period of time free of charge to the four-county area inhabitants.

2. The trial period provides ample time for users of the facilities to become thoroughly acquainted with the operation. (If only a short trial period were offered it would be inadequate, therefore unadvisable.)

3. County commissioners will not need to do any more than promise to consider continuing the operation after the trial period. Until such time as grant funds are nearly depleted, toward the end of the trial period—and only then—will fact, figures and economic conditions need to be analyzed.

4. A desperate attempt needs to be made to make books, literature, reference material, entertainment and educational material constantly available to all who are interested, regardless of the place of abode. No longer need people be "out of touch" merely because they reside in an area considered to be "remote". No longer do students need to discontinue their learning processes simply because material is not available through lack of facilities or lack of funds. Facilities and funds can be made available through the combined efforts of all the people so all the people will benefit.

There you have it! The city council has endorsed it . . . and councilmen have made there opinion a matter of record. "The Friends of the Library" endorse it. . .and their opinion is a matter of record. Why don't you, as a citizen, make your opinion known! It is important that you, too, the people to be benefited. . .make your opinion a matter of record!

The meeting scheduled for Wednesday, the 29th, at Argyle, is your meeting. It is important you attend. . .but if that is impossible, make sure your county commissioner knows your wishes. Make sure he attends because he is your representative!

This column is not meant to be, ever, a politician's mouthpiece. This column is written so that you may know about the "business of librarying!" The librarians serve you, the public. It is their aim to give you the best service possible. . .you deserve it. Your librarians are the "storekeepers" and like all good business people everywhere, they want to give you what you want in the way of reading material when you want it! They want to be able to "deliver the goods!"

If your library becomes an affiliate of the regional library, you'll have access to more goods! (Not better, but bigger, because your library is one of the best!) You've helped to make it an excellent library—now you can help to make it bigger!

Have you been "shopping" at your library lately? You'll find "bargain prices" every day of the week! There is noplace, but no place, where you get so much for so little!

Deadline Near for GI Education Bill

Korean Veterans' Rights Expire January 1, 1965

Veterans taking education or training courses under the Korean GI Bill may have to "cram" or "double up" classes. The Veterans Administration reminded them today that the deadline for completing such courses is only one year away.

Congress has set January 31, 1965, as the cut-off date for the Korean readjustment program of education and training for veterans.

John H. Parrish, director of the Veterans Administration center in Fargo, said that eligible Korean conflict veterans who have not started their courses will now have only 12 months in which to finish them.

To be eligible for such readjustment education or training, the veteran must have had active service at any time between June 27, 1950, and January 31, 1955. He must also have served at least 90 days unless discharged sooner for a disability incurred in active service.

Bar Assn. Tells Who Must File Tax Return

(This is the first in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association Public Relations Committee.)

All residents of the United States under 65 years of age must file a Federal return if they receive $1,200 or more gross income during the year. Self-employed businessmen must file a return if they had self-employment income of $400 or more even though their gross income was less than 600.

Minnesota income tax returns must be filed by all residents of the state whose income exceeds 750 or where the combined gross income of both spouses exceeds $1,500 in the case of married couples. Non-residents of Minnesota must also file Minnesota income tax returns for income derived from services performed in Minnesota or produced by property located or sold in the State of Minnesota.

The measure for determining whether or not a return must be filed is gross income, which generally refers to all amounts received in payment for services or labor performed, interest, rents and profits received from inventments or savings and gains from the sale of property.

There are certain limited exceptions which are not included in gross income, such as Social Security payments, railroad retirement pension benefits, gifts, inheritances, and a limited amount of interest received as part of life insurance option benefits. Gross income for Minnesota tax purposes is generally defined as the Federal adjusted gross income with certain modifications to reflect additional exclusion and limitations in the State's tax statutes.

If your income was less than $10,000, was derived almost entirely from wages subject to withholding, and if you paid taxes on the basis of a calendar year and used the cash method of accounting, you may use a form 1040A to file your return. Care should be taken before using a form 1040A since it is not available if certain credits such as the retirement income credit and dividend received credit are claimed, if deductions are itemized or if you claim status as a head of a household or as a surviving spouse. In all cases where a form 1040A is not appropriate, the standard from 1040 will be used. In order to itemize deductions or take advantage of a number of credits available, the form 1040 must be used. Similar consideration will be made in choosing between filing on Minnesota form M-1 and Minnesota form M-1 A. This latter form may be used only under the same general conditions that a Federal form 1040 A may be used.

Married couples have the choice of filing either individually or joint-Federal and the Minnesota returns. However, if a joint return is filed by a husband and wife, one spouse cannot then file an additional individual return to seek a refund. Generally, if both husband and wife have independent taxable income, it will be advantageous for them to file a joint Federal return and individual Minnesota returns because of the income splitting factor available on Federal joint returns which is not available on Minnesota joint returns.

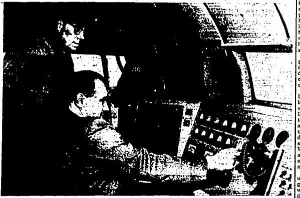
FLYING patterns for checking of the "Omni" radio station in Thief River Falls was the task of the Federal Aviation Agency men pictured here. James MacMillen, left, pilot of the plane, and Gene Kirkendall, co-pilot, flew about 1,600 miles to check the accuracy and power of the local station at the Thief River Falls municipal airport. Their DC-3 aircraft has been completely reconditioned for FAA work and is equipped with a large amount of electronic equipment.



ABOARD the converted DC-3 aircraft used for checking the "Omni" radio station at the Thief River Falls muncipal airport, electronic technician Russell Mosler explains some of the checking equipment to Roy Jorgenson, chairman of the airport committee of the local city council. While federal approval of the station for use in instrument approaches has not yet been received, Mosler stated that the tests showed it to be "a honey of a station."

Chamber Annual Meeting Held at St. John Church

that being industrious is an indespensable ingredient of a progressive community. "Today is the day to do things," he said, "because yesterday is past and tomorrow may never come."

Faith must be based on an eternal being as well as on our own ability, he said. "We must have faith through the lean years as well as the good years, but no faith means anything unless it is based on our religious heritage," he added. He commented that he has noticed in his travels that a community without an active Chamber of Commerce is a "limping" community.

Rev. Smith urged people to "turn off the idiot box once in a while and sit down to think." He said that retrospection of the past must not take the place of giving thought to the future. "We must do some deep thinking he challenged, "and not merely live on the surface."

As a final point he urged members to approach the Chamber of Commerce with a youthful outlook. The most challenging frontiers, he said, are the frontiers of entering into an unknown quantity and an untried idea.

Gene Beito, 1963 president, reviewed the past year by commenting on business additions to the community and the building permits which set a record during the year. Randall Noper, 1964 president, urged a "push for expansion" in the coming year and introduced the board of directors.

Rev. Paul Biegner, pastor of St. John Lutheran church, presented the invocation. The meeting closed with group singing of "God Bless America", led by Mrs. Donald M. Olson.

FAA Checks on VOR Station at Municipal Airport

Aids Navigation

As a result of the FAA flight check, and the expected federal approval of the station, the local airport will be open to the flying public when the weather is bad. North Central Airlines will be able to use the station after approval is given—something it technically has not been permitted to do prior to this time. Private aircraft will also make use of the radio signal.

It was an interesting trip for this reporter to accompany the crew on a portion of the checking flight. James MacMillen, pilot, said the plane was cruising at 160 miles per hour, meaning the approximately 10 hours of checking time covered 1,600 air miles over and around the station. During this time the plane used about 700 gallons of gasoline.

The flight inspection crew, which also includes co-pilot Gene Kirkendall, is based in Minneapolis and checks all of the navigational aids in the Midwest. Neil Stone of Stone's Mobile Radio service in Thief River Falls, has the contract for maintenance of the station.

Remote Controlled

North Central Airlines personnel at the airport provided voice and control service on the VOR until last fall. At that time the state leased a telephoone line to Grand Forks and the station is now operated by remote control from the flight service station there.

A federal airway connects Thief River Falls with all of the other major airports in the United States. This airway system provides protection so pilots are afforded separation from other aircraft flying the airway.

With the airport here to be authorized for instrument let-down, the facility should prove of added value to Thief River Falls. Through use of the VOR service, planes will be able to land here if visibility is a mile or more and the ceiling is 400 feet or higher.

Lions Club Hears Maruska and Skaar

Two State Legislators Club Guests Wednesday

Harveydale Maruska of Angus, state senator from this district, and Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls were guest speakers at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Introduced by E. J. Gaer, program chairman, Senator Maruska, a member of the Senate highway committee, cited figures in support of his contention that Northwestern Minnesota is being discriminated against in the program of upgrading the state highway system.

Rep. Skaar discussed the work of the House subcommittee on educational appropriations, of which he is a member, and which handles two-thirds of all the appropriations made by the legislature. Among major achievements of the 1963 session, he said, was enactment of the law providing for a system of state-supported junior colleges to supply needed additional educational opportunities.

Masons To Host Grand Lodge Men

Two representatives of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Minnesota will be in Thief River Falls tonight to visit Northern Chapter 82, R. E. C. Louis B. Chase, Detroit Lakes, grand captain of the host, and E. C. Dale Bishop, Bemidji, deputy grand lecturer, will discuss the annual spring festival of the chapters to be held at Wadena on Saturday, February 29.

Sidelines Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

We get some comfort out of knowing that our Canadian neighbors have a few internal problems, too. Canada, much the same as our country, has attracted immigrants from many areas of the world, but is predominantly English in language and culture. The exception is the Province of Quebec which is predominantly French and in Quebec there is an organization of French partisans who speak seriously of independence and reorganization as a government whose official language and culture would be French.

Canadians are concerned about what may lie ahead and some of the concessions that are being made to restore national harmony are interesting. Prime Minister Lester Pearson has been especially considerate of the French minority in filling important posts. Recently he appointed a distinguished citizen of Quebec to serve as Canadian High Commissioner in London—the first French-speaking Canadian to hold the post. To balance this concession he is expected to appoint an English-speaking Canadian to head his country's embassy in Paris, an assignment which in the past has been reserved for French-speaking Canadians.

It sounds like a reasonable compromise. Let's hope it has the desireable effect. A divided Canada would not be in the best interests of that nation, the Province of Quebec or the United States.

Fifty years ago William Hood Dunwoody of Minneapolis died, leaving an estate estimated to be worth $7 million. Nearly $5 million of this estate was given to the public for various benevolent and useful purposes. $2 million of this total was set aside for the development of an industrial institution which later became the William Hood Dunwoody Industrial Institute, now one of the outstanding schools in it's field in the nation.

As set forth in Mr. Dunwoody's will, the basic aims of the program was to provide, "A school wherein instruction in the industrial and mechanical arts shall be given to youth without distinction on account of race, color or religious prejudice."

During the 50 years of operation, 200,000 day, evening and part-time students have profited by Dunwoody training. In addition, many industries, unions, schools, and other organizations have cooperated with and have been assisted by the many training programs.

Under the guidance of John A. Butler, Director, the school's influence has been felt internationally and in some of backward areas of the world. Dunwoody Institute is a great school and all of Minnesota should join in the celebration of its good record during this first half-century of its service.

President Johnson has been quoted as referring to our present prosperity as a boom that must be maintained. I think it is fair to assume that in his thinking the boom must be maintained for the balance of this campaign year to assure his election. The boom has been created by reckless government spending.

But there is another word that is closely related to "boom" and that word is "bust". Generally, following the boom, comes the bust. More reckless spending may postpone the evil day, but the longer it is postponed by more reckless spending the more difficult will be the adjustment back to sound practices and honest dollars.

When President Johnson assumed office he spoke as a conservative who recognized the dangers that threaten our government and who was determined to take the steps necessary to maintain its solvency. In his recent statements all we get is double talk. In a remarkably short period of time the statesman reverted to type and emerged as the politician again.

The boom is not likely to become a bust this year. A tax cut and increased deficit spending probably will carry us through election day. The first phase of the disagreeable adjustment probably will come in the form of faster inflation. But we should have learned by now that we cannot spend ourselves rich and a disagreeable adjustment is inevitable.

Our government blundered in yielding in any way to the demands of Panamanian pressure groups. By giving a little ground we encouraged more pressure and made our position in the defense of the Canal more difficult. We must maintain our rights in the Canal Zone, and in maintaining this position we have the support of most of the Latin American countries.

This does not mean that we should not try to be helpful and friendly in a neighborly way, but, once we have yielded to pressure, that becomes increasingly difficult. My guess is that the Panama problem will not be settled peacefully without first proving to the Panamanians the hard way that the Canal is ours and that we intend to keep it.

We may be sure the Panamanians are getting encouragement from the Castro Communists who defeated us in the battle of Cuba because we yielded just a little each time we were under pressure.

Potato Growers Vote on Federal Marketing Order

Red River Valley Potato Control board, at a meeting last week, voted to conduct a grower vote on the question of reinstating federal marketing order 38, according to Ralph Mathew, chairman. The board's action came as a result of petitions which were presented asking that the vote of growers be taken.

The poll will be conducted from January 27 to February 3. Ballots will be mailed to all growers of record. Those not receiving ballots will be able to obtain one from their director, or at the control board's office in East Grand Forks.

Operation of marketing order 38 was suspended in December, 1962, following a poll in which growers voted to abolish the marketing order.

Crop Technology Phases Will Be Reviewed Here

Four Extension Service Speakers on Program for Meeting Tuesday Night

Four University of Minnesota extension specialists will discuss crop technology at the Fertilizer-seed-chemical dealer's meeting to be held in Thief River Falls, Tuesday. It will begin at 4 p.m. and continue to 9 p.m. and all dealers are urged to attend.

The whole area of crop production technology will be aired, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent. Topics to be discussed are the following: High protein in barley about which many farmers are asking questions; fertilization in the the fall and spring in the Red River Valley; and fertilizer results and zinc deficiency. Crop varieties for 1964 will be aired along with a review of a survey of crop varieties used in 1963. Plant diseases are cutting crop yields and these diseases will be reviewed at the short course. Chemicals for weed control in 1964 and corn rootworm are also among the topics to be covered.

All dealers in northwestern Minnesota are invited to come to the meeting, Stelmaschuk said.

Price Support Deadline Nears

Ask Applications Before January 31 Deadline Date

Farmers who expect to place wheat, oats, barley, rye and flaxseed produced in 1963 under price-support loans or purchase agreements have only a short time until the deadline date of January 31, according to Winton Knutson, Pennington county ASCS chairman.

The producer who expects to place farm-stored grain under loan can expect that the necessary inspection of the storage building and testing of samples for grade and moisture content will take several days.

When the commodity is stored in a commercial warehouse, somewhat less time is required to process the loan. All forms are to be completed in time for the money to be disbursed not later than February 17.

2d National Bank Charter Is Denied for East G. Forks

A group of investors have been denied permission to establish a second national bank in East Grand Forks.

Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon, Washington, D. C., announced Thursday that an application has been rejected for location of the proposed new bank in East Grand Forks.

Recent approval for establishment of a new state bank in the city apparently was a major factor in the application denial. The citizens State Bank of East Grand Forks was granted charter approval just three weeks ago.

Path to Socialism

In 1932 a presidential candidate on the Socialist party ticket had 27 planks in his campaign platform. At the last count all but two of them have now been enacted into the law of the land. Socialized medicine is one of the two planks which have not been adopted.

Too many people discount the dangers of creeping socialism. The situation may be compared to a child's all-day sucker. A constant licking with an occasional nibble soon consumes the product. Once it is gone, only the colorful wrapper remains.

Our greatest danger lies in the bit-by-bit loss of freedom. A frog dropped in hot water will jump out to freedom. Placed in cold water which is heated, he will cook in complacency. It would be good for us to jump a little more often before the water gets too hot.

Let Us Spray

Values and dangers of using chemical pesticides were reviewed recently by John Strohm and Clifford Ganschow, two of the nation's top writers on agriculture and related subjects. Are the pesticides as dangerous as some writers would lead us to believe?

As a result of their research, the writers conclude, "We must not sacrifice proven benefits because of unproven fears. Red tape and excessive regulation must not tie the hands of research chemists, who are urgently needed to help meet the greatest challenge of the 20th century—producing enough food for a world in which half of the people are hungry."

The men believe that chemical control of the multitude of insects which threaten food supply production is an absolute necessity. They estimate that the price of most food items would double, due to reduced production, and that the products available would be of poor quality. We don't doubt that this is true.

About $40 million per year is now being spent in pesticide research, in a hunt for better and safer compounds. In spite of this research, and the tremendous strides which have already been made, there is a need for greater education in the use of pesticides offered for sale.

The danger does not lie so much in the use of the chemicals as in their misuse. We would like to see chemical companies, at their own discretion rather than under government regulation, provide further information on the capabilities of their products. Persons using the chemicals should practice extra caution in using these products.

We recognize that the use of pesticides in many cases is a necessity. Let us spray—discriminately.

Multi-County Library

As a result of existing county or multi-county libraries failing to qualify for assistance, a four-county area in northwestern Minnesota is being offered a unique opportunity. It is an opportunity which almost seems to be too good to be true but which is true indeed.

Several years ago an attempt was made to organize a multi-county library in this area. Its proposed costs were indefinite and its potential value was an unknown quantity. In the present form, these questions remain unanswered, but a very important consideration has come to the fore.

Funds are being offered to the four-county area of Pennington, Marshall, Roseau and Kittson for the establishment of a multi-county library on a trial basis. The grant will be for a period of one to two years, as long as funds available last, without cost or obligation to the counties involved. Here, indeed, is a unique opportunity.

As previously stated, it is not known what the reception will be to multi-county library service. This would include a central library in Thief River Falls with bookmobile service and book depots at smaller communities in the four-county area on a regular basis. It would mean the availability of film service in all four counties.

Here is an opportunity for this area to find out, without investment of public funds, whether or not there is a demand or a need for the service. If there is a demand, the counties could feel justified in forming a multi-county organization with tax monies for the library operation. If not, the counties would have this information without the expense of a self-supported trial period.

In order for the service to be initiated and the state funds to be received, it is necessary that county commissioners in all four counties give approval. With approval must go the agreement to consider continuation of the program when existing funds are exhausted. This is not an unreasonable request—particularly under the circumstances.

At Argyle on Wednesday the proposal will be given a complete review and questions about the service will be answered. It would be good for all persons interested in the program, or definitely opposed to it, to attend the meeting or to contact their county commissioners and express their opinions.

We would like to see the program given a trial. As it looks from here, there is nothing to lose and a good deal of information to be received. From a Thief River Falls standpoint, the offer is especially attractive.

Friday Last Day for Wool Applications

Friday, January 31, is the last day for filing applications for 1963 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act, growers were reminded today. The applications cover wool and lamb marketings during the 9-month period April 1, through December 31, 1963.

Later marketings will be eligible for program payments for the 1964 marketing year which began the first of the year. Beginning with 1964, the wool marketing year will be for 12 months, coinciding with the calendar year.

Pennington county ASCS office pointed out that, since the 1963 program year ended three months earlier than in previous years, the 1963 payments likely will begin in April instead of late summer.

Chairman Winton Knutson reminded growers that the purpose of the National Wool Act—enacted in 1954 — was to encourage the domestic production of wool. The authorized program provides for incentive payments on shorn wool and unshorn lambs (and on mohair, if needed), based on a percentage of each producer's cash returns from sales.

The percentage is that required to raise the national average price received by all producers for shorn wool up to the announced incentive price. (The incentive price for 1964 has been announced at $.62 per pound — continuing the level in effect since the beginning of the program in 1955.)

It is particularly important, Knutson explained, that growers sell their shorn wool for the highest price possible and that they obtain complete sales records. The payments are based on a percentage of the price each grower receives—as indicated in the sales records—rather than on a flat cents-per-pound rate. So the higher the price received by the individual grower, the bigger his incentive payment will be.

In other words, the chairman declared, the incentive payment does not make up the difference for a poor selling job. A good job of selling actually can mean extra dollars to the grower.

Accidents Last Week Follow Heavy Snow

Thief River Falls police reported a wave of traffic accidents during the past several days, many of them resulting from the heavy snowfall last week and the icy conditions created. Ten accidents occurred in the city on Friday alone, seven of them happening in just over one hour from 1:09 to 2:14 p. m. Most involved only minor damage.

Accidents with more extensive damage included the following:

At 7:45 p. m. on Wednesday, a car driven west on First street just east of Tindolph avenue intersection by Patrick Munt, city, struck a parked car owned by Robert Kugel, Minneapolis. About $250 damage was done to the Munt car and $285 to the Kugel vehicle with Munt charged with carless driving.

About noon on Thursday a car driven by Gary Neidert, rt. 2, Iola, Wis., was traveling south on Knight avenue when it struck a car driven east on Fifth street by Orville Dahl, city. About $80 damage was done to the Neidert car and $60 to the Dahl vehicle with Neidert charged with failure to yeild the right-of-way.

At 1:15 p. m. Warren Woman Is Car Crash Victim

Mrs. Garfield Ranstrom Dies of Injuries Monday

Marshall County's first traffic fatality of 1964 was recorded Monday about 6 a.m. when Mrs. Garfield Ranstrom, 48, of rural Warren, died at Warren Hospital from injuries sustained in a one-car accident 6 miles north and 3 miles west of Alvarado about 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Ranstrom was riding with her husband, enroute to Big Woods Lutheran Church.

They were headed west on the township road and were approaching a bridge built on an angle requiring a sharp curve in crossing a drainage ditch, about 15 feet deep. The car just grazed the bridge rail and landed in the ditch.

When the car came to rest, Mr. Ranstrom was able to free himself from the burning car and was attempting to extricate his wife when help came.

Mrs. Ranstrom was burned severely on the lower extremities of her body and also suffered multiple fractures of both legs and internal injuries. Mr. Ranstrom is reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital with fractured ribs and kneecaps.

Sheriff Oscar C. Erickson and Coroner Dr. E. E. Pumala investigated the mishap.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

Recently I had the opportunity of addressing the Minnesota State School Board Association, comprised of members of local school boards from throughout the state. I was pleased at having the chance to discuss with them a subject that is stormy and controversial, but of critical importance to Minnesota, that of education.

Financing

The knottiest problem faced by school districts throughout our state today is that of financing, and of course that is related to state aids. Most citizens are familiar with the fact that a few months ago I ordered a reduction in certain state expenditures, an austerity program toward off deficit financing. This means that there will be a reduction in state aids.

Austerity Necessary

Minnesota has made great gains in education in recent years and this administration is committed to making further, urgently needed progress. But let us not confuse desire with ability. When the states books were closed out last June 30, 1963, it showed beyond any doubt whatsoever that we had spent $15,228,000 more than we had taken in during the previous two years. Mind you, this is not an estimate, nor is it a projection into the future.

Course Clear

The course was clear: This administration could not and would not spend money that it did not have so I took the prudent way out, a reduction in expenditures. In addition to the original deficit, my decision was reinforced by indications that the 1963 legislature had not provided sufficient revenues to pay for the services it had authorized and as a result the $15,000,000 deficit would grow to $25,000,000 or possibly much higher by the end of this biennium, July 1, 1965.

Easing Possible

At the time I ordered a reduction in expenditures I said that if the economy takes an unanticipated upturn, or if there was a major reduction in federal taxation which would enhance state tax collections I would immediately revise the austerity program. If the latter does not occur, I think that it might be possible to ease the state austerity program in the second year of the biennium.

Problems Ahead

I believe that there will be serious problems in the next legislature protecting the great gains already made in public education in Minnesota. We must also move forward to provide for rapidly increasing costs, the upgrading of teacher quality, the improvement of teacher retirement, the expansion of programs in special education, and the increase in state aid patterns to local school districts. I have and I do now wholeheartedly support these necessary improvements in Minnesota education.

Will Prudence Pay?

It is precisely for these reasons this administration embarked on its austerity program. I believe the legislature will be more receptive to increased and improved programs for education if I go to them next year with a near balanced budget, don't you?

Prowler 'B' Sextet Tips Bemidji 3-0

Wayne Smith, John Olson and Monte LeMoine Score

With his big sophomore line—center Wayne Smith and wings Monte LeMoine and John Olson—accounting for all of the goals, coach Jerry Westby's Prowler B squad defeated coach Jim Smalley's Bemidji Lumberjacks, 3 to 0, in a preliminary hockey game played here Saturday night.

After a scoreless first period, during which the Prowlers rapped twelve shots at Steve Dale, the Jacks' goalie, coach Westby's team marked up a pair of tallies in the second period. Smith scored the first goal at 7:40; and eight seconds later, on a shot deflected into the net by a Bemidji defender, John Olson scored. Monte LeMoine's goal at the 10:32 mark of the third period closed out the scoring.

Boat Licenses for '64-65 Available

May Be Renewed at County Auditor's Office Here

Minnesota boat owners were advised today that 1964-65 renewal watercraft licenses are available from county auditors and their agents for boat license cards with the expiration date December 31, 1963.

All watercraft registered or renewed in 1962 with alphabetical suffixes BA through BH must be renewed during 1964.

The conservation department has established the following 1964 registration procedure:

Auditors and agents can only issue renewal and transfer licenses when the applicant presents the precious license card. If the license card has been lost, a watercraft license application must be completed in full and submitted with the required fee directly to the Department of Conservation, Bureau of Boat and Water Safety, 304 Centennial Office Building, St. Paul.

Auditors and agents CANNOT issue licenses for unregistered or new boats and duplicates of lost licenses.

All registrants who failed to renew their watercraft license cards during the following year after expiration have forfeited the right to retain the original number assigned. A new license must be obtained and a new number affixed to the watercraft.

Wildlife Project in Marshall Co. to Resume in Spring

The state-owned Mud Lac, Elm Lake and Eckvoll wildlife management areas located in eastern Marshall county have been extensively developed under the current Conservation Works Program, according to David B. Vesall, supervisor of game for the Minnesota conservation department.

Development work on the CWP project was augmented by federal accelerated public work funds and was designed to provide work for unemployed persons in the area.

To date, some $32,000 has been spent for construction of a Mud river diversion, access roads and parking areas, clearing of wildlife food plots, posting and brushing. Work has been suspended during the winter months but will resume with the spring breakup.

A total of $35,600 will be spent on these three public hunting and wildlife area this fiscal year, Vesall said.

Prowler Quint Loses to Grand Forks 78-58

Coach Jack Junker's basketball Prowlers, after shooting at a better than fifty per cent from the field in the first half, and gaining a 24 to 19 first period lead and a 38 to 37 advantage at the intermission, were held scoreless in the third period as coach Marv Skaar's Grand Forks Redskins came back to defeat the locals, 78 to 58, in a game played on the UND fieldhouse court in Grand Forks on Saturday night.

Tonight, Monday, the Prowlers will entertain the Fargo Central Midgets on the high school gymnasium floor. And on Friday, Jan. 31, the Region Eight's top-ranked team, the Crookston Central Pirates will play the Prowlers here.

In Saturday night's game at Grand Forks, the Prowlers, with Ken Larson leading the attack with six field goals, gained a 24 to 19 first period lead. Gary Hagen marked up a pair of field goals in this period, and center Bob Olson looped in four two-pointers.

In the second period, Grand Forks, with veteran Alex Cooley scoring four field goals, and with forward Marty Martin notching a pair, pared the Orowler lead to one point, 38 to 37, at the intermission.

The game was "resolved" in the third period when the Prowlers were held scoreles while the Redskins were adding 19 points to gain a 56 to 38 lead. In this third period, the Prowlers missed five free throw attempts.

In the fourth period the Prowlers did get the basket "uncovered", scoring 20 points, of which Larson scored ten, while Grand Forks tallied 22 points.

Grand Forks' guard, Alex Cooley, was the game's high point man with 28 points. The Prowlers' Larson had a 22-point effort.

Youth Hockey Week

On a nation-wide basis, and under the sponsorship of the American Hockey Association of the United States, this week, from Sunday, Jan. 26 through Sunday, Feb. 2, has been designated as "Youth Hockey Week".

The slogan of Youth Hockey Week is "Don't send—Take your boy to the rink." And if you have tried to get into the local Arena on Saturday mornings, you will see that this slogan is being put to good effect.

There has been a reshuffling of the elementary school program this season, and the result is that there are a greater number of boys participating in the hockey program. There are five teams representing grades five and six competing in the National Hockey league juniors; and there are six teams, representing grades two, three, and four in the National Hockey league midgets. And these teams, instead of being identified in former years by schools, are carrying such names as Blackhawks, Rangers, Bruins, Red Wings, etc.

But this increased program could not operate without the assistance of the fathers, and mothers, too, who act as managers and coaches of these teams. And among those giving assistance are Carl Lee, Milt Burstad, Walt Wicklander, Benny Johnson, Bill Reed, Tony Dorn, Ray Olson, Lenny Hellquist, Bob Fitzgerald, Bob Mattson, Byron Johnson, John Moum, Marv Markstrom, Olaf Kauppila, Bryant Ulseth, Bill Herzog, Clayton Restad, Archie Smith Jr., and Bob Jenkins.

Games Wednesday

And as a feature of "Youth Hockey Week", there will be a number of games played on Wednesday evening as a preliminary to the Thieves vs. Grand Forks Warriors Northwest Hockey league. The teams, from the second graders on through the sixth graders, will begin playing at 6 o'clock. The periods will be limited to five minutes, and it is hoped that ten or twelve games will be played. Admission fee to the games, and this includes the Thieves vs. Warriors game, will be fifty cents.

I can't think of a better way to invest fifty cents. The parents are taking over the sale of coffee and hot dogs at the hockey games, and the net proceeds will be used to buy hockey equipment for the youngsters. Last Saturday morning, Mrs. Tony Dorn netted about fifteen dollars from the sale of coffee; and on Saturday night, at the Prowlers vs. St. Paul Johnson game, the coffee and hot dog sales brought in a goodly sum. It is hoped that the teams can be outfitted with sweaters this season.

Looked Like a Hockey Team

It was a welcome sight to see the Bemidji Lumberjacks hockey team on the Arena ice on Saturday night. Coach Jim Smalley's Jacks, making their first appearance here, dropped a 3 to 0 decision to the Prowler B squad.

It was evident that the Bemidji players were lacking in the polished play of the veteran teams in Region Eight, and that their skating style needs improvement. But the squad looked like a hockey club, being outfitted in colorful uniforms that are remindful of the New York Rangers, being predominantly blue.

Give the Bemidji Lumberjacks three or four years experience, and the benefit of an indoor rink (and it is rumored that Bemidji State college will have a field house in a couple of years), and the Jacks will be a factor in Region Eight hockey.

He Is Optimistic

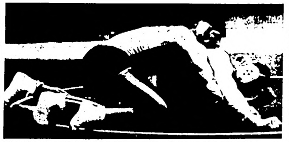
Arlo Brunsberg, the former Fertile high school and Concordia college athlete, spent a few hours in town last week. Arlo, who must be rated with Concordia's all-time athletic greats, is doing "good will" work for the Cobber school, and he was here interviewing several of the Prowler athletes.

Brunsberg is a member of the Detroit Tigers baseball organization, and he will be joining the spring training brigade at Lakeland, Florida, early next month. Arlo was a catcher with the Knoxville team last season, but he was somewhat disappointed with the record he had. His batting average was in the neighborhood of .245, and he feels that he is a better batsman than that. He did have the misfortune of breaking a finger during the mid-season, and that injury was a handicap.

Arlo, who is a catcher, hopes to be assigned to Syracuse of the International league, or to the Duluth Dukes of the Northern league. And he hopes to raise his batting average to .285, and to poke about fifteen home runs. I know Arlo has the good wishes of all the baseball fans in this area.

And it is reported that Bemidji's Clark (Corky) Johnson has made the decision to continue with his studies at Bemidji State college, and to forego a professional baseball career. Corky, who received a sizable bonus for signing with the San Francisco Giants, spent the past several seasons on the pitching staff of the El Paso Giants of the Texas league.

TURN TO PAGE 7 FOR ADDITIONAL SPORTS



TERRY Nelson, Prowler co-captain making his first appearance in several weeks with coach Al Shaff's varsity wrestlers, has just gained a take-down in his 165-lb. class match against Bemidji's Pat Winkler here Wednesday evening. Nelson won the match with a pin in 5:29; and the Prowlers went on to defeat the Lumberjacks, 28 to 18. Nelson has been out of action because of a knee injury. Winkler, like Nelson, was a co-captain in the 1963 football team, and the rivalry carried into the wrestling season.

WARROAD'S Charles Marvin, dark jersey, skates in on Prowler goalie Dave (Nobby) Erickson to score an "insurance" tally for the Warriors in the high school hockey game played here Tuesday night. Marvin, getting a clearing pass at center-ice, was away for a solo rush, and he flipped the puck past Erickson and into the left corner of the net at the 5:25 mark of the third period. The force of Marvin's rush carried him into the net after the puck. Warroad won the game, 2 to 0.

WEIGHING in at 250-plus pounds Ellsworth Senum is the heaviest wrestler on the Prowler varsity squad. Senum, after an absence of several years, is again competing in high school wrestling in this, his senior year. In Wednesday evening's match against Bemidji's Larry Burgoon, Senum was defeated, losing by a pin in 2:24.

MYLES Olson, wrestling in the 95-lb. class is the lightest member on coach Al Shaff's Prowler squad, and in his match against Bemidji's Terry May on Wednesday night, Myles scored a victory by pinning May in 5:11.

Prowler Wrestlers Take Bemidji 28-18

Coach Al Shaff's Prowler varsity wrestlers won their seventh match of the season, and perhaps their most cherished; when, on Wednesday night in the high school gymnasium they defeated coach Ken Schmolker's Bemidji Lumberjacks, 28 to 18. In a prelimnary match, coach Dale Folger's Bemidji Lumberjacks, 28 to 18. In a preliminary match, coach Dale Folger's Prowler B squad defeated the Bemidji B squad, 24 to 19.

The Prowlers will make the short jaunt to Crookston on Wednesday, Jan. 29, for varsity and B squad matches against Crookston Central. The next home date for the wrestlers will be on Friday, Feb. 7, when the Park Rapids varsity and B squad wrestlers meet the Prowlers in the high school gymnasium.

In Wednesday night's matches here against Bemidji, and which were witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd, the Prowlers held the lead from the opening match. In this opener, Myles Olson scored a pin in 5:11 over Bemidji's Terry May in the 95-lb. class.

At the conclusion of the ninth match on the program, which found Bemidji's Dave Holmes gaining a decision, by a 2-0 score, over the Prowlers' Dean Kaushagen in a 154-lb. class match, the locals held an 18 to 13 lead.

Terry Nelson, Prowler co-captain, making his first start in several weeks, met Bemidji's Pat Winkler in a 65-lb. bout, and Nelson scored a pin over the sturdy Winkler in 5:29. Winkler was a power running fullback on coach Red Wilson's Lumberjack eleven last fall.

And in what was perhaps the most exciting match of the evening, the 175-lb. class bout between the Prowlers' Joe Taylor and the Jacks' John Broullard, the popular Prowler wrestler scored in a pin in 3:51. Taylor, in the opening seconds of the match, was on the verge of being pinned, with Broullard gaining three points for the "near-fall", but Taylor escaped and from then one held the upper hand and scored his pin in the second round.

In the concluding match on the program, in the heavyweight class, Bemidji's Larry Burgoon pinned the Prowlers' Ellsworth Senum in 2:24.

The summaries:

95-lb.—Myles Olson (TRF) pinned Terry May (B), 5:11.
103-lb.—Roco Wilson (TRF) and Ricky Morian (B), draw, 4-4.
112-lb.—Steve Furuseth (TRF) decisioned Bill Dunlap (B), 7-1.

St. Paul Johnson Whips Prowlers

The St. Paul Johnson Governors, the defending state high school hockey champions, turned in an impressive performance on the Arena ice sheet here Saturday night as they defeated the Prowlers, 3 to 1.

Coach George Schlieff's Prowlers, with only four games remaining on the schedule before the sub-regional tourney opens, will play three of these games this week. Tuesday, Jan. 28, coach Kenny Wellen's Hallock Bears will play the Prowlers on the Arena rink. On Friday, Jan. 31, the Prowlers will travel to Roseau for a game against coach Oscar Almquist's regional champion Rams. And on Saturday night, Feb. 1, the Baudette Bears will play the Prowlers on the Arena ice.

In Saturday night's game here, against St. Paul Johnson, and which was played before a large crowd of fans, the Governors took a 1 to 0 lead at the 11:25 mark of the first period. Goalie Dave Erickson kicked out a pair of shots, but with the puck lying free in the crease, Greg Hughes took advantage of his scoring opporunity to shove the disc into the south net.

The Prowlers played their finest brand hockey in the second period and the 8:44 mark, with Johnson's Greg Anderson in the penalty box, Don Mathieu, with Elroy Frolland on the assist, banged a shorty past goalie Jim Resch to knot the game at 1-all.

The game rocketed along in a tie score until the 11:13 mark when Hughes, having possession of the puck in the northwest corner of the rink, flipped a centering out pass, and the puck was deflected into the net off the stick of a Prowler defenseman.

And the Johnson squad, with ample manpower and strong skating, added a goal in the final minutes of the third period when, with the Prowlers' skating shorthanded, Gary LaMotte, assisted by Phil Parizino, scored at the 10:05 mark.

Financial Study Aired For Proposed School

Grygla, Gatzke, Skime Combined District Planned

At a special meeting of the school district reorganization survey committees of Beltrami, Marshall and Roseau counties held recently at Grygla, a financial study of the proposed Grygla, Gatzke and Skime school reorganization was presented. The financial study was prepared by the Minnesota Department of Education.

The proposal calls for construction of a high school at Grygla with an elementary school at Gatzke to continue to operate as an attendance center for grades one through six. Some of the information contained in the financial study is as follows:

Assessed valuation of the proposed are (1962 figures) is $572,713 with adjusted assessed valuation of $1,286,135 (1960 E. A. R. C. valuation). For the 1962-63 school year, enrollment totaled 223 in grades 7 through 12 and 233 in elementary grades for a total of 456 pupils. With 96 per cent average daily attendance, the total pupil units would number 544.9 for state aid.

Estimated Aids

Estimated aids the district would receive have been set at approximately $180,872 and includes maintenance, transportation and federal aids in addition to aid in lieu of non-taxable land. Estimated costs to the taxpayer would be $42,194 per year for maintenance and transportation; $12,848 for capital outlay, $24,266 for debt service and $2,300 for Public Employees Retirement association. Total estimated cost per year of operation has been set at $262,482—and includes state and federal aids.

Total mill levy required to meet local obligations was stated at 142.66 mills—including 73.76 mills for maintenance and transportation, 22.46 mills for capital outlay, 42.42 mills for debt service and 4.02 mills for PERA. The Grygla district would retain its present debt for elementary school construction, increasing the mill rate for that district by 23.72 mills to a total of 166.38 mills.

$350,000 Cost

Estimated cost of a 250-pupil high school has been set at $350,000. Bonding for 30 years at 3.6

STUDY material for the women's section of the Pennington County Soil Conservation District annual meeting Tuesday is being reviewed above by Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, county home agent, and C. FHA Supervisor Reports for '63

Pennington and Red Lake county farm and other families borrowed $1,085,360 from the Farmers Home Administration in 1963 to improve farming operations, buy and enlarge farms, build houses, install water systems, and for other development purposes, Joel P. Rosengren, local supervisor of the agency, reported this week.

A total of 235 loans in the two counties were made from the agency during the year, either as individual borrowers or members of associations with a Farmers Home Administration direct or insured loan.

Loans are made by FHA only to qualified borrowers who cannot obtain credit from banks, Production Credit Associations and other conventional lenders.

Under an insured program of the agency, these lenders also provide about 80 per cent of the funds loaned by Farmers Home Administration and secured by real estate.

Pennington and Red Lake county families paid the agency $503,237 in interest and principal on loans outstanding during the year, exceeding the 1962 collections by $323,038.

Rosengren singled out the emergency loan program of the agency as being of particular importance in the counties last year. Emergency Loans in the amount of $307,790 were made to 155 families in Red Lake and Pennington County for the 1963 crop year enabling them to continue their cropping program after two years of little

P. P. Tax List Published in Times Today

Notices Also Being Mailed out by the County Treasurer

The Pennington county personal property tax list, always an official publication carefully read by property owners, and prepared in the office of County Treasurer Ellsworth Jorgenson, appears elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

As a further reminder, Jorgenson is mailing out this week to all affected persons statements showing the amount to be paid in both personal property and real estate taxes.

The personal property tax is due before March 1, with the provision that amounts in excess of $10 may be paid in two installments, with the second half payable before July 1.

The tax list reveals that nearly 90 business firms will be called upon to pay taxes in excess of $500, while more than a dozen will pay more than $3,000.

By a wide margin the biggest personal property tax, totaling more than $52,000, is levied against the Lakehead Pipeline Co. on its lines passing through this county. Last year the firm paid more than $48,000.

In Thief River Falls, Land O'Lakes Creameries tops the list with a bill for $15,875, followed closely by L. B. Hartz Stores Wholesale, with $14,377. Others paying more than $4,000 include the Farmers Cooperative Grain & Seed association, Bridgeman Creameries, Thief River Falls Creamery, Gamble-Robinson Co. and the Great Northern Railway.

Foreign Exchange Student Speaks To Rotary Club

Liisa Luoma of Finland Tells of Home Country, Shows Colored Slides

Miss Liisa Luoma, American Field Service exchange student from Finland who is attending Lincoln high school, was guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club Monday. The local club is financial sponsor for the local foreign exchange student program.

Miss Luoma stated that the easiest way to locate the geographic position of her country would be to say that it is 900 miles straight north and then west from Thief River Falls. The country has an average winter of about -6 degrees and summer temperature of 60 to 70 degrees.

"The international face of Finland is in Helsinki, the capitol, where about one-tenth of the nation's population lives. Most families live in milti-story apartment houses with some recent changes to American-type single-family houses," Miss Luoma said.

In addition to her native Finnish language, the student speaks English, German and Swedish. She noted that her native city of Pourri has a population of 58,000 people. Religion is taught in the schools. Since all students must have equal educational opportunities, religious minority groups in the country must sometimes have special teachers from a distance to teach religion.

Miss Luoma also showed slides of her country and answered questions.

Pennington SCD Has Annual Meeting

BOARD of supervisors for the Pennington County Soil Conservation district headed the annual meeting held Tuesday in Thief River Falls. Left to right the district officials include, front row, Raymond Parnow, Goodridge, secretary; Oscar Houske, Thief River Falls, president; and Melvin Scholin, Thief River Falls, treasurer; second row, Harold Smith, Goodridge, supervisor; Robert Kloubec, work unit conservationist; and Merle Dagen, Thief River Falls, supervisor. Cooperators in attendance nominated Arnold Hammer of Thief River Falls and Carl Lindbloom of Goodridge as possible successor to Parnow, whose term expires. One will be elected from Smiley, Cloverleaf, Kratka and Highlanding townships in the township election on March 10.

Two candidates will be presented to the voters in Smiley, Cloverleaf, Kratka and Highlanding townships as representative on the Pennington County Soil Conservation district board of supervisors. Nominations were made at the annual meeting of the district held Tuesday at the courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Arnold Hammer of Thief River Falls and Carl Lindbloom of Goodridge were nominated by district cooperators. Voters will select one of the two nominees at the March 10 township elections to succeed Raymond Parnow of Goodridge for a five-year term on the board. Other board members are Harold South, Goodridge, Merle Dagen, Oscar Houske and Melvin Scholin, Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Peterson of rural Thief River Falls were presented with the Minneapolis Star-Tribune plaque as outstanding cooperators in the district for 1963. Presentation was made by Robert Carlson, local representative for the Minneapolis newspaper.

Several speakers in the community for another meeting reviewed new crop varieties, fertilizer application and the problem of high protein in barley. Since maltsters do not want high protein content in malting barley, a better price is paid for low protein grain. Protein may be reduced, the speakers said, by planting early, not seeding barley on summer fallowed land and by fertilizing barley according to soil tests with nitrogen levels between 25 and 40 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre.

Women's Program

Care of house plants was discussed by C. Gustav Hard, extension horticulturist, at the women's session held Tuesday afternoon in the city auditorium basement. About 50 women attended the session, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, county home agent.

Necessary ingredients for good soil in flower growing are three parts of good garden loam, two parts organic matter and one part sharp sand, the horticulturist said. Fertilizers, containers and rehabilitation diets for plants not doing well were also discussed.

Amount of water given to plants is not as important as the regular watering of the plant, the women attending were told. Humidity, temperature and light are all important considerations in raising healthy, beautiful house plants.

Extreme heat and cold should be avoided in order to raise the type of flowers "that grandmother used to raise", Hard added. He emphasized that plants need "TLC—Tender, Loving Care" in order to perform to their best capabilities.

$90,817 Is Cost Of Operating at Area Sanatorium

Annual Sunnyrest Report Issued by Dr. Flancher Shows Modest Increase

Operation of Sunnyrest Sanatorium at Crookston during the past year cost $90,817 as compared with $88,867 a year ago, according to the annual report issued by Dr. L. H. Flancher, superintendent and medical director. Pennington county is included in the sanatorium district and assists in its financial support.

Actual cost to the six counties operating the sanatorium increased in 1963 to $65,244 from a total of $54,488 in 1962. The difference of $10,755 was due to reduction in state appropriations for tuberculosis work, fewer tuberculosis patients from outside the district and discontinuance of x-ray payments by the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association, Dr. Flancher said.

Average daily census was 17.68 persons in 1963 with 30 cases admitted during the year. Forty-four patients were carried fo in 1963 and 17 patients were in the hospital on December 31.

All cases reporting for x-rays are Mantoux tested if they so desire. X-rays are shown to patients before they leave, if possible, with all X-Rays being read by Dr. Flancher. Testing has been carried out in the three southern counties of the district during 1963 with approximately 14,000 tests given.

The sanatorium commission has organized an outpatient department according to a new law passed by the last legislature and is asking Kittson, Mahnomen, Clearwater and Clay counties to join the district.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Given an opportunity, would you work to save your neighbor's life? Would you raise a hand to keep a mother alive to bring up her family, perhaps on a farm near your farm. Suppose it lay within your power to do something to keep alive several of your children's playmates, to enable some wage earners in your community to continue to support their families...would you be interested? Would you act?

Each year since 1955 more than 40,000 people have been killed in traffic accidents. This adds up to well over 300,000 deaths, more than all the United States battle deaths in World War II, more than the total population of either Toledo, Ohio or St. Paul. Each year almost a million and a half people are disabled in traffic accidents. Last year traffic accidents cost 7.3 billion dollars. This is roughly nine per cent of our total federal budget.

What a tragic, heart breaking, deplorable waste of lives! We admit this, without question, but we ACCEPT it. Unconsciously we write it off as the price someone else has to pay for modern transportation. We never truly believe that some day WE may be the victims, that even now we are paying part of the dollar cost.

But we do all agree that "something must be done" to drastically cut the deaths and inuuries on streets and highways, the unnecessary toll of suffering. No one would dream of denying that "something must be done". No controversy is involved in this; it is a truth that is full of common sense.

But it is not a propelling connection; we agree, but we do not act. Holiday traffic deaths appall us and we may make a conscious effort to stay off the highways on the Fourth of July or Labor Day, but this is as far as we go. We are not convinced that we must do something. When tragedy strikes close to home it may be too late for our family to begin to work to prevent accidents.

So...you do something! Be sure to attend the driver refresher course that is being held here in Thief River Falls on February 5 at 1:30 p.m. in the courthouse. Leo Steinmetz, head of safety promotion of the Minnesota Highway department; Obert Lilo, safety officer of the highway patrol; and Anthony Madunich, driver license examiner, will be the main speakers for the day. A film will also be shown which is entitled "Freeway Driving Is Different".

Here is YOUR opportunity to save your neighbor's or your friend's life. Attend the driver's refresher course!

BY BERT MILLS

Washington Editor of "National Publisher"

Washington, D. C. — A racetrack handicapper rating the early entries in the Republican sweepstakes might have this to say about the contenders:

Goldwater: front runner, may prove overmatched in stretch.

Rockfeller: showed early foot, hurt by mating with Happy.

Nixon: loser last two times out, may not go to post.

Scranton: dark horse, upset winner both starts.

Romney: best of rest, unlikely to get call.

Lodge: stabled abroad, lost last two outings.

Stassen: frisky when a colt but usually runs out.

It will be noted that our mythical handicapper did not suggest who would win. And yet almost certainly, one of these contenders must come in first under the wire. There has never been a race yet in which all contenders lost.

It might be said that every G. O. P. entry has hobbles of some sort. Goldwater veers out to the right. Rockefeller bobbles to the left. Nixon just missed the big prize in 1960 but broke down in the gubernatorial stakes in California. Scaranton and Romney have never been in a feature race, and Lodge has only defeats in futile comback efforts. Suissen doesn't figure on anybody's form sheet except his own.

The smart money betters are holding on to their cash for now and track conditions may change radically by post time in July. A muddy track is by no means impossible, especially in the match race to follow the Republican sweepstakes.

The defending champion and sure entry in the head-to-head contest—an import from Texas—has had a clear track up to now. But there are some ominous storm clouds ahead.

The biggest cloud is a Senate investigation of a former jockey in the champion's stable. The ex-rider became suspiciously rich in a hurry and wound up in court.

The stewards are conducting an inquiry, mostly in secret. The guess is that they will adjudge the ex-jockey guilty of several fouls. The question is how much such a verdict will affect the running form of the former jockey's trainer.

The stewards are political employees and the ruling party has a six-three majority on the group. No doubt the majority will seek to protect the reputation of the ex-trainer who now has risen to control all racing.

Minority members, on the other hand, will seek to use the revelations made in the inquiry to influence the match race next November. Will the minority be able to associate the alleged misdeeds of the jockey with his former friend, who first hoisted him in the saddle

If so, odds on both the Republican sweepstakes and the match race might change drastically before post time. It has happened before.

If a storm does blow up among the stewards, the bad weather may spread to the track and racing fans will be wary of an upset. Form sometimes does not hold true on an off track.

The jockey is expected to keep mum and point no fingers. He may even avoid testifying in view of his involvement in a court case. Possibly the stewards, knowing he has retired anyway, will simply close the record without a definitive finding.

If so, there remains the possibility that the minority stewards will appeal the verdict to the court of public opinion, in hopes of affecting the outcome of the big race.

If that happens, sports fans, hedge your bets!

Internal Revenue Agent to Assist Area Taxpayers

M. E. Mogen Assigned To This Area; Will Aid In Preparing Returns

Revenue agent M. E. Mogen will be responsible for taxpayer assistance in this area during the 1964 federal income tax filing period, according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal Revenue, St. Paul.

His territory will include the counties of Pennington, Red Lake and Marshall. Lethert indicated that it is the policy of the Internal Revenue service to advise and assist taxpayers in the preparation of their individual returns.

Where clarification and explanation is necessary in the preparation of federal income tax returns, or instructions or information on filing requirements is needed, Internal Revenue service representatives are available for taxpayer assistance.

Mogen, who is located at Crookston, will be available for taxpayer assistance from 12:45 to 4:45 p. m. on Fridays until April 10.

Taxpayers whose income consists of wages less than $10,000 may file on card form 1040A. If deductions are to be claimed, or income exceeds $10,000, Form 1040 is to be used. Supplemental income from dividends, interest, rents, etc., will require the use of Schedule B and Form 1040. Lethert urged all taxpayers to report their social security or tax account number in filing their 1963 federal returns.

Roseau Brothers To Be Examined

Death In TRF Last Week Leads to Investigation

Three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Halvorson at Roseau are expected to take a trip to Minneapolis this week to undergo tests at University of Minnesota hospitals. They will be checked for what may be a rare blood condition that has already claimed the lives of two of their brothers.

Laverne Halvorson, 19, died suddenly last week after playing hockey on an outdoor rink in Thief River Falls where he was attending vocational school. Exactly one year before, Jan. 2, 1963, a brother Curtis, 20, died in a barn on the Halvorson farm near Roseau.

Surviving sons are Kenneth, 17; Allen, 23; and Harvey, 26. The family doctor has urged the boys to go to Minneapolis for examinations to determine if they have any condition which is possibly fatal. Both deaths have been attributed to cerebral hemorrhages but no cause has been determined.

Money Stolen at Mint Cafe Sent Back by Mail

Return of stolen money about the same time it was discovered missing took place in Thief River Falls last week-end. The thief apparently did some Sunday thinking and had a change of heart.

G. A. Frahm, operator of the Mint cafe, was advised by waitresses on Monday morning that he had neglected to leave change in the cash register for the Monday opening. About $50 in change had been taken from the cash register between closing time Saturday night and the Monday opening of the cafe.

At about the same time that the theft was discovered, the morning mail arrived and contained an envelope with $50 in currency. No clue was left as to the identity of the thief.

Highway Lettings Hit Peak in 1963

Jobs Total $85,050,000; 1962 Figure $55,000,000

The size of the Minnesota highway department's construction year (calendar 1963) can be seen in figures released recently on construction contract lettings for the past 12 months. A new all-time high was set.

Lettings on Interstate and regular trunk highways totaled $85,050,908. The total for 1962 was $55,026,412.

In 1963, contracts on the Interstate system totaled $53,441,32 clearly reflecting the rapidity with which additional Interstate mileage is being put under contract, a trend which is expected to expand over the next several years.

Regular trunk highway contracts also continued to grow with 1963 showing a total of $21,609,586 as compared to $27,962,864 for 1962.

The highway department also lets contracts for the county secondary system on which federal aid money is used. In 1963, these contracts amount to $11,410,299.

None of these contracts includes work let by counties and municipalities.

State Music Units Invited to Join in N.Y. World's Fair

Governor Rolvaag Says State Does Not Plan to Underwrite Expenses

Governor Rolvaag today named John Geisler, St. Paul, to serve as coordinator for Minnesota Day at the New York World's Fair on June 23.

Geisler, managing director of the St. Paul Winter Carnival, will be responsible for organizing musical units from all parts of the state to participate in the Minnesota Day program.

Rolvaag said Geisler will work with a committee representing the governor's office, the department of business development and the North Star World's Fair Corporation.

Geisler served in a similar capacity for the state at the Seattle World's Fair in 1962 when some 500 musicians presented a Minnesota Day Program.

The Governor said all musical organizations in the state are invited to take part in the New York program. At the present time, he said, there are no plans for the state to underwrite any transportation or accommodation expenses for the participants.

Some of the Minnesota Day participants will make appearances at the Minnesota pavillion at the fair but the formal program will be presented in the main plaza of the fair.

The Governor requested that all musical organizations interested in participation make their interests known as soon as possible by letter to Geisler, in care of the Department of Business Development, State Office Building, St. Paul 1.

'63 State Traffic Well Ahead of '62

Increase on Rural Trunk Highways Is 3.7 Per Cent

If you thought Minnesota highways were unusually crowded at times last year, as compared to the year before, you were probably right.

Traffic on rural trunk highways in 1963 increased 3.7 per cent over 1962, according to the Minnesota highway department, which makes traffic counts the year around, using 31 automatic traffic recorders placed on rural trunk highways and supplemented with portable recorders at other locations.

The average yearly increase for the past three years has been about two per cent, and 1962 traffic showed an increase of 2.1 per cent.

The above average increase for 1963 has been attributed to two major factors: weather and tourism.

Last year's weather was exceptionally good compared to 1962, and Minnesota's tourist industry drew more customers than in most recent years.

Last February and March had the biggest increases over corresponding months of 1962, 11.6 and 7.6 per cent respectively. Traffic however, was low due to unusually heavy snowfall.

October and November had the next highest traffic increases, with 4.5 and 6.6 per cent increases respectively over the same months of 1962. The past fall was one of the warmest and sunniest in recent history.

Traffic volumes during the remaining months ranged from increases of one-half per cent in January to 3.6 per cent in August.

Sidelines Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

Liberty has not brought peace and progress to Africa. Too many of the new nations that have been liberated from colonialism are now suffering a much worse form of government—ruthless and ignorant dictatorship.

This result was forseen by a few leaders who recognized the fact that Africans in general were not prepared for self-government as we understand it. But the noisy do-gooders prevailed. Under their guidance we have sewn the wind. It remains for us now to reap the whirlwind.

Under the brilliant leadership of our country, most of the new nations of Africa are now members of the United Nations organization. We should not complain. The stupidity has been largely ours. The truly unfortunate thing is the apparent indifference of our present leaders to our past errors. It appears that we are continuing our past follies and becoming involved more and more in the internal struggles of peoples with whom we have little in common and whom we cannot actually help materially until they start helping themselves.

Perhaps the greatest contribution we could make in the service of mankind at the present time, in the interests of preserving civilization, would be to restore the strength of our own economy.

President Lyndon Johnson is not doing a very effective job in laughing off his close association with Bobby Baker. The gift he received from Baker ha-ha was nothing unusual. He gave gifts to Baker. Baker gave gifts to him. It was just that simple. They were close associates in their work and they were pals.

What President Johnson says may be true, but it is also true that Bobby Baker is under a cloud at the present time and apparently is in serious trouble. The President's pat-on-the-back for a friend in his hour of need may be praiseworthy but if further exploration of the facts prove that Bobby Baker has in fact been a citizen of questionable character, then the President may regret his admission that he and Baker were pals, closely associated in whatever it was that Baker was doing.

According to the London Times, the following yarn originated in Warsaw. As reported by the Times:

Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung agreed to go tiger shooting. The tiger appeared out of the long grass. Mao fired first—and missed. He fired again—and missed. Nikita then fired. The tiger rolled over dead. The two men went up to it, measured it, found it was too heavy for their bearers to carry away. Nikita said he would go and get help, leaving Mao on the spot. When he returned there was no tiger to be seen. "But—but where is the tiger?" he said. "Mao Tse-tung was courteously interested. "What tiger," he replied.

Nikita applied his full dialectical method. "Look, you remember we set out to shoot a tiger" — "Yes."

"We saw the tiger."—"Certainly."

"You fired first and missed."—"I did."

"You fired a second time, and missed." "That is true."

"Then I fired and got the tiger." "Certainly, first shot."

"We went up to it and touched it."—"We did."

"It was too heavy for us to move, so I volunteered to go off and get more help."

"Yes, quite correct."

"But when I came back the tiger had gone."

"What tiger"

This story is interesting mainly because it illustrates how difficult it is to lead a discussion with the Communists to any logical conclusion.

Financial Study Aired for Grygla, Gatzke and Skime

per cent interest would indicate that $11,666 annual principal and $12,600 annual interest (maximum) would be paid for total debt service of $24,266.

Full and true valuation for bonding of the proposed district is $5,259,603 with the maximum bonding figure (7½ per cent of valuation) being $394,470. Enrollment trends for the next few years in the proposed district are as follows:

	Elementary	Secondary
1963-64	232	232
1964-65	239	236
1965-66	235	244
1966-67	241	242
1967-68	231	239
1968-69	226	233

Tax Rates

Current tax rates are 91.15 mills in the Grygla district, 76.10 mills in the Gatzke district and 60.86 mills in the Skime district while the proposed new district would have an estimated mill rate of 142.66 mills.

County tuition is now 87.7 mills in Beltrami county, 41.49 mills in Marshall county and 54.43 mills in Roseau county. Mill rate totals for all purposes may be obtained by adding current tax rates and county tuition for the respective counties.

A page of population trends shows that from 1940 to 1960 only the township of Eckvoll and the village of Grygla had population increases with six and nine people respectively. Other townships had losses ranging from 34 to 161 people during that 20-year period. Some township populations, particularly in Beltrami county, were more than cut in half during that time.

FHA Supervisor Reports on Loans Made During '63

or no crop due to drought in 1961 and excessive rainfall in 1962.

Rosengren also reported that management assistance to FHA borrowers in the county is the most important aspect of his work.

"The efficient management of farm resources now is the crucial factor in the success of farmers here in the county and throughout the state," Mr. Rosengren said.

Following is a summary of loans made by FHA in the two counties during 1963.

A total of $171,020 went to 26 Pennington & Red Lake county farmers to pay for equipment, feed, seed, livestock, for other farm and home operating needs, and to refinance chattel debts and develop income-producing recreational enterprises.

Farm ownership loans totalling $500,900 were used by 26 farmers to enlarge, develop and buy farms not larger than family size, and to refinance debts, and develop income-producing recreational enterprises.

Rural housing loans amounting to $300,490 were made to 23 farmers and rural residents.

Water development and soil conservation loans totaled an estimated $5100. Most of these funds were used to install rural community water systems.

The FHA office serving Pennington and Red Lake County is located in the court house in Thief River Falls.

General Motors Profits Hit Peak

Firm Earned $1.6 Billion in '63; Sales $16.5 Billion

General Motors Corp. in 1963 earned $1,592,000,000, a sum never before equaled in a calendar year by any corporation. Sales, likewise a record, totaled $16.5 billion, GM repoted today.

In summarizing what in many ways was an unprecedented year in the automobile industry, General Motors also reported new high marks in car and truck production, payroll, dividends paid and profit per share of common stock.

The only earnings achievement approaching the GM 1963 figure was the $1,522,424,000 in net income reported by American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the 12 months ended Nov. 30. AT&T has not yet given its figures for calendar 1963.

In 1962 General Motors, the world's largest manufacturing concern, set its previous highs of $1,459,000,000 in net profits and $14.6 billion in sales.

1964 Feed Grain Program to Be on Voluntary Basis

Price Supports on Corn and Barley Only Open to Participants, However

Participation in the 1964 feed grain program will be entirely voluntary, as in earlier years, according to Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. Only those growers who take part in the program, however, will be eligible for price support on the three feed grains, corn, barley and grain sorghum.

Producers on farms which grew any of these grains in either 1959 or 1960, or in both years, will have the opportunity to sign up in the program during the period Feb. 10 through March 27. In the meantime, ASCS county office staffs will answer any questions growers may have.

The grower who diverts on many acres as he signs up to divert—at least 20 per cent of his farm's total feed grain base—and carries out other provisions of the program will earn a payment for acreage diversion and will become eligible for the feed grain price-support loan and payment. Since the payments vary by crops, the diversion payment will be based on the kind of crop acreage diverted; the price-support payment will be based on the kind of feed grain planted. A higher rate of diversion payment will apply where more than the minimum 20 per cent of the base is diverted.

The acreage diverted from production of the feed grains is to be devoted to an approved conservation use, and this acreage is in addition to the conservation-use base acreage for the farm.

Payments will average higher this year, and the maximum diversion is higher. A new provision in the 1964 program limits the diversion payment to no more than 20 per cent of the fair market value of the land diverted in 1964.

Livestock Exhibits to Feature RRV Shows

The livestock shows will again comprise a major attraction at this year's Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, February 2-March 1, 1964.

The 4-H and Futurity judging contests will be held on Saturday, February 2, the opening day of the nine-day show. Swine, sheep, and cattle entries in the Futurity Division will follow the judging contests.

Open class dairy entries will be shown on Monday, February 24, to be followed by sheep, swine, and beef cattle on Tuesday and Wednesday of Winter Shows week. Special exhibits of Charlais and Brangus beef cattle will be featured at this year's show.

Entries in the meat animal show will be judged on the hoof at 4:00 p.m. on Monday, February 24. The Crookston Cold Storage company will slaughter all animals and will have carcasses available for display in a special refrigerated "walk-in" truck during the latter part of Winter Shows week. Meat specialists from the animal husbandry department of the University of Minnesota St. Paul, will evaluate the carcasses. Score sheets for all entries in the show will be available to the public. Plans are underway for a public auction to make this high-quality meat available to the public.

Five special horse shows, in addition to approved halter classes, will be featured during the last three days of the Winter shows. Friday, February 28, will attract many 4-H entries in the halter and performance classes. Shetland pony halter classes have also been scheduled for this same date. Both shows entertain open class entries in horsemanship and performance events. Saturday's shows, February 29, will cater specifically to registered Apaloosa and Arabian horses. Entries in the approved halter classes will be judged on Saturday morning, whereas the performance events will be featured during the afternoon and evening shows.

Quarter horse exhibitors will occupy the ring for all events on Sunday, March 1. Entries in the approved halter class events will be judged in the forenoon; the afternoon will feature Approved Quarter Horse performance classes.

The recent construction of a new pole barn, adjacent to the main Winter Shows building, will provide additional stable room for horses. Entries in all horse events will not be accepted beyond the capacity of the barns. Exhibitors are urged to submit their entries early before the closing entry date of Saturday noon, February 15. Further information may be obtained from D. Reimer, superintendent of the horse shows, c.o. Northwest School, Crookston, Minnesota.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information of assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—For years, the VA deducted my monthly insurance premium payments from my disability compensation payments. However, my compensation has been reduced and will not cover the insurance payments. Will the VA now take my compensation and let me mail them the balance due?

A—No, this cannot be done. Since your compensation will no longer cover your insurance premiums, you will have to pay the total insurance premium direct.

Q—I am eligible for educational benefits under the so-called Korea GI Bill. How long have I to take advantage of this benefit?

A—Only a year left. The educational program under the Korean GI Bill comes to a close on January 31, 1965. Veterans with service-connected disabilities take their training under another program.

Q—Do eligible war orphans have a deadline by which they must have started on their education program?

A—No. No deadline except their own age. You may begin school at any time as long as you are between 18 and 23 years of age. In certain circumstances, it is possible to begin before 18 and continue after 23. See any VA office for details.

Q—What is the present maximum amount of a GI home loan the Veterans Administration will guarantee

A—The Veterans Administration will guarantee up to 60 per cent of the loan but not more than $7,500. The limit on the amount to be obtained in a direct loan, when no loans are available from private lenders, is $15,000.

Q—I understand my daughter, although over 18, may continue to receive her nonservice-connected pension up to age 21 if she is attending a VA-approved school. How can we tell what schools are VA-approved?

A—Most well-known and recognized schools and colleges are on the VA-approved list. However, if you are in doubt about a school, contact the Department of Education in the state in which you live or the nearest VA office.

Q—I am a veteran about to retire. Will my Social Security benefit and also 26 weeks of unemployment compensation be considered as income?

A—Your Social Security benefit will be considered income but not until you have been given full credit for your personal contributions from wages to the Social Security fund while you were working. All unemployment compensation benefits are considered income.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Could the vast water resources of Minnesota some day be depleted? This is not as farfetched a possibility as it may seem when you consider the tremendous amount used each day.

University of Minnesota agricultural economists say the state's water supply situation is generally favorable, but its water resources are not unlimited. It has been estimated that the total water usage for Minnesota will be 626 million gallons per day by 1975, up 300 million gallons since 1950. According to these reports the industrial use of water is expected to increase by more than 100 per cent, municipal use by 10 per cent, and total agricultural use by 12 per cent. This latter category is expected to be due to expanded irrigation projects.

The survey points out that there are no acute shortages anywhere in the state at the present time. However, the projected figures for 1975 could very likely result in severe shortages in some localities. An additional factor will be competitive usage, which is expected to become more common even where there are liberal supplies.

At present there are minor summer shortages which seem to foreshadow long-range problems, but it is difficult to ascertain whether this is based on lack of supplies or community growing pains. The water level is falling in some parts of southwestern Minnesota and more careful selection of well sites is becoming necessary. Although more common in these southwestern areas, the possibility of depletion in other areas cannot be ignored.

The University's survey says these facts, coupled with the projected figures of usage, indicate a need for planning for developing a more comprehensive policy. It recommends efforts directed toward collection of data on water supply and use and the development of an administrative procedure for regulating water use.

With the close of the fall hunting season Minnesota's many hunters have hung up their gear for another year. However, there are those who maintain a contact with the outdoors and prepare for the coming seasons.

These are the persons who are concerned with the continuance of good hunting and know that wildlife management is the key to this. Two such men are Warren Augdahl, a cooperator with the Douglas County Soil and Water Conservation District, and Marvin Benson, a Carlton County SCD cooperator.

Augdahl recently purchased a farm near Alexandria which needed much in the way of conservation practices. As part of his overall plan he included improvement of four wetland areas for waterfowl by constructing three dams and building shallow dugouts to create open water. Augdahl says he also plans on planting food patches and cover for both waterfowl and upland game.

Benson was named the outstanding farmer-conservationist in Carlton County. His plans call for five-year crop rotation program which includes improvement of two acres for wildlife. He will seed the area in grasses and legumes for wildlife food and plant 1,000 white spruce for game cover. Not satisfied with this progress, Benson is now readying another conservation plan which will begin in 1965.

These are two examples of how property improvement can be handled along with a wildlife planning program for the future by two Minnesota farmers in cooperation with public agencies.

CURLING NEWS

Jon Larson

Once again the curling season is in full swing. The women and men have organized rinks and scheduled their league nights. So far three games have been played by all rinks and league leadership is by no means determined.

Everyone is looking forward to the States Dominion bonspiel which is the highlight of each season. Competition will be real keen this year with, as usual, many Canadian rinks entered. We understand the Orville Gilleshammer rink will be back to defend last year's win.

The ice is in excellent condition, thanks to Jim Olson, our fine icemaker. Great strides have been made in improving club facilities through the work of many of its members. We invite all those interested to stop at the club. Heated spectator area is available.

Through the cooperation of Bill Herzog the high school boys curling program is underway each Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 p. m. with 12 rinks competing.

We would like to call everyone's attention to the fact that the United States Men's Curling association revealed an accomplishment of major proportions; the firming up of a national televised curling show. The U. S. Men's championships, booked for Utica, N. Y., March 2-7, will be video taped and carried on the NBC Sports Special, Saturday, March 28.

Fargo Quintet Edges Prowler Team 59-57

Don See's drive-in and layup shot into the east basket with thirty seconds to play, and the score tied at 57-all, gave the Fargo Central Midgets a 59 to 57 win over the Prowlers in an evenly-played basketball game played on the local court Monday night. The game was a re-scheduling of the last Friday's postponed game.

On Friday night, Jan. 31, the conference leading Crookston Pirates will meet the Prowlers on the high school court. In an earlier game between the two clubs, Crookston eked out a one-point win, 66 to 65. Coach Al Droen's Pirates are unbeaten this season, and are rated as Region Eight's number one team.

In Monday night's nip-and-tuck game against coach John Buchli's Fargo Central squad, the Prowlers showed vast improvement in their play over that exhibited in their losing effort at Grand Forks on Saturday night. And it was due to the locals' inability to contain forward Charles (Chipper) Litten that cost the Prowlers Monday night's game. Litten, before leaving the game on fouls with 3:45 to play in the fourth period, racked up 12 field goals and three free throws for 27 points.

The Prowlers, after trailing by a 16 to 13 score at the end of the first period, rallied to catch the Midgets in the second period, and when Rick Jensen scored on a layup just at the period's end, the game was in 27-all knot at the intermission.

With Bob Olson rapping in four field goals and a free throw, the Prowlers outpointed the visitors, 18 to 14, in the third period, gaining a 45 to 41 lead at the end of the quarter.

In the opening minute of the fourth period, Litten, with a pair of field goals, evened the score a 45-all. Rick notched three free-throw points to shove the Prowlers into a 48 to 45 lead, but not for long. A field goal by Pat Triggs, from the right corner of the court, two free throws by Litten, and another field goal by Triggs, boosted the Midgets ahead, with a 51 to 48 lead.

Olson's field goal, with 1:58 to play, tied the game at 55 to 55. Mike Benston, on a drive-in shot from the left, scored for the Midgets, but the Prowlers' Mark Anderson, driving the lane, scored a layup to again tie the game. See, with 38 seconds to play, drove in, from the left, to score the game-winning points.

The Prowlers, with possession, failed to maneuver for a shot, losing the ball on a bad pass. The Midgets maintained control of the game during the final seconds of play.

Prowler Sextet Tips Hallock 4-1

With John Hellquist and Don Mathieu getting two goals apiece to account for all of the Prowler scoring, coach George Schlieff's hockey squad defeated the Hallock Bears, 4 to 1, in a Region Eight conference game played here Tuesday night.

The Prowlers will play the Roseau Rams at Roseau on Friday night; and then return here for a Saturday night game against the Baudette Bears. And on Tuesday night, Feb. 4, playing at Warroad against the Warriors, the Prowlers will conclude their pre-tournament schedule.

In Tuesday night's game here against coach Ken Wellen's Hallock Bears, the Prowlers gained a 1 to 0 lead late in the first period on John Hellquist's solo goal at 11:13.

And late in the second period, with John Weigelt and Mathieu assisting, Hellquist nudged the puck into the net to give the locals a 2 to 0 advantage.

Moving into the third period, the Prowlers, on fine bit of team play around the net, added their third goal when Mathieu beat goalie Bryce Homstad from close in. The Bears averted a shutout when, at the 7:50 mark, Don Johnson, one of the top scorers in Region Eight hockey connected with a hard drive from just inside the south blue-line. Mathieu, at 9:56, notched his second goal of the night to boost the Prowlers' lead to 4 to 1. Jerry Forsberg drove the puck into the corner, and Elroy Froiland dug the disc out of the corner and flipped a pass out to Mathieu, and the nifty center-ice man didn't miss.

Crookston Six Takes Thieves Sunday 8-4

The league-leading senior hockey Thieves had their Northwest Hockey league lead pared to one game on Sunday when, in a game played at Crookston, the locals dropped an 8 to 4 decision to the Crookston Pirates.

This evening, Wednesday, Jan. 29, the Thieves will meet the Grand Forks Warriors in a league game on the Arena ice. The game, which is a feature of "Youth Hockey Week", will follow a series of elementary school games. The face-off for the Thieves vs. Warriors game is slated for 8:15 p. m.

In Sunday's game, Eddie Holmes of the Thieves and Tony Schmitz of the Pirates proved to be the scoring stars, with each player collecting a three-goal "hat trick". Holmes had a goal in each period, while Schmitz, after getting a tally in the first period, was blanked in the second period, but then came back to score a pair in the third period.

GUARDED closely by Kenny Larson of the Prowlers, Charles "Chipper" Litten of Fargo Central looks for a teammate to receive a pass. The 6' 1" junior forward from Fargo was not always so well covered, however, as he used his height, strength and agility to garner 27 points in a winning cause here Monday night. Litten scored 12 field goals and three free throws and notched 12 points in the last half before fouling out of the game with 3:20 minutes remaining to be played. Bob Olson, Prowler center, is shown at left.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The "Biggest" Game

In ordinary basketball seasons the Bemidji Lumberjacks vs. the Prowlers is the "biggest" game for the home fans. But not this year. From all angles, and on the records to date, the game here Friday night, with the Crookston Central Pirates meeting the Prowlers, can be rightly tagged as the season's "biggest".

The surprising Crookston Pirates will be bringing their winning streak, which has reached thirteen games without a defeat, and with all intentions of keeping that streak intact. In last week's play, Crookston defeated East Grand Forks and Fertile, recording their twelfth and thirteenth wins of the season.

On Monday night, when the Prowlers played that nip-and-tuck game against the Fargo Central squad, coach Al Droen of the Pirates, and several of his players, witnessed the game. Seated in the northerside bleachers, and watching the game intently, were Jack Behr, Steve Erie, Roger Parkin, and Allen Horge.

In the previous game between the Prowlers and the Pirates, played at Crookston in mid-December, the Pirates scored a 66 to 65 win in a game that was rated a thriller. And some more of the same kind of exciting and entertaining basketball should be presented to the fans on Friday night.

And there were some other interested spectators at Monday night's game, too. I'm referring to Bun Fortier, the varsity coach of the Bemidji Lumberjacks. Bun, along with his assistants Jack Luoma and Phil Buhn, were taking notes on the game. And you can wager that they weren't watching the Fargo Midgets!

The Classy V.F.W. Midgets

The V. F. W. Midgets hockey club, coached by Morris (Mouse) Efteland, is compiling one of the best records in recent years this season. Last Sunday, on the Arena ice, the Midgets defeated the Hallock Midgets, 3 to 0, in a Ninth District conference game. Arlan Overbye, John Womack, and Rick Holmes scored for the locals.

The local squad will play at Crookston on Saturday, Feb. 1, and a win would clinch a berth in the state tournament for the Midgets. On Sunday afternoon, Jan. 2, the Roseau V. F. W. team, held to a tie by the locals a couple of weeks ago, will play coach Efteland's team on the Arena ice.

Did You Note?

That two of Region Eight's defending champions in winter sports are going to make strong bids in defense of their respective titles was made evident last week by the results of a pair of games.

In a basketball game played at Detroit Lakes on Saturday night, the Bemidji Lumberjacks, by a 44 to 40 score in overtime, defeated the highly-rated Detroit Lakes Lakers. And the Lakers, conquerors of the Moorhead Spuds, is considered as one-two in District 23 and Region Six competition. The Jacks bear watching from now on in.

And on Monday night, in a game played on the Roseau ice, coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams, the Region Eight champions, trounced the Warroad Warriors, 4 to 0. And, based on their play against the Prowlers here a couple of weeks ago, coach Myron Grafstrom's Warroad club appeared to be a solid hockey team. The Rams are apparently over their mid-season slump, and that's bad news for the rest of the teams in Region Eight.

The Prowlers will be invading the Roseau area on Friday for a game against the Rams on the spacious ice sheet in Roseau's Memorial arena. The Prowlers, who scored a 1 to 0 win over the Rams early this month, are capable of repeating that performance, but the odds will be in favor of coach Almquist's club.

Self-employed Must File Estimate Report

(This is the second in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Most persons who derive their income principally from salary or wages subject to withholding prepay their income tax over the period in which it is earned. However, self-employed persons and others whose earnings are not subject to withholding, employees who have earnings in addition to wages subject to withholding, or single persons whose earnings exceed $5,000 and married couples whose combined earnings exceed $10,000 must file a declaration of estimated tax and prepay their tax in four installments during the year. Failure to file a declaration and pay the required installment may result in a charge of 6 per cent interest on the underpayment of any installment.

For taxpayers affected and whose earnings are determined by the calendar year a declaration of estimated 1964 Federal and Minnesota income taxes must be filed on or before April 15, 1964. One-fourth of the estimated tax must be paid at that time with additional quarterly installments due on June 15, September 15, 1964, and on January 15, 1965. If an estimated return is determined not necessary on an early quarterly payment date, but income changes require that one be filed later in the year, a declaration must be filed on the next quarterly installment date and the estimated tax paid proportionately over the remaining installment payment dates. For example, if an estimated tax declaration is filed on June 15, 1963, the amount of tax due on each remaining installment date will be one-third of the estimated tax. Likewise, if original estimates appear inadequate an amended declaration must be filed on or before the next quarterly payment date and the remaining amended estimated taxes paid over the remaining installment periods.

It is often difficult to estimate income and potential taxes in advance; however, you may safely avoid the interest on an underpayment of an installment by basing your estimated tax on the tax paid for the previous year.

If you expect estimated Minnesota income to exceed the amount of Minnesota taxes to be withheld during the year by $20.00 or more, and your Minnesota gross income exceeds $200.00 from sources other than wages on which Minnesota income taxes will be withheld, you are required to file a Minnesota declaration of estimated tax. Generally, a Minnesota declaration of estimated tax must be filed if a Federal declaration is filed and your income is subject to Minnesota income taxes.

Persons whose estimated tax declaration for 1963 appears inadequate during the last quarter of the year must pay the additional estimated tax on or before January 15, 1964; however, if they file their return for 1963 and pay the entire tax due on or before January 31, 1964, they will not have to make an additional payment on estimated taxes. Persons who receive at least two-thirds of their gross income from farming or fishing may pay their entire estimated tax on January 15 following the end of the tax year rather than over the entire year. In addition, a farmer may file his final income tax returns, both state and Federal on or before February 15 of the following year and pay his entire tax due at that time without having to file a declaration of estimated tax.

Nonfarm Workers in State in 1963 Average 999,100

Gain of 16,000 over 1962 Slightly above Ten-year Average, Says Starkey

Monthly non-farm employment in Minnesota in 1963 averaged 999,100 workers, compared to an average of 982,300 in 1962, a report from the Minnesota department of employment security revealed today. The gain of 16,800 over 1962 represented a percentage increase of 1.7—slightly higher than the 10 year average yearly increase of 1.5 percent.

Manufacturing employment showed a gain of 3,400 or 1.4 percent between 1962 and 1963, compared to the 10-year average yearly gain of 1,900 (0.9 per cent), according to Commissioner Frank T. Starkey.

The largest percentage employment decline between 1962 and 1963 occurred in mining and quarrying, as the demand for Minnesota's non-taconite ore continued to lessen, Starkey said. Employment there declined from 14,300 to 13,100, a drop of 7.7 percent.

Transportation employment continued its long-term downtrend; however, the 1962-63 loss was 1,000 As in the past, receding railroad employment (which dropped 1,200 in 1963) was the main impetus for the transportation decline, he said.

Employment in trade increased by 3,500 workers from 1962 to 1963, the net result of a gain of 4,700 workers in retail trade and a decline of 1,200 workers in wholesale trade.

Starkey reported that the largest consistent percentage gains during the past 10 years occurred in the finance, insurance, and real estate group; in services, and in government.

Town and Country Institute Slated

Two-day Session Set for Crookston Feb. 27-28

A regional Town and Country Institute will be held at the Northwest School of Agriculture in Crookston Feb. 27 and 28. The Institute is under the sponsorship of the University of Minnesota in conjunction with churches of various religious denominations.

The program is part of a broadening interest of the University in reaching the adult population through the continuing educational program. It is open to community leaders and clergymen of all religious denominations.

The first day of the two-day program will be devoted to a study of community socio-economic changes and implications. During the second day the participants will take a closer look at the responsibility of the community to migrant workers.

Housing Cost Rise Expected for 1964

Housing costs may go up slightly in 1964 but building of single family homes and apartments will continue at a fairly high rate. Increased emphasis will be on vacation homes. Mortgage money is expected to be plentiful and available on liberal terms with no great change in interest rates.

Annual volume of new housing has increased each year in the 1960's, with the rate of building in 1963 ahead of that in 1962. May 1963 set a record high for nonfarm housing starts. Construction of new homes rather than conversion has been the biggest factor in the expansion of the national housing supply.

Only a small proportion of new construction in the 1960's has been for the lowest income group. Federal, state and local public housing projects added about 30,000 units to the housing supply in 1962. Public housing starts in 1963 were slightly ahead of those in 1962.

The single-family house accounted for 73 per cent of all nonfarm home construction started in 1960-1962, reports Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent. However, the annual building rate for single family houses has been declining in the '60's. On the other hand, the rate of apartment house construction has been increasing and has furnished much of the current housing boom.

The apartment house boom may be explained partly by the fact that apartment living offers advantages to young, newly married couples and to older families. It is these two groups that are expected to show relatively large increases in the next decade. Single-family houses, on the other hand, appeal to growing families. This group is expected to show a relatively smaller increase in the next decade.

The industry is looking forward to a really big boom beginning sometime between 1965 and 1970, when the post World War II baby crop is having babies. Anticipation of this boom seems to prevent any great concern over increasing vacancy rates, increasing mortgage foreclosure rates and higher costs of materials and labor.

A fairly recent development has been the increase of vacation homes, which have been estimated to comprise six per cent of total housing. Builders estimate annual vacation home starts of 200,000 by 1970. The demand is expected to come from couples in their 40's who want a weekend place for their children now and a retirement home later.

Introduction of new techniques and materials is often hindered by building codes that may need updating. Nevertheless, there are many new methods and materials that show promise of ultimately benefiting the consumer.

Syrian Author to Lecture Feb. 25 at Winter Shows

of the Valley is the announcement of the Vally is the announcement that Salom Rizk of Toledo, Ohio, has been secured for a lecture at the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston. He will speak on Tuesday evening, February 25, at 8 o'clock in the Winter Shows Arena on the subject "America is More Than a Country."

Mr. Rizk is already well known to millions of Americans. His unbelievable life story first appeared in the Reader's Digest. His book, an autobiography entitled "Syrian Yankee," tells a moving story of his discovery of America in modern times. The book has become required reading in many schools and colleges across the land.

Household Equipment Is In Good Supply

Consumers can look forward to ample supplies of household furnishings and equipment in 1964 with little change in prices. Since 1960 there has been a slight downward movement in prices of most house furnishings. By last September that trend had tapered off.

In June, 1963, the downward movement was continuing for prices of wool carpets, nylon carpets and particularly for appliances. But this trend was offset by rising price levels for dinnerware and such small items as paper napkins and electric light bulbs. Prices for television sets and radios had declined two per cent in the year ending in June, 1963.

Because the saturation point has been reached or is in sight for many appliances, manufacturers have been promoting the purchase of second units as well as stressing obsolescence. They emphasize the improvements in the new appliances.

Here are some of the new developments consumers can look for in appliances for 1964, as reported by Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent:

Kitchen ranges—Automatic features are being stressed such as "programmed cooking" in which the product is baked for the set time and temperature, and then held at a lower temperature to give some leeway in serving time. One new electric range has an easy-to-care-for feature. It is an oven with coated, removable side and back panels. Another new electric range cleans the oven itself.

Automatic washers—Electronic advances developed for guided missiles are being applied to permit a greater range of motor speeds and to give greater reliability and less servicing.

Thermoelectric refrigerators—These are models for use in the recreation room, the business executive's office and the family car.

Electric irons—A new iron has its own headlight for showing the user where wrinkles are.

Electric mixer—A cordless electric mixer with a rechargeable battery pack may be the forerunner of other cordless household appliances.

Phonographs and TV sets—Record players are turning up in coffee tables and desks. Small screen portable TV sets selling at under $100 are being promoted. Beginning May 1, all TV receivers manufactured must be of the all-channel type to permit receiving UHF (ultra-high frequency) telecasts. Resulting price increases are estimated to be $20 to $30 per set. Technical problems are still a drawback in color television sets, as is the scarcity of color programming by the networks, but production of color TV sets is reported increasing faster than that of black and white sets.

Editorials . . .

"It was the best of times; it was the worst of times; it was the age of wisdom; it was the age of foolishness; it was the epoch of belief; it was the epoch of incredulity; it was the season of light; it was the season of darkness; it was the spring of hope; it was the winter of despair."

—Charles Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities"

Compounded Confusion

Judging by the number of hats being tossed into the Republican presidential candidacy ring, the mythical squared circle is beginning to look like a clearing house for a haberdashery. Most recently added was the flower-spangled fantasy belonging to Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith, U. S. Senator from Maine.

In announcing her candidacy, Sen. Smith indicated a number of reasons why she should not seek the nomination and has ently declared that she does not expect to get it. The announcement does tend to add interest to primary campaigns, however, but will likely destroy the value of at least several of them. She plans to enter pimaries in New Hampshire, Illinois an I Oregon. The New Hampshire primary in particular could well be lost as an indicator of ultimate political choice.

This country having a woman president would not be as ridiculous as some people might think. On an average, women in this nation are better informed on national, international and political affairs than the men. This is primarily because the nature of their roles as homemakers permits them to be exposed to various news media during the course of their everyday affairs.

Other nations have had female rulers who have been extremely influential in world affairs and provided excellent government. Anyone at all familiar with the feminine mind will admit that it would be impossible to predict what a woman would do next—a factor which would keep Premier Khrushchev a little more off balance.

In fact, it might be good to have women in all the leading posts of government. Judging by the way our government operates now, some of the mess must be caused by husbands becoming confused in attempting to carry out the directives of their wives. Maybe eliminating the middleman between women and the law of the land would result in more efficient government.

Civil Rights Again

Mention has been made in these columns recently in regard to the pending Civil Rights legislation—and more mention will be made of it in the future. The dangers in this proposed bill are so great that they could result in the destruction of rights for all rather than protecting the rights of minority groups.

Information contained in this and future editorials was compiled by members of the House Judiciary committee in writing dissenting opinion. It is contained in a booklet entitled "Unmasking the Civil Rights Bill" and published by the coordinating committee for Fundamental American Freedoms.

Much of the danger in the proposed law results from 'open end' provisions. In the language of the bill, 'The President is authorized to take such action as may be appropriate to prevent. . ." and "Each federal department and agency. . . shall take action to effectuate. . .' This "action" could be fine, imprisonment, suppression of rights or, as an extreme example, execution. Does this sound like legislation which would be good for America?

Take the farmer, for instance. If this bill is enacted, the farmer would be required (regardless of the number of his employees) to hire people of all races, without preference for any race. He will no longer be allowed to exercise his independent judgment. Under power conferred by this bill, he may be forced to hire according to race, to "racially balance" those who work for him in every job classification or be in violation of federal law.

Farmers are becoming accustomed to federal legislation, directives and controls. But the Civil Rights bill is far from an aid to farmers. Penalty for violation listed above can mean being excluded from every direct and indirect federal "benefit." It can mean the calling of his bank loans, being shut off by blacklisting from the agencies of government that recruit labor, the right to purchase supplies from farmer-associated business which may be somewhat dependent on federal assistance.

A farmer would be compelled to employ those people a federal inspector says he shall employ or his farm will be deprived of every vestage of federal "aid", without which few farms can successfully operate today.

The agencies required to police farmers, under the directions of the Attorney General and the Commission on Civil Rights, are all (1) banks for cooperatives, (2) federal land banks, (3) federal intermediate credit banks (4) production credit associations, (5) the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service, (6) the Commodity Credit corporation, (7) the federal crop insurance corporation, (8) the agricultural marketing service, (9) the Farmers Home administration, (10) the Soil Conservation service and all other agencies or departments having to do with federal financial assistance in the field of agriculture.

It has been said, with a certain degree of truth, that there are now potentially dangerous laws on the books which are not being used. However, if there is not intent to use the law up to its provisions, then the provisions should not be included in the legislation. It is entirely too possible to legislate our freedom into oblivion.

Featherbedding

For some time the term "featherbedding' has been directed toward the use of firemen on diesel railroad engines when there is no fire to tend. According to A. H. Raskin, labor reporter for the New York Times, the nation's economy would collapse without featherbedding — a practice which extends far beyond the railroads. Writing in the Saturday Evening Post, he stated:

"Every Tuesday or Friday some pundit reminds us that featherbedding—the loading of payrolls with men who do no useful work—is killing the country. The surest why to kill the country would be to enforce a law abolishing all featherbedding at once. The result would be a depression worse than any since the 30's and perhaps revolution by millions of men and women cast on the industrial junkpile with no hope of ever working again.

"We need featherbedding in the United States, and we will keep on neding it until we do something real about solving our No. 1 problem of social neglect—unemployment.

"I'm not saying that I don't think there is a lot of useless labor frozen into our industrial structure. Just the opposite. There is so much that it would turn our unemployment problem from a running sore into a fatal infection if we rooted it out overnight."

Raskin goes on to say that some efficiency engineers calculate that our factories, day in and day out, run at 85 per cent or less of the rate of output that would be possible if everyone on their payrolls was really putting in a "fair day's work for a fair day's pay". The White House estimates that the loss in goods and services from failure to make full use of our manpower and other economic resources in the last 14 years exceeded $175 billion.

"I have no quarrel at all with the argument that featherbedding ought to go when, if ever, we have enough jobs to provide useful, full-time employment for every American who wants it, "Haskin continues. "The more efficient our industry is, the more substantial the benefits it will have to distribute in higher profits for investors, better wages and working conditions for employees and lower prices for consumers."

So, like the story of the monkey, weasel and cobbler's bench, the problem goes around and around. Elimination of featherbedding in a clean break would undoubtedly cause a "pop" which the nation could not afford to have. The logical way of erasing featherbedding is to eliminate the job when the current job-holder retires, quits or dies. Providing youth with the education to fill jobs which have a useful purpose should be a prime goal for our society. It is, in fact, a must if the nation hopes to survive and show progress. People who believe "dead end" occupations are good enough will too soon find they are left sitting on them. The sooner we realize it the better our chances for improvement will be.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"Young people in postwar America have grown up with the disillusioning knowledge that the world is no longer 'safe for democracy'. High ideals are the birthright of youth, but the youth of postwar America must face also the chaos which present-day society presents, and bring about order through the realization of those high ideals."

Many Crop Exhibits Due at Winter Shows

Plans are nearly complete for the crop and potato show which will be an outstanding feature again of the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston. According to Olaf C. Soine, superintendent of the crop show, indications at this date point to a record number of entries in all classes of crops, potato, forage, and certified seed. The show dates are February 22-March 1.

Entries in all classes must be made before 1 p. m. on February 21. Samples may be taken to the Winter Shows building beginning the week of February 17.

The barley show offers some attractive premiums including a sweepstake Award of $25.00 to the best sample in the show. Entries in this event are open to all growers including 4-H and F. F. A. members who have projects in barley production. A sample of one-half bushel of field-run barley is required. No hand-picked sample is accepted.

The certified seed section is an important part of the crop show and is open to registered and certified growers. Samples are taken from the cleaned lots of grain produced by these growers this past year and represent the best seed grown in this area. Entries of small grains, grass, legume, and special crops like sunflowers and mustard are eligible for competition.

The silage and hay secion is a new feature of the show and is steadily growing in importance. Entries can be made in both baled and chopped hay and include the first and second cuttings. One quart of silage in a plastic bag is the amount needed and includes four different classes.

The selection of a master crop grower is the outstanding award of the entire show. This is open to all exhibitors and is based on the number of entries made and the number of points acquired.

According to B. C. Beresford, superintendent of the horticultural section, plans are being made for another outstanding potato and garden show. All entries for potatoes and vegetables close at 1 p. m. on February 21.

Further information may be obtained by writing to the Red River Valley Winter Shows, Crookston, Minnesota.

Associations contributing ribbon awards, cash awards, or plaque awards for the crops and horticultural shows are the Red River Valley Development association, Red River Valley Crops and Soils association, Malting Barley Improvement association, Minnesota Brewers' association, Red River Valley Potato Growers' association, and Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.

Legion Supports Blood Donor Plan

Minnesota Group Urges Recruitment Campaign

All 626 Minnesota American Legion posts are urged to immediately plan and implement a blood donor recruitment program, according to Charles Gavin, LaCrescent, state chairman of the Legion's blood program.

Gavin has sent letters to Legion district and Post blood program chairmen outlining suggested organization of local blood programs to help create a statewide network of donors. The shortage of contributors has become a serious matter to officials concerned with supplying blood for emergency and modern medical uses, Gavin points out.

The shortage of known and qualified donors is universal, he adds, and the Legion program is concerned with the problem as a matter of community service as well as actual national security. O. T. Bussard, Marshall, state chairman of the Legion's community service program, and Milo Blanich, Crosby, national security program chairman, have promised the cooperation of their committees in this movement.

Gavin notes that there are a number of Legion blood programs already in operation, but urges that these review their present activities with a view toward expanding and perfecting them.

Meanwhile, officials of established blood collection agencies have been encouraged by the Legion's concern for the lack of donors, and have promised all possible cooperation with the Legion.

The entire program stems from action taken by the Legion's state executive committee in session last November, whereby the Legion accepted and launched the blood donor recruitment program.

Town and Country Art Show Slated

Rural Artists Invited to Submit Their Work

Amateur rural artists in Minnesota are invited to exhibit their work in the annual Minnesota Town and Country Art Show on the University of Minnesota's St. Paul Campus this spring.

Entry dates for the art show are March 2 through March 7, A. Russell Barton, coordinator, has announced. All entries may be delivered in person or by mail to the St. Paul campus Student Center within that period.

The event was formerly known as the Rural Art Show. The name was changed to describe the participants in the show more accurately.

Amateur artists should take special note of the changes in rules this year, Barton emphasized. Any amateur painter of sculptor, high school age or over, living in rural Minnesota or in a Minnesota town of 25,000 or less is eligible to exhibit original work. Previously the show was restricted to artists in communities of 15,000 or less. More than 300 rural artists exhibited in last year's show.

Each artist may enter one painting and one piece of sculpture this year, but no more than one in either medium. The entry must be a recent original work—not a copy—in any type of painting, sculpture or the graphic arts. It should not have been exhibited at any previous Minnesota Rural Art Show. Photographs are not accepted.

This year an entry fee of $2 will be charged to help defray expenses. Art works submitted must be accompanied by a registration blank and the entry fee. Checks should be made payable to the University of Minnesota.

Registration blanks are available from Minnesota Town and Country Art Show, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn.

Get MORE egg dollars

Now is the time to do something about your egg income—to get the highest possible return from your flock. Take your cue from official Random Sample Tests conducted from California to Rhode Island in which Starcross 288 proved to be the top profit producer. Just look at the three year summary of Shaver superiority in Western New York Random Sample Tests.

	Net Income	Eggs Per Pullet Housed	Per Cent Eggs Large and Extra-Large
Shaver Starcross 288	$2.976	245.9	75.37
Test Average	2.418	222.5	70.70
Shaver Advantage	+.558	+23.4	+4.67

A New Layer—Starcross 288 was developed from strains with the best egg-producing and feed-conversion qualities. Poultry scientists took these desirable characteristics and bred them into one layer. The result is a bird that excelled in across-the-board comparisons of white egg layers.

HEARTFELT THANKS AND A DRUM . . .

. . . were presented to Governor Karl Rolvaag as he proclaimed February Heart Fund Month.

Poster children Betty Tschida and Terry Adelman, both of the Twin Cities, gave the Governor a drum, symbolic of the Heart Fund theme, HELP BEAT HEART DISEASE, and looked on as he signed the document which reads,

"Whereas, the citizens of Minnesota and countless others throughout the nation are daily confronted by the enemy, heart disease; and

"Whereas, last year, 1963, approximately 15,000 lives in Minnesota were claimed by this dreaded scourge; and

"Whereas, this terrible toll will doubtless occur again this year and in the years to come unless every responsible citizen joins in the crusade to fight and overcome this enemy of all the people; and

"Whereas, the Minnesota Heart Association, a unit of the American Heart Association is seeking, through its volunteers, to gather and provide funds for medical research to help control and stem heart disease,

"Now, therefore, I, Karl F. Rolvaag, Governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim the month of February, 1964, as Heart Fund Month in Minnesota and Sunday, February 23, as Heart Sunday. I urge each Minnesotan to answer the appeal to help defeat heart disease by contributing generously to the Heart Fund when called upon by a neighborhood Heart Sunday volunteer."

Minnesota Building Set for World's Fair

Minnesota's Polyhedron at the New York World's Fair will cast an illusion of floating, colorful diamonds in the shape of the state's symbol, the North Star.

The pavilion was designed by nationally famous James R. Dresser of Minneapolis and is comprised of multiple hexagonal polyhedrons which appear delicately balanced atop a pile-cap six feet in diameter. Each polyhedron contains 1,000 square feet of floor space and stands four stories high. One unique feature about the prefabricated pavilion developed by the Structural Plastics Corporation of Osseo, Minnesota is that it only weighs approximately eighteen tons as opposed to 180 tons for a building of similar size constructed with ordinary materials.

The split level honeycomb pattern will house its exhibits and displays on the upper level while the North Star Restaurant will occupy the entire first level. An extended, sunken, open-air sandwich and light drink area, called the "Twins-Vikings Dugout" will appease the hurried visitors becausq of its quick service design.

The North Star Restaurant will offer a Nordic Kabaret flavor and emphasis will be placed on the fact that most of the food comes from Minnesota. Periodically, the restaurant will highlight such delicacies as northern pike from the state's 10,000 lakes, venison, pheasant, duck, and other seasonal game. The restaurant will aspire to afford the World's Fair attendance an epicurean visit to Minnesota. The state is proud of the fact that there is no home in the entire United States that does not have a number of foods from Minnesota in their kitchen.

The upper exhibit area will tone its displays to present an actual Minnesota flavor. The theme will also be extended to the landscaping area which will be decorated with Minnesota shrubbery and taconite.

Address Change Notice Needed by Social Security

Each month close to nineteen million people receive social security checks in the mail. Among these are retired or disabled men and women, their spouses, children and also widows, widowers, and dependent parents.

"If you are one of these people, you probably depend on the check and expect it to be delivered on time each month. It is a real tragedy to most folks if their checks are delayed", said Walter Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks office. "Here are some suggestions that may help you eliminate the risk of having a check delivered late, or possibly having it returned to the Treasury Department," he added.

"If you are moving and are changing your address, try to give the Social Security Administration advance notice. Social Security checks are prepared by the Treasury Department about the middle of each month. This allows for delivery early in the next mont If a change of address is received in the social security payment center too late to process, it may not be possible to make the change in time. The only way that such a check could be forwarded properly is if the change of address had been reported to the Post Office. Therefore, it is very important that the Post Office is notified of any changes of address."

The report of a change of address must be made in writing and should include the beneficiary's claim number, his full name, and the new address. All social security beneficiaries have been given a post card form as a convenience in making these requests. The same post card can be used to notify the social security office of any important change in status which could stop or hold up a person's check.

Report Cards Due January 31 from VA Pensioners

Recipients of Veterans Administration pensions are advised not to tear or mutilate their VA cards for reporting income.

Mr. John R. Parrish director of the Veterans Administration center in Fargo, says that too many income reports are arriving at the VA in such condition they cannot be processed through the automatic equipment.

The income reports must be filled out completely and returned to the VA by January 31 to avoid removal of the recipient's name from the pension rolls.

"A prompt, complete and neat return will avoid the risk of interrupted pension payments," Mr. Parrish said.

The Treasury offers taxpayers tax refunds in risk-free, interest-paying U.S. Savings Bonds. Check the right box on the return—and the rest is automatic!

Teenagers Important In Consumer Market

Teenagers are becoming increasingly important as consumers. During 1960 they spent a total of $10 billion on snacks, clothes, cosmetics and recreation—almost as much as the amount spent for defense and space research in the U. S. in 1963. The average expenditure for each teenager amounted to $50 for the year.

America's 18 million teenagers comprise over 10 per cent of the nation's population and a very powerful and easily swayed segment of the consumer market, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent. With no taxes, rent or insurance to pay, teenagers spent the total 10 billion on non-durable goods.

Clothing is the largest expenditure of teenage girls. Cosmetics come next. Girls and boys together spend about 430 million annually for party foods and snacks.

During back-to-school days in 1963, the quick-spending teenage girls purchased more than 15 million skirts. This was topped only by blouse sales of 20 million. The clothing teenage girls purchased during a two-months' period before school in 1960 cost them almost 900 million, as indicated by a study by "Seventen" magazine. a study by "Seventeen" magazine.

Boys' spending habits are slightly different. Most of their money records and clothing.

Most teenagers hold full or part time jobs. According to the magazine, about 45 per cent have an average weekly income just under $10. Others depend onu allowances from their families.

The teenage years are times when attitudes, morals and social values are established for life. Buying habits also develop. Often these ar characterized by careless spending and little thought about cost for value received, Miss Offerdahl comments. In a national survey, teenagers from 39 states with money are: not having enough money and having to ask parents for more, and needing to learn how to save, budget and spend money wisely.

A year's subscription to the Times costs only $5.00.

Cards will be issued to district engineers, assistant and deputy district engineers, area maintenance engineers, district maintenance foremen, sub-area maintenance foremen, district soils engineers, project engineers, district right of way engineers, district traffic engineers, district state aid engineers, district design engineers, right of way agents and public information writers.

Our Mightiest Hour

Rockets have a certain thrust — and no more. Nuclear bombs have a certain explosive force — and no more. Every powerful device on which man depends for military defense or scientific advance is limited in its energy.

But FAITH has no limits. It turns with trusting eyes to the Almighty, whose power is infinite, whose love is everlasting. It is constantly confident and courageous — because its resources cannot be exhausted.

In perilous times a great nation always finds its might in spiritual resources. And today, significantly, one of the essential elements of survival in which our stockpile dwarfs the Russians is FAITH. Khrushchev has no secret installation to match the thrust and force generated in the souls of our people by our hundreds of thousands of churches.

Think on these things as we worship together next Sunday morning . . . our mightiest hour!

Everybody who wants a Wildcat, please stand up.
Everybody who wants a Skylark, please stand up.
Everybody who wants a Riviera, please stand up.

Now that everybody's standing, let's all go to the Buick Sports Car Rally.

Really.

It would be a shame to waste this chance to drive one of Buick's lively sport models, wouldn't it? Especially considering your Buick dealer's so close, and the price is so nice. That's what the Sports Car Rally is all about. And they're all luxurious enough to make you wonder why anybody'd settle for a two-seater. A finely tuned production 340 hp Wildcat with a skilled driver scored the highest miles per gallon in the economy test of Class I—high performance V-8's—at the Pure Oil Performance Trials at Daytona Beach, Florida. (So who's surprised? Not Wildcat owners.)

WINNER of the outstanding farmer award in the Pennington County Soil Conservation district for the year just completed was Norman Peterson of rural Thief River Falls. He is shown at his home about 10 miles southwest of Thief River Falls with the basic farm plan completed in 1962. Peterson purchased the farm from the state 19 years ago and has increased the original 360 acres to the present farm size of 680 acres.

SCD Outstanding Farmer

Peterson Farm Grows On Conservation Work

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Use of conservation practices in building his farming enterprise has earned for Norman Peterson of rural Thief River Falls the title of outstanding conservation farmer of 1963. Selection was made by a committee through the Pennington County Soil Conservation district and the award was presented by the Minneapolis StarTribune.

It was 19 years ago when Peterson purchased a 360-acre state farm located five miles west, five miles south and one-half mile west of Thief River Falls. The land was mostly unimproved and the buildings were in poor condition. Now the farm includes 680 acres with about 400 acres open and an additional 160 acres will be rented this year. Land purchases included 160 acres in each of 1961 and 1962.

A cooperator in the soil conservation district since 1954, Peterson has used a basic farm plan prepared by the district since 1962 In the past eight years he has constructed about three miles of open ditches for surface drainage, dug a stock water pit for his herd of cattle, utilized a crop rotation procedure, planted trees for farmstead windbreak as well as a number of fruit trees, conducted soil testing and used a fertilizer program.

Has Holstein Cattle

At present the farm has a herd of Holstein cattle of which 16 are being milked in a Grade B dairy operation. Milk is sold to Thief River Falls Cooperative creamery Peterson has purchased a registered Hereford bull to be used in a breeding program for his Holstein herd. Resulting calves from the cross will be large calves with beef characteristics which Peterson plans to raise to 700 or 800 pounds for sale as feeders.

Further crosses to progeny of the present Holstein herd is expected to result in animals nearer the Hereford build. Some artificial breeding will be done to selected cows for maintenance of replacement stock for the dairy herd.

About 200 acres of grain are in production each year, mostly oats, of which about 150 acres are for cash sale. Approximately 20 acres are planted to corn for silage and 40 to 60 acres are planted each year to grasses and legumes for pasture and hay. There are about 150 acres in hay and pasture each year in the rotation program.

Improve Buildings

Since purchasing the farm 19 years ago, the Petersons have greatly improved the house through addition of rooms and installation of a water system. Nearly all of the building improvements including new out-buildings, have been done by the family. Additions to the house utilized material from the former Pennington county courthouse which Peterson helped to raze.

Original barn on the farm was a 16x60 structure with stanchions for 12 cows. Last year a 38x70 pole

Langen Proposal for Boxcars OK'd

ICC Reduces Unloading Time for Cars at Ports

Congressman Odin Langen has expressed pleasure in last Monday's service order from the Interstate Commerce Commission that reduces the free time on the unloading of boxcars at ports.

"I am pleased that the I.C.C. has tackled the boxcar shortage problem by adopting the suggestion I made last October. By responding to my recommendation, the free time during which a boxcar may sit at a port has been reduced from the former maximum of 20 days to just seven or less. This order, effective February first and continuing through December 31st, recognizes the need of moving critically-needed boxcars at the earliest possible moment."

Congressman Langen said that today's order comes at an opportune time. "There are indications that the boxcar shortage experienced last year will become even more acute in 1964, which makes this action imperative."

While praising the Interstate Commerce Commission for reducing the free time, Langen noted that the order solves only half of the problem. "The storage charges imposed after the free time expires are so low that many rail lines are encouraged to hold these cars for additional days. The I.C.C. should explore the possibility of raising these rates to encourage the prompt movement of boxcars."

7th Annual Seed-Feed Show To Be Held Friday

BREAKING ground in the middle of the winter doesn't seem possible here in northern Minnesota, but the photo above shows that it is being done. Using a heavy-beam breaking plow with a 32-inch breaking bottom, Ben Baker is shown operating his father's D-7 Caterpillar tractor. Baker and Joe Cullen, a brother-in-law, are breaking the ground for George Baker on a section located eight miles east and 5½ miles north of Thief River Falls in Agdar township of Marshall county.

Crop exhibits, intersting and informative speakers and homemaker projects are all included in the program for the Seventh Annual Pennington County Seed & Feed Show. The event will be held at the Thief River Falls city auditorium on Friday with all entries due at the auditorium before 10 a. m. that day.

Programs for both men and women will be held in the afternoon. At 1 p. m. the speaking program will begin with Dr. L. H. Shebeski, chairman of the plant science department at the University of Manitoba, speaking on developments in hybrid wheat. Having toured Russia, he will also discuss work on plant breeding being done there and discuss Triticale, a new crop showing promise as a substitute for corn in northern areas.

Dr. Ray Arthaud, extension livestock specialist from the University of Minnesota, will give special attention to sheep management. He will discuss internal and external parasites, management of the ewe flock and lambs, early and late lambing and other topics.

Specialty crops such as sunflowers, millet and grass seeds will be discussed by George Piitt, president of Valley Feed and Supply company of Spring Valley, N. Y. The firm has an affiliate plant here and has contracted for sunflower and millet acreage in the Thief River Falls area. Piitt has the 1964 contracts prepared and a sign-up meeting will follow the speaking program. Early indications point to well above the minimum request of 3,000 acres of millet and 1,500 acres of sunflowers for the coming season.

Women's Program

With the accent on sheep and wool products being given at the show this year, program arrangements for the women's program follow the general theme of emphasis. All entries in the women's division must be of at least half wool and include dress, suit or coat, jumper or skirt, sweater, mittens, gloves, hats, scarves, crocheting, rugs and miscellaneous. A special division will be held for modeling with participation prizes to be given.

At 1:30 p. m. the speaking program for women will begin with Mrs. Francis A. Wershler, extension specialist from the University of Manitoba, speaking on "Preparing Lamb Cuts." There will be free registration for a door prize at the meeting and all area women are encouraged to attend.

Sponsoring the show are the Pennington County Crop Improvement association, Pennington county, Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, seed, feed and fertilizer dealers, banking and loan firms and rural electric cooperatives.

Northwest School Future Considered

Finnish Student Addresses Lions

Miss Liisa Luoma Tells Group about Native Land

Guest speaker at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday was Miss Liisa Luoma, exchange student from Pori, Finland, who this year is studying as a senior at Lincoln high school while staying at the Ray Ulferts home.

Miss Luoma was introduced by Francis Hamerlinck, principal of Lincoln junior high school, who informed the group that Liisa's father is a member of the Pori Lions club.

Miss Luoma said that all secondary school students in Finland speak the English language, and that everyone in Finland goes to church. She stated that her country enjoys a mild climate, thanks to the Gulf Stream. She also discussed the sauna or Finnish bath. Her talk was accompanied by colored slides depicting scenes in Finland.

Phasing Out of Students Given Consideration

To consider the future of the Northwest School of Agriculture and experiment station at Crookston, a 12-member committee has been appointed by O. Meredith Wilson, president of the University of Minnesota. Stanley J. Wenberg, university vice president for educational relationships and development, is chairman of the committee.

According to a press release from the university, the committee has been assigned the tasks of examining possible future uses of the university's facilities at Crookston and of considering in relation to these facilities, educational programs "which seem most appropriate to the needs of the state in the years ahead."

Committee members have specifically been asked to do the following:

(1) Recommend a plan for the phasing out of the Crookston institution's high school program and the phasing in of a technical education program and supporting liberal studies; and

(2) Recommend changes that need to be made in the school's staffing and its facilities.

"We hope," Wenberg said, "that our committee will be able to complete its study of the Crookston school in time to permit the university to make appropriate recommendations to the 1965 legislature." The committee is expected to consult with the state's liason committee on higher education and the new state junior college board.

Appointment of the study committee followed a report prepared by the university's bureau of field studies and presented recently to the board of regents. Directing the preparation of the report was Professor Otto E. Domian, who has also made several school studies in the Thief River Falls area.

Four basic recommendations concerning the Northwest School were made in the bureau's report. They include the following:

(1) That the school's high school level education program be phased out as soon as possible;

(2) That the short-course offerings be continued and that every effort be made to expand this program;

(3) That the Crookston experiment station continue to function and that its research also include investigations appropriate to the area outside the Red River valley

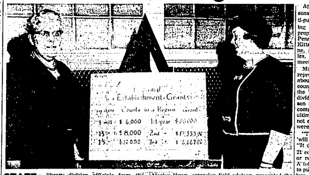
130 Attend Regional Library Meet



STATE library division officials from the Minnesota Department of Education presented the program Wednesday evening when persons interested in a proposed multi-county library met at Argyle high school. Miss Emily Mayne, left, supervisior of extension libraries, and Miss Marlys Howe, extension field advisor, presented the program. Pennington, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties are being offered multi-county library service free of charge for a trial period of one to two years. County commissioners in the four counties must request the program.

Approximately 130 interested persons met in the Argyle school multi-purpose room Wednesday evening to hear an explanation of the proposed multi-county library for Pennington, Marshall, Roseau and Kittson counties. Miss Emily Mayne, supervisor of extension libraries, was the main speaker at the meeting.

Marshall county had the largest representation at the meeting with about 50 persons while Pennington county had 26 representatives and the remainder was about equally divided between Roseau and Kittson counties. A number of county commissioners who must make the ultimate decision as to whether or not a pilot project will be adopted, were in attendance.

"This is no longer a question of 'will it work?'," Miss Mayne said. "It does work and it is working in 21 counties which now have county or regional libraries in Minnesota. A total of $1,125,000 has been spent to purchase books, pay salaries and buy and operate bookmobiles in these counties."

No County Cost

Miss Mayne stated that the demonstration program would be offered at no cost to the counties. When the demonstaation program ends, after at least one full year of bookmobile service, the counties would make a decision as to whether or not they would like to have the program continue. If they decide to continue, the regular program for establishment of a multi-county library would go into effect.

It was noted that failure of the Pennington or Marshall county boards to request the demonstration program would result in total rejection of the plan. Pennington county is the only county eligible to receive aid, since it is the only one of the four which now levies a tax for library service. Marshall county would have to be included since all counties in a multi-county unit would have to be adjoining. Pennington county does not touch either Roseau or Kittson counties.

State Funds Used

Funds to operate the demonstration program are provided from state funds and used to provide the necessary added library personnel, quantities of books and bookmobile service, Miss Mayne said. The book mobile, a unit capable of carrying

Judy Quesnell Is Wed to Robert Baumgart Jan. 25

An exchange of marriage vows between Judy Quesnell and Robert Baumgart, both of Wadena, took place in that city at St. Ann's Catholic church on January 25 at 11 a.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Quesnell of Thief River Falls. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Merle Baumgart of Waldorf, Minn.

The wedding ring worn by the maternal grandmother of the bride was used in the double-ring ceremony performed by Father Yowler. Baskets of white and blue gladioli flanked the communion railing, and the pews were marked with bows of white satin. One hundred guests were present.

The traditional wedding march was played by the church organist, and "Ave Maria" was sung by the church choir as the bride presented a bouquet at the altar of the Virgin Mary. The choir also sang other wedding music during the services.

Escorting the bride to the altar was her father. She wore a gown of acetate satin with Alencon lace-scalloped neckline and tapered, wrist-length sleeves. The skirt formed a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was lace-edged and fell from a pearl crown. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Sharon Bruggeman of Grand Forks, N.D. was maid of honor and Marlys Marsh, Wadena, also a friend, attended as bridesmaid. Their attire was blue velvet dresses with street length, bell-shaped skirts and also featuring long sleeves. They carried white fur muffs, gifts of the bride, and wore white veiled headpieces.

Attending as best man was Jack Quesnell, Rantoul, Ill., a brother of the bride. Roger Tweed, a friend, was groomsman. Ushers were Jim Bebee and Ron Meyer, friends of the groom, and also stationed at the Air Force Base at Wadena. Gentlemen of the wedding party wore dark business suits. The groom's boutonniere was a red rose to match the bride's bouquet, and the boutonnieres of the other men were white.

Mrs. Quesnell's dress was of red wool, worn with winter white accessories. Mrs. Baumgart wore a blue dress with accessories to match. Both corsages were a white orchid. Mrs. Lowell Collins, the bride's godmother, and Lowell Collins, her godfather, received a white orchid corsage and a boutonniere, respectively.

A wedding dinner was given by the parents of the bride for the bridal party and one hundred guests. Held in the church parlors, it was presided over by the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Quesnell of Rantoul, Ill., as hostess.

The bridal table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with white wedding bells, and flanking it were lighted tapers. Centerpieces of the other tables were white wedding bells topped with blue bows, with streamers cascading to the table. Cake was cut and served by Mrs. Lowell Collins, the bride's aunt. Miss Elizabeth Freeman attended the guest book.

Guests were registered from Thief River Falls, Rantoul, Ill.; Waldorf, Waseca and Wheaton, Minn.; Grand Forks, N.D., and West Richland, Wash. Mrs. Robert McIntyre and Miss Rita Terve opened and displayed the gifts. Mrs. Bernard Jasken and Miss Jean Szepanski served as waitresses.

The couple honeymooned in Winnipeg, Manitoba, the bride choosing a pink wool dress as her travel outfit. She wore with it a pendant which was a gift of the groom.

They are at home at 119 S. Waldrich in Wadena after Feb. 1.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of Lincoln high school, and is employed as a telephone operator with Northwestern Bell. The groom, a 1959 graduate of the Waldorf high school, is stationed at Wadena with the Air Force.

The bride was attired in a gown of satin brocade. She wore a veil with a crown, and carried a cascade bouquet.

Maid of honor was Audrey Martin, and Mary Erickson and Kay Martin were bridesmaids. Their dresses were of red corduroy and they carried white muffs and wore white headbands.

David Steinhorst served as best man, and Harold Ness and Neil Martin were groomsmen. The men of the party wore dark business suits. Ushers were George Dunn and Lyle Hangenson.

At the reception Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mounger served as host and hostess, and Miss Yvonne Wells attended the guest book. Mrs. Marilyn Stephenson and Joyce Hjelle poured, and Barbara Cook and Mrs. Lois Stone cut and served the wedding cake. Waitresses were Sheila Elseth, Cristy Carlson and Gricela Dyrud. Linda Swanson, Marlene Harbott and Betty Berggren opened and displayed the gifts, and Mrs. Clarence Larson and Mrs. Joe Tunheim assisted in the kitchen.

Guests were from Newfolden, Bagley, Fosston, Erskine, Cannon Falls, New Brighton, Minneapolis, Holt, Thief River Falls, Middle River, Browns Valley, Minnesota, and from Montana.

MARRIAGE rites conducted recently at Bethlehem Lutheran Church at Newfolden united Renee Martin and John D. Erickson.

Miss Martin's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Martin of Newfolden. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Erickson of Bagley.

Vows Spoken by Valerie Pierce, Richard Vigstol

Wedding vows were exchanged on Saturday, January 18, at Trinity Lutheran church of this city between Valerie Pierce, daughter of the Harold Pierces of Thief River Falls, and Richard Nelson Vigstol of Puummer. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Nels Vigstol.

The Rev. Reuben Wangberg officiated at the double-ring ceremony before immediate family members of the couple, and close friends.

The bride was attired in a charcoal gray two-piece suit with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of carnations in mixed shades. Her attendant was her sister, Mrs. Dennis Morrison of St. Hilaire, who wore an identical suit and corsage and served as matron of honor.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother Russell Vigstol of St. Paul. Both men were in dark business suits and wore white white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pierce chose a black sheath-style dress of wool, with accessories to match, and white hat and gloves, while Mrs. Vigstol wore a blue dress with white accessories. Their corsages were of mixed shades of carnations.

Following the 7:30 evening service, the parents of the bride gave a reception at their home in the couple's honor. About 50 relatives and close friends attended. The two-tier wedding cake was trimmed with pink roses and topped with the traditional miniature bridal couple.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Ronald Gerardy of this city, sister of the bride, and Miss Myrtle Peterson, the bride's aunt, of Superior, Wis. Mrs. Larry Berggren of his city and Mrs. Dale Whitson of Grand Forks, N.D. were at the coffee service, and Misses Gloria Lappegaard and Judy Sabo, close friends of the bride, served ice cream.

Out-of-town guests were from Superior, Wis., Minot and Grand Forks, N.D., St. Hilaire, Plummer, and St. Paul, Minn.

The bride attended Lincoln high school here, and the groom is a graduate of Pershing high school, Plummer. They are at home for a time in Plummer, but after April 1 will live in Grand Forks, N.D. where Mr. Vigstol is employed as a carpenter at the Air Force base.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. MORRIS MILLER

Although this is a Swedish recipe, that fact shouldn't stop you good Norwegian cooks from trying it also (on the sly, of course!). Called by our homemaker "so typically Swedish in its blend of spices," this cooky is crisp and thin, and flavored with molasses. Evidently it found its way into the Miller cooky jar quite often, for Mrs. Miller raises a family of 10 children, whom she called "sweets eaters", and added that these cookies were favorites of her family and she always kept a plentiful supply of them on hand, doubling the recipe to make 11 dozen at a time.

OLD FASHIONED PEPPARKAGOR

3½ cups flour
1½ teaspoons ginger
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon ground cardamon (optional)
½ cup butter, or half butter, half margarine
¾ cup sugar
1 unbeaten egg
¾ cup molasses
2 teaspoons grated orange rind

Cream butter and add sugar, gradually. Cream well. Blend in egg, molasses and orange rind. Stir in the sifted dry ingredients and blend until smooth. Cover and chill. (This dough may be kept for a week.) Roll out 1/3 of the dough at a time, thinly. Bake 8 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

With ten children, we can imagine that Mrs. Miller was kept quite busy with the mixing spoon and rolling pin in her efforts to keep the cookie jar filled.

They have four daughters married, Mrs. Arnold Keim (Delores), Lakota, N.D.; Mrs. W. Loven, (Marilyn), Minneapolis; Mrs. Leon Iverson (Sharon) of this city, and Mrs. Richard Anderson (Judy), Crookston. Joyce is at home. Sons Edgar, Norman and Richard are married and Morris and Gene are at home. Marriages added another Richard to the family, as well as another Sharon, and a second Judy. They also added 15 grandchildren.

Patching, sewing, quilting, and housework have filled Mrs. Miller's days, but she does a bit of embroidery now and then, and during the turkey processing season at Land O'Lakes, she is employed at the plant. She has done this for the past five years and says she likes it a great deal.

They live 28 miles east of Thief River Falls on a farm where, besides the family, the Millers raise Hereford and Shorthorn cattle and grain.

They are members of Reiner Lutheran Free Church.

Mrs. Cummings Notes Birthday at Hospital

Mrs. Elton Cummings was surprised on the occasion of her birthday on January 30. Confined to a hospital room at the local hospital, she was nevertheless able to share a birthday cake with members of her family, friends, and nurses. Coffee was also brought to her room, along with the lavender-and-white trimmed cake which was a gift of her husband.

Among family members attending the informal "open house" were Mr. Cummings, the Cummings children, Mrs. Cumming's mother, Mrs. Jorde, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Don Jorde.

Many at Bemidji Hearing on Taxes

An audience which overflowed the meeting room at the Bemidji Elks Club Tuesday attended a one day hearing by the Minnesota Interim Tax Study Commission. The group, created by the 1963 legislature, is charged with the task of studying the impact of state and local taxes on the state's economy and to make recommendations for legislative action in 1965.

More than 50 speakers were listed on the agenda and several others addressed the commission before the day ended. They were generally businessmen, farmers and government officials who generally called for an easing of the personal property tax and the enactment of legislation that would provide some tax relief for the depressed counties of northwestern Minnesota.

While the speakers were generally pro-sales tax and anti-personal property, there were several other areas of relief sought as well. Several speakers asked for a change in the May 1 date for personal property assessment, stressing that this was a major handicap in the timber producing area where most of the cutting must necessarily be done in the winter months.

Farmers, in general, sought lower taxation of farm machinery and livestock citing the declining income from farming over the past 10 years, and the number of farmers leaving the farms in order to be able to support themselves. One speaker stated that with lower prices for produce, it now takes 3,800 bushels of wheat to purchase what 900 bought in 1947.

Bill Anderson, representing the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation called for a sales tax as a replacement for the personal property tax with a dollar for dollar replacement to each taxing district during the first two years and a the rise and fall of the real estate tax collections in these districts from then on.

On the other hand, Rep. L. J. Lee of Bagley opposed the sales tax stating that many of the arguments of its proponents were unfounded.

Representing Pennington county at the hearing were County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr, Commissioners Glenn Tasa and Woodrow Almquist, and a group of local businessmen and farmers.

TALENT contest winner for the 2nd straight year at the all-school talent night held at Oak Grove Lutheran high school in Fargo was Barbara Magnuson of Grygla. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Magnuson, she won over nine other finalists with a vocal solo, "How Are Things in Glocca Mora?"

Social Security Man Here Tuesday

Household Employees Are Entitled to S.S. Credits

A representative of the Grand Forks district office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, February 4, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Are you getting the proper social security credits for your work? According to Walter Kistler, district manager for social security in Grand Forks, you may not if you are a maid, baby sitter, or other household employee. He went on to explain that some housewives do not know they must report wages paid to domestic employes.

"This report," he said, "is made to the district director of internal revenue for any household employe who makes $50 or more cash wages in a three-month period. If your employer pays you as little as $4 a week on a regular basis, your work is covered by social security, and your employer must make a report for you; and if more than one person pays you more than $50 a quarter, each of them must report your wages."

He said that household workers should get in touch with his office if their work is not being reported. They can get a copy of the booklet, "Social Security and Your Household Employee," which tells employers how to get the forms they need to make the report.

Drinking cups are presently in use in the stanchion barn and plans are to install a fountain for the loose housing area this year. Water for the farm's needs comes from a 100-foot well.

In addition to his farming enterprise, Peterson is treasurer of Sanders township, trustee of Our Savior's Lutheran church and a past president of the St. Hilaire Parent and Teacher association. Mrs. Peterson is president of Our Savior's WMF, treasurer of the district WMF and a Sunday school teacher.

As a district winner in the outstanding farmer contest, Peterson was presented with a trip to the annual conference in St. Paul on January 5, 6 and 7. He expressed his appreciation to the board of supervisors for the trip.

Farmers Warned of Tax Deadline

Some Must File Income Tax Returns by Feb. 17

Farm owners and operators are reminded by George O. Lethert, District Director of Internal Revenue in St. Paul, that their Federal income tax return is due in his office on or before February 17, 1964 if a declaration of estimated tax was not filed by January 15.

Any farmer who filed a declaration of estimated tax for 1963 may delay the filing of his tax return until on or before April 15,1964, Mr. Lethert said.

If a tax return is due by the February 17 deadline, he further stated, any tax owing must be paid at that time.

He reminded farm operators that their returns should be accompanied by completed Schedule F listing Farm Income and Expenses. If liability exists for the self-employment tax for the purpose of securing social security coverage on net earnings, Schedule SE must be completed also, Mr. Lethert stated.

In filing for the year 1963, Mr. Lethert requested that all farm operators report their social security or tax number on their returns. Use of this number guarantees proper credit to your account, expedites the processing of your returns, and avoids any delay in the refund process, Mr. Lethert further declared.

Goodridge Church Merger Defeated In Referendum

Four of five churches in the Goodridge area voting on a merger proposal Wednesday evening rejected the plan, according to Dr. David M. Brown, chairman of the church reorganization committee.

First Lutheran church favored the reorganization by a vote of 44 to 5 while other churches opposed the merger as follows: Telemarken 13 yes and 15 no; Zion, 2 and [illegible]; Goodridge, 9 and 24; and Rosendahl, 6 and 13.

"This vote indicates a lack of interest in church reorganization on the part of most of the churches involved," Dr. Brown said. "A meeting will probably be called some time in the future of the reorganization committee to consider the need for any further action."

Driver Refresher Course Scheduled on Wednesday

If you are like the average driver, you consider yourself better than average. But in reality, probably no one is quite as good behind the wheel as he would like to think he is, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent.

The time to brush up on driving habits is on Wednesday when two driver refresher course is scheduled in the court room at 1:30 p.m. Everyone is urged to attend. Letters have been sent to all homemakers and 4-H project leaders, Miss Offerdahl said.

Specialists that will be working with Miss Offerdahl at this meeting are Leo Steinmetz, Obert Lillo, Anthony Madunich, and Charles Richards.

Leo Steinmetz is Safety promotion officer of the Minnesota Highway department and works out of Detroit Lakes. Steinmetz previously was a driver's examiner. He will be talking on purposes of the refresher course.

Obert Lillo is safety officer of the Minnesota Highway Patrol and is stationed at Roseau. Safe driving principles will be the subject of his talk. A driver's license examiner, Anthony Madunich, Thief River Falls, will talk on driving skills and techniques.

There will also be a discussion panel consisting of the above three men as well as Charles Richards, Pennington county sheriff. A film, "Freeway Driving is Different", will be shown to climax the meeting. Coffee will be served.

This refresher course is designed to up-grade the driving habits of area people. The Pennington County Safety council and the Pennington County Extension service are cooperating to give the course, Miss Offerdahl said.

WINTERTIME DRY NOSE

Q. Is it heat or humidity that causes wintertime dry nose?

A. It's low humidity (lack of sufficient moisture in the air). To provide comfort at 72°F., room air should have a relative humidity of about 40 per cent. This means that the air should be 40 per cent saturated with moisture. Even under this "ideal" condition the nose has trouble keeping up. Every 24 hours we breathe about 500 cubic feet of air. In passing through the nose the air is warmed to almost 98.6°F. (body temperature) and about one pint of water is supplied by the nose to raise the relative humidity to 95 per cent. A pint of water is a lot for one nose to supply. And the nose loses the battle with the furnace in the wintertime when, as is the case in many homes, the room air relative humidity drops as low as 25 per cent. In disease and old age the nose simply can't deliver that much water; drainage stops and germs take over. Humidifying the air in the house during winter months isn't easy, even with expensive central air-conditioning.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

John Glenn is one of our nation's proven astronauts. In this field he has reason to be proud of his record. Now this young space hero wants the voters of his home state of Ohio to elect him United States Senator. It will be interesting to see how the voters of Ohio react to this appeal.

His opponent in the Democratic primary will be the incumbent, the elderly Senator Stephen Young, now 74, who has developed quite a reputation for his forthrightness. He calls them as he sees them and so, while he has offended many he does have strong backing from admiring supporters.

Would John Glenn be a good United States Senator if he were elected? My guess is that the odds would be against him. As we understand it, there is nothing in his background that qualifies him for the office he seeks. His one interest in life has been the conquest of outer space, a field in which he has made a comendable contribution. But that seems to be the extent of his experience.

His approach to the problems of politics and government would not be that of a person of normal experience and background. He has always been on the public payroll, in a glamorous capacity. He would have nothing of value to contribute to the Senate that could not be made available more effectively by his appearance before a committee as an expert in a limited field of government activity.

Was President Charles de Gaulle right in recognizing Communist China? Our administration leaders think he was wrong. Some of our most dependable friends in the international struggle, however, do not see eye to eye with our leaders in this matter. Both Britain and Canada have recognized the obvious fact that there is a Red Chinese nation and have been doing business with the government of the Red Chinese nation over a period of years.

Is the De Gaulle approach then more realistic than the approach of our leaders? I would say yes. De Gaulle recognizes a fact that our leaders think they can dispose of simply by sweeping it under the carpet.

Red China is a fact, and we are involved with this fact in Southeast Asia where, for some unknown reason, we are engaged in a war that is costing us American lives and American dollars. Just how we became involved in this struggle, all by ourselves, no one seems to know. It is all very confusing.

President De Gaulle has indicated that he has a solution for our problem in Southeast Asia. He may, of course, be wrong. But, based on the experience of recent years, let's admit that there is a remote possibility in this instance our leaders may be wrong.

This is not a vote of confidence in the integrity of the government of Red China. That government is no more to be trusted than is the government of Khrushchev in Russia. But I do have confidence in the people of China as I do in the people of Russia, and it is with the people that we must do our selling job. What we need is closer contract, direct contact, with the people.

I am satisfied that recognizing Red Russia by France was not a mistake. And I am satisfied that recognizing Red China by our country could open a door that would lead to much needed better understanding.

It is interesting to note that the former British colonies, that, as a group were referred to as East Africa, now free nations, have called on the British to help them maintain order. In each of the former colonies the established governments have been threatened by revolutionary groups. And whenever called upon for assistance the British have responded promptly.

Looking back over the developments of recent years in Africa, most of us would now agree that European colonialism was thrown out the window much too fast for the good of the African natives. Self-government was inflicted upon people before they were prepared for it.

I use the word "inflicted" advisedly. Self-government is a heavy responsibility, and it probably would be well if we all would sit back occasionally and give a little serious thought as to how well qualified we are to govern ourselves? How well do we manage our own public affairs at the local, state and national levels?

The direction in which we have been drifting in recent years, at all levels, raises some reasonable doubts that at times are really disturbing.

Kathy Breiland, David Torgerson Win 4H Contest

Two Pennington county 4-H club members tied for first place in the annual radio speaking contest held Saturday in Thief River Falls. Six entrants participated in the event, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, county home agent.

Winners were Kathy Breiland, Happy Acres 4-H club member and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Breiland, and David Torgerson, Steiner 4-H club member and son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Torgerson.

Pennington county winner will participate in the district contest at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston on February 22. Topic for the contest is, "What Is My Responsibility in Bettering Inter-Racial and Inter-Religious Understanding?"

Fishing Derby Is Large Attraction

By Flora Allison

"Fisherman's Luck" proved to be as illusive as ever January 26, when the men's club of St. Bernard's Catholic church staged its 7th annual fishing derby at Tindolph Point in Thief River Falls. Proceeds were for the benefit of Boy Scout Troop 57. The event drew over 500 participants and spectators to the river between the contest hours of 1 and 4 p.m.

The weatherman proved to be more cooperative than the fish, however. Brisk, bracing weather prevailed, but the temperatures were higher than for most of the preceding derbies in the series, when sub-zero readings were prevalent. Only four fish were caught during the three-hour period. The first, a 3 lb. 4 oz. Northern pulled in by Ed Breznay, won the prize in that category.

A number of prizes for which to vie sparked the interest of the participants as well as that of the spectators. Elmer Adolphson, 77 years of age and a Thief River Falls resident, proved to be the eldest fisherman present. The fisherman coming from the greatest distance was Mildred Gray of Winnipeg, Manitoba. She was also the first lady in "red flannels" to report to the judges' stand.

Tending to bear out the theory that "Fishermen are born, not made," two hardy youngsters, both only 3 years of age, were among the hopeful participants. They were John Froehle and Bryan Peterson who tied for honors as being the youngest fishermen there.

Herman Christopherson's 4-ounce perch was the smallest fish caught. Prize for the largest fish went to Henry Hoard for his 3 lb., 8 oz. Northern. Lunkers like those pulled from the river on occasion in recent months were apparently not interested in making headlines during this event. They were nowhere in evidence.

Honors for catching the fourth and last fish went to John Kotaska for his 1 lb., 5 oz. Northern.

Game wardens judged the entries and county auditor Charles Rodekuhr was on hand to sell fishing licences to those needing them.

With the interest on the derby increasing yearly, it is expected that next year's event will draw an even larger attendance than that of this season, men's club officials said.

Library Proposal Aired Wednesday At Argyle Meet about 2,000 books to outlying communities, would either be on loan from the library division or a new purchase if necessary.

"The deomnstration library service would strengthen and improve the local libraries if they join in the demonstration," Miss Mayne added. "This film service, reference and question referral service, interlibrary loan and direct mail service. There should be around 10,000 new books available to use in the demonstration."

Theif River Falls, through Carnegie Public library, would be headquarters for the multi-county operation. Expenditure of $5,000 has been authorized by the city council for the necessary work to prepare the library basement for such headquarters and book storage. The four counties have a population total of 47,227 while the usual minimum requirement for establishment of a regional library is 50,000.

All Libraries May Join

All existing libraries would be invited to join in the demonstration, agree to be open to the public around them, accept some guidance and supervision during the demonstration and cooperate in the program. Each would also pledge to make its decision of whether to join if county commissioners decide to establish service in the region.

Indefinite time period for the demonstration is to permit the establishment of books in the public libraries (by the state and under the program) and to give the bookmobile at least on full year of operation. It is not known how long it would take to ready the libraries for bookmobile service or to obtain a bookmobile itself.

Raymond Ulferts, chairman of the Carnegie Public Library board, presided at the meeting. Persons attending divided into county groups following the presentation to arrange for meetings with their county commissioners.

Prowler Quint Snaps Crookston Win Streak

The basketball Prowlers snapped the Crookston Pirates 13-game winning streak on Friday night when, in an action-packed game played on the high school court, coach Jack Junker's squad recorded a 59 to 53 win in a District 31 conference tilt.

On Friday night, Feb. 7, the Prowlers will meet the Bemidji Lumberjacks at Bemidji; and on Saturday night, Feb. 8, the Halstad Pirates will play the Prowlers on the local court.

Much of the excitement and drama of Friday night's tense game was crammed into the final four minutes of play. The Crookston Pirates, with burly Bill Reitmeier scoring on pivot plays, and with forward Jack Behr hitting from the outside, held the point advantage throughout the first and second periods, and had a 29 to 26 lead at the intermission.

Opening the third period of play, Rich Nelson dropped in a pair of field goals, dropping one field goal into the east basket from the left side of the court, and hitting on another two-pointer, from the right side, giving the Prowlers a 30 to 29 lead. With Crookston holding a 38 to 35 lead, and less than four minures of the period remaining, Mark Anderson, Ken Larson, and Bob Olson scored field goals. Reitmeier, utilizing a sweeping pivot, score a Crookston field goal, but a rebound shot by Larson, and a free throw by the hard-working Prowler forward, boosted the locals' lead to 44 to 40. Reitmeier's field goal, just at the buzzer, pared the Prowler lead to two points, 44 to 42.

The two teams were in a 47-all knot with four minutes of the game remaining. Larson scored a pair of field goals, and Anderson, on a jumper and an out-of-bounds play, added two field goals and the Prowlers held a 55 to 47 lead with 2:04 to play. But Reitmeier, on Bob Olson's fifth personal, added two points on a one-and-one; and when the blond Pirate center booked in a field goal, the Pirates trailed by four points. Steve Erie, intercepting a Prowler pass, drove in for a lay-up, and it was 55 to 53 with less than a minute to go. Erie, with 32 seconds to play, took a jump shot from off to the right of the basket, and when the ball bounded off the rim, the Prowlers recovered.

In the final seconds of play, Crookston was forced to foul in their attempts to gain possession of the ball. Larson, fouled by Charles Mickelson, dropped in a pair of free throws, with nine seconds to play. And with four seconds remaining, Rick Jensen was fouled by Reitmeier, and Jensen flipped in two points on the one-and-one bonus foul.

The Prowlers Bob Olson, in addition to playing a strong game off the boards, earned the game's high point honors by tallying eight field goals and five free throws for 21 points. Reitmeier paced the Pirate scoring with 16 points.

Prowler Wrestlers Tip Crookston 24-17

Coach Al Shaff's Prowler varsity wrestlers boosted their season's record to eight wins and two losses on Wednesday night, when, in a match held at Crookston, the locals edged out the Central high school Pirates, 24 to 17.

It was a come-from-behind effort for the Prowler matmen as the Pirates held a 17 to 13 lead entering the last three matches of the 12-match program. But in these final matches, coach Shaff's wrestlers picked up 11 points. Joe Taylor pinned Central's Kent Charron in a 165-lb. match; co-captain Terry Nelson scored a 4-0 decision over Crookston's Dick Clapp in a 175-lb. encounter; and heavyweight Ellsworth Senum scored a 6-4 decision over the Pirates' Charles Lemke.

In the B squad preliminary matches, coach Dale Folger's Prowles, with Gary Hamway scoring a pin in the 103-lb. class and Dick Brown scoring a pin in the 133-lb. class, defeated the Crookston B's, 29 to 19.

The Prowlers will, in their next match, which is scheduled for the high school gymnasium on Friday, Feb. 7, be meeting one of Region Eight's top-ranked squads in the Park Rapids Panthers. The B squad preliminary matches will start at 6:30 P.M., with the varsity matches scheduled for 7:30 P.M.

The Prowler B's, trailing by a 33 to 24 score entering the final period, tallied 17 points in the fourth period to tie the score at the end of regulation time, 41 to 41.

SOUTHPAW Kenny Larson of the Prowlers scores on a drive-in shot in this first-half basketball action Friday between the Prowlers of Lincoln high school and Pirates of Crookston Central. Larson's 18 points included two free throws in the final seconds of the contest that gave the Prowlers a 57-53 lead to put the game on ice. The defensive effort is made above by Dave Peterson, a junior forward who scored 34 points against the Prowlers in a previous encounter.

SURROUNDED by Crookston Central Pirates in Friday night's cage action at Thief River Falls, Bob Olson of the Prowlers scores on a reverse lay-up for two of his 21-point total. Bill Reitmeier (53) attempts to block the shot. Waiting for the rebound which never came are Roger Parkin (15) and Steve Erie (11). A strong second half gave the Prowlers a 59-53 victory and ended Crookston's undefeated season hopes.

An Attraction

I'll wager that standing room will be at a premium in the Middle River high school gymnasium on Tuesday night, Feb. 4, when the Skippers are hosts to the Newfolden Nordics in an important Border conference basketball game.

In a game between the two squads, played last month on the Newfolden court, the Skippers, by a 65 to 63 score, defeated the Nordics. And this game required a couple of overtime periods before the Middle River club, scoring three field goals and a free throw in the second overtime period, edged out the two-point victory.

It will be a case of the fast-breaking Nordics' offense against the strong rebounding of the rugged Skippers. In the first game between the two squads, Middle River's Rick Holmes, with 30 points, gained the high-point honors; but the Nordics had a pair of players in double figures in Jerry Strandquist, with 23 points, and Ken Carlson with 14 points.

The outcome of the game could hinge on Rick Anderson's ability to clear the backboards for Middle River. Anderson, a powerful 185-pounder, with great speed and strength, is a rugged competitor and he will be a problem for the Nordics under the boards. Incidentally, it is reported that Anderson will enroll at North Dakota U next fall, and the blond Skipper could develop into quite a football player for Marv Helling's Sioux, and quite a 440 or 880-yard runner for coach Frank Zazula's Sioux track squad.

Is There a Law?

Say you are with a group of friends ice-fishing in Lake of the Woods. And let's say, due to some awkward manipulation of your lure, and the fact that you have baited the hook with two minnows, you catch a burbot, a lawyer, and a good-sized one.

Your fishing group is within a radius of fiteen or twenty feet, and this burbot, and remember he's a good-sized one, makes some wide-sweeping rushes in an effort to dislodge the hook. But, being an expert burbot fisherman, you have hooked the fish securely. The burbot succeeds in tangling the lines of your friends. Lines are snarled and tempers are frayed.

The result is that lines have to be cut, lures are lost, and friendships are in jeopardy. And what is the rule, or the ethics of sportsmanship? Shouldn't this burbot-fisherman provide his friends with new lines and new lures? That's the question that's being asked of Gene Gaer as a result of a recent icefishing trip to Lake of the Woods. In a "tug-of-war" contest, with each fisherman tugging at his line, it was no show, for Gene could outpull the others, either singly or as a group.

Like the Old Days

You will have to go back to Region Eight tournament play here in the early 1940's to match the enthusiasm and spirit and noise and tension that was "on stage" here Friday night when the unbeaten Crookston Pirates met the defending district champion Prowlers.

After thirty-two thrill and noise-packed minutes, coach Jack Junker's Prowlers, by a 59 to 53 score, defeated coach Al Droen's Crookston Central squad.

And the near-capacity crowd was primed for the varsity game by a thrilling two-overtime period game between the Crookston B's and the Prowler B's, Coach Bob Gaarder's Prowler B's, on Dave Gustafson's rebound tip-in shot, just as the buzzer sounded, won the game, 49 to 48. With just seconds remaining the Prowler B's had the ball in the Crookston zone, the east end of the court, and Carl Poppenhagen, from the right corner, lofted a long shot at the basket. The ball missed the basket, but Dave, in perfect position for the rebound, jumped up to meet the ball and made a tip-in shot, caroming the ball off the board and into the hoop.

The B game set the temp for the varsity tilt, and the two teams, while they didn't play high-class basketball, being guilty of too many turn-overs or ball-exchanges, did put on a spectator-type game. And the outcome was in doubt until the final nine seconds of play when Ken Larson dropped in a pair of free throws to give the locals a four-point bulge, Rick Jensen, with four seconds to play, added another two points on free throws and the Prowlers were in with their six-point win.

And did you notice the reserved seat section behind the Prowler bench? In order to keep and generate the interest of the elementary school basketball players, this section will, in all future home games of the Prowlers, be reserved for the city's grade school players. And this is an idea that has merit because ice hockey is making a strong bid for these grade-school athletes. There should be some means whereby the natural aptitude of a grade-school boy, whether for hockey or basketball, could be determined, but I guess that's an unsolvable problem.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

Prowler Sextet Wins 1, Loses 1

Coach George Schlieff's hockey Prowlers, with a season's overall record of 12 wins, 5 losses and one tie, and a Region Eight conference record of 11 wins, 1 loss, and one tie, will close out their 1963-64 schedule on Tuesday night by playing coach Myron Grafstrom's Warroad Warriors at Warroad. The Prowlers have clinched third place in the Region Eight standings, and a win over the Warriors would move the Prowlers into a second place tie with Warroad.

In the week's play, the Prowlers absorbed one loss, that of a 6 to 0 defeat by the Roseau Rams on Friday night, and marked up a win, that being a 3 to 2 victory over the Baudette Bears here on Saturday night.

In Friday night's tilt, coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams, with a fine exhibition of hockey, and serving notice that they will make a strong defense of their Region Eight title, bested the Prowlers, 6 to 0. It was only in the first period of play that the Prowlers were able to keep pace with the hard-skating Rams. Roger Falk and Bob Brandt notched Roseau goals in the opening period to give the Rams a 2 to 0 lead.

Roseau, with three tallies in the second period, with Bryan Grand scoring a pair and Jerry Klema adding a single pulled away to a 5 to 0 lead. Tom Billbergs unassisted goal in the third period closed out the game's scoring.

In a game played here on Saturday night, the Prowlers, on a goal by Don Mathieu with less than thirty seconds of play remaining, edged out the Baudette Bears, 3 to 2.

After a scoreless first period, Baudette, on a goal by John Amundson at the 7:46 mark of the second period, gained a 1 to 0 lead. And the Bears held that lead until the opening minutes of the third period when Dennis Sullivan, from five feet out, banged in a rebound after Jerry Forsberg had slapped a shot from the left point. And at the 5:47 mark, John Weigelt, on Elroy Froiland's rebound, sent the Prowlers into a 2 to 1 lead.

Amundson's second goal of the game, at the 9:31 mark of the third period, knotted the game at 2-all. Amundson, from just off to the left of the Prowler net, slapped a rebound into the north goal. And the game was in a tie until the final minute when Froiland and Mathieu combined to score the winner. Froiland carried the puck into the Baudette zone, flipped a pass to Mathieu, who eluded the defense, drove a shot at goalie Roger Koster, and when the Bears' netminder just partially stopped the shot, Mathieu followed in to poke the puck into the south net at the 11:30 mark.

In Prowler B squad play during the week, coach Jerry Westby's team defeated the Roseau B squad, 2 to 1, on Friday night; and then dropped a 2 to 1 decision to the Baudette B's here on Saturday night.

Medical Care to Take More of Family Money

Medical care will be taking an increasingly large share of the family budget in the years ahead, as American families buy more medical services and pay higher prices for them.

This prediction is based on the quantity of medical services families are now using and will be using, the quality of services they demand and changes in prices, as well as the proportion of total expenditures Americans have to allocate to medical care.

By 1960 the average family was spending for medical care almost double what it spent in 1950. Of this amount, about 27 cents out of each dollar went for hospital care and about 26 cents for physicians' services.

The big change in the way families lay out funds for medical care is in the proportion they prepay for health insurance, reports Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent. In 1961 three-fourths of the population had hospitalization insurance compared with 51 per cent in 1950, and almost all of those insured for hospitalization in 1961 had surgical coverage also.

That buying medical care by means of health insurance has had a smoothing out effect on family budgets is indicated by findings in a recent study by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Approximately two-thirds of patients discharge from short-stay hospitals in a two-year period 1958-1960—had some portion of the bill paid by insurance; about half had at least three-fourths of their bills paid by insurance.

Although strides have been made in better financial protection for accident and illness, not all segments of the population fare equally well. Men are more likely to benefit than women. Persons in the middle years (45-64) are the most likely to benefit.

Individuals over 65 and rural farm residents are the least likely to have some part of their medical expenses paid by insurance. But the greatest variation occurs by income class. Those needing the cushioning effect of insurance most, are getting it least. In the U. S. Department of Health survey, only 40 per cent of discharged persons with family incomes under $2,000 received some insurance payment on their hospital bill compared with 81 percent of the families with incomes of $7,000 or more.

Between 1950 and 1962 medical care prices rose 56 per cent, but per capita expenditures for medical care rose almost twice that much.

Greatest price increases have been in hospital rates and thus in hospital insurance. But price changes are not the whole explanation of the greater spending for medical care, Miss Offerdahl points out.

Other factors accounting for the increased spending for medical care are greater ability to pay for it, the need for more medical services on the part of the growing segment of the population over 65, improvements in diagnostic, surgical and treatment procedures and the more frequent use of doctors' services, on the part of family members.

Since high-grade medical care is part of a high level of living, American families can expect to spend an increasing per centage of the family dollar for such care.

Income Tax Manual for Businessmen Is Now Available

Can Be Obtained for 40c from Internal Revenue Offices in Minnesota

Any questions businessmen may have on preparing their federal income tax returns can be answered by the comprehensive and helpful booklet "Tax Guide for Small Business" according to George O. Lethert, district direcor of internal revenue in St. Paul.

The 144-page, 1964 edition of this "best seller" information publication is now available for 40 cents at internal revenue offices, Mr. Lethert stated.

The booklet answers most of the tax questions of the small businessman in plain, understandable language and deals with tax problems affecting sole proprietors, partners, partnerships and corporations. It explains concisely the federal tax consequences of buying a business, starting a business, operating a business, and selling or otherwise disposing of a business, and contains examples to illustrate the application of the tax laws discussed in detail in non-technical language.

The new rules on deducting and keeping records for business entertainment, travel and gift expenses are fully discussed, as well as other important subjects such as accounting periods and methods, inventories, depreciation and investment credit; social security and withholding taxes; and self-employment tax.

Mr. Lethert pointed out two features of the booklet, the "Tax Calendar for 1964" which tells the businessman on a day-to-day basis what he should do in regard to his federal taxes and when to do it in 1964, and the "Check List", which shows at a glance what taxes the businessman may be liable for and what he should know about them.

Peace Corps Tests Set Here Saturday

Aptitude Tests to Begin in Postoffice at 8:30 a.m.

The Peace Corps has announced that the next placement test, required of all applicants interested in serving overseas, will be administered Saturday, February 8 at 825 locations in principal cities throughout the United States, including Thief River Falls at the postoffice starting at 8:30 a. m.

About 1½ hours is required to complete the tests. Included are a 30-minute general aptitude test and a 30-minute modern language aptitude test. Prior knowledge of a foreign language is not required for Peace Corps service, officials said.

While most Peace Corps Volunteers are college graduates, a college education is not required if an applicant can offer a special skill or experience. Liberal arts college graduates with no special "skills" are often used as teachers and community development workers.

To take the Placement Test applicants must be American citizens at least 18 years of age. There is no upper age limit. Married couples may apply if they have no dependents under 18.

State Heart Assn. Welcomes Report on Cigaret Danger

The Minnesota Heart Association welcomes the report of Surgeon-General's advisory committee on smoking and health as an important contribution to public understanding of the health hazards associated with cigarette smoking.

Dr. Ralph E. Smith, Minnesota Heart association president, said that the report confirms the position taken by the American Heart association on June 8, 1963, when it called for active discouragement of cigarette smoking as harmful to health.

"The public," Dr. Smith continued, "should be aware that the data, accumulated thus far—and so comprehensively reviewed in the report . . . have a very important bearing on death and disability from diseases of the heart and blood vessels which represent the greatest health problem in the United States today."

Job Offices Seek Camp Counselors

Many Summer Openings Available in Minnesota

Even as St. Paul crowns its King Boreas, and the Winter Olympics gets underway at Innsbruck, others are already thinking of "the good 'ol summer time". The Minnesota state employment service this week opened its drive to help state camp directors recruit the hundreds of counselors and specialists needed to staff summer camps in the state.

Virgil Nobles, supervisor in charge of the project for the department of employment security, said that offices already have requests for over 600 camp positions. He urged college students with camping experience, campcraft skills, or even a strong interest in the out-of-doors, to apply immediately.

While a few key positions may not be filled until late spring, the great bulk of the approximately 1500 jobs expected will be selected in the next two months.

In addition to regular camp counselors, who are usually assigned a group of younger children to supervise, instructors are also needed to teach a variety of camp subjects: swimming, riding, sailing, nature study, arts and crafts, canoeing, music, riflery, athletics, and others. Persons with extensive camping background and administrative ability may qualify as program director, or even camp director, Nobles said.

TRF Girl Aids in Home Economics Day at Mankato

The 1964 home economics career day will be held on Saturday, February 8, at Mankato State college. Sponsored by the home economics department, the career day is intended to interest high school girls in choosing carreers in the area of home economics and to acquaint them, their teachers and counselors with the facilities at Mankato State.

Home economics students helping plan the day's various functions include Sally Snyder of Thief River Falls.

Water Over the Seaway

In December the St. Lawrence Seaway ended its fifth full season of operation—operating at a $3 million deficit and bringing the total deficit for the five years to about $11.5 million. Less than five per cent of all vessels paying tolls are carrying the U. S. flag.

Apparently the tolls are too low. Operating at a deficit which must be made up by the nation's taxpayers, it is in effect being subsidized to an extent not enjoyed by other forms of transportation. We would like to have the seaway stay in operation—and we would also like to see it operate on the merits of its own revenues.

That Time Again

Have you looked through the personal property tax list published in Thursday's edition of the Times? Comparison of taxes established offers some interesting reading.

No matter how you look at the situation, the personal property tax is as unfair, ineffective, expensive to operate and unequitable as any tax could be. Lest we be drawn again over the coals, we hasten to add that this is through no fault of local or area assessors, treasurers, auditors, clerks or other people. They are doing their jobs to the best of their abilities.

It is the tax itself which is the real villain. No being, short of the Almighty, has the capability of making a just assessment. It is not humanly possible. You can not arbitrarily place a value on an item and expect to have adjusted value for similar items on an equitable basis.

For some time there has been clamor for abolishment of the personal property tax and establishment of a replacement tax. From our standpoint, the sooner a realistic look is taken by the state legislature and official action is proposed, the better for the citizens of Minnesota.

Just a Suggestion

Is it possible to create a new source of tax revenue which could be done in fairness and without damage to the economy? One such possible source has been suggested—taxation of public electric power projects on a basis comparable to privately-owned companies with which they sometimes compete. It is estimated this would increase federal revenue by $135 million.

Appearing before the Senate finance committee, the president of the Edison Electrical Institute said, ". . . here is a place where the tax base can and should be broadened, removing unwarranted special privileges and providing more nearly equal treatment of taxpayers. We recommend as a base-broadening step that the federal corporation income tax be made applicable to federal government power agencies in the same manner as it is applicable to investor-owned companies."

There is an existing principle that government can not be taxed. This tax, however, would apply to socialized power systems which are purely commercial, and have no connection with the basic functions of government as such. It should apply to local cooperatives which are not governmental but are financed with federal loans through the Rural Electrification Administration.

Congress is faced with a most difficult fiscal problem. The proposal made by Edison Electric is an interesting suggestion.

About Heavy Feet

Multi-county library service on a trial basis has been offered by the Minnesota Department of Education to Pennington, Marshall, Roseau and Kittson counties. No local funds are involved for the trial period, but county commissioners in all four counties have been doing considerable foot-dragging.

When we elect our county officers, we expect them to look carefully at the ways in which county funds will be spent. We expect them to look to the future and to protect us against wasteful spending. Most commissioners are very considerate of the desires of the people they represent and are sincere in their efforts to give good representation. They should not rush headlong into something they do not understand.

This is why foot-dragging in relation to the multi-county library proposal seems a little ridiculous. At no cost to the counties, the program would provide opportunity for the commissioners to study and evaluate a program IN OPERATION to get a true picture of its value or lack of value. This is a unique opportunity for commissioners to find out if the program is feasible. Others have had to experiment with county funds.

Commissioners are apprehensive about what will happen when the trial period ends. If they are not satisfied with the public response, they wonder how the public will react to terminating the program. We wonder also if some of them are not afraid of being proved wrong in their evaluation of public reception of multi-county service.

We would like to see the offer accepted by the four county boards in the proposed region. It is a golden opportunity for first-hand evaluation. After the trial period we will be better able to weigh the costs against the benefits.

Wilderness Bill

Under consideration in the U. S. House of Representatives is a new wilderness bill which is supported by Western Oil and Gas association, American Petroleum institute and Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association. A spokesman for the groups has said the industry wants to see a reasonable wilderness bill adopted—flexible enough to permit meeting the growing need for petroleum products and still preserve and protect an adequate amount of public land as wilderness.

For some time the nation's park and recreation officials have noted the need for additional area as Americans find themselves with more leisure time. Maintaining certain areas as wilderness permits pressure-ridden citizens to get away from the hustle and bustle of frustrating crowds.

We also recognize the need for petroleum products in our modern world. On the surface the proposed bill, which would provide for review of potential resources of lands prior to their classification as wilderness, seems like a good one. We will reserve judgment, however, until we are further informed on its other provisions.

Right to Bear Arms

Legislation is now being considered to amend the Federal Firearms Act—an action resulting directly from the assassination of President Kennedy with a cheap rifle sold through a mail order dealer. Because of this infamous act, certain people are pressuring for legislation to further restrict firearm ownership.

From the Bill of Rights in the United States constitution, come these words: "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed."

Frank J. Shira, president of the National Police Officers Association of America, has said, "We feel that an American citizen of voting age and of good character should have the right to purchase without restriction a handgun, pistol, revolver, rifle, shotgun or a like item without interference by any government body."

Effectiveness of any restrictive legislation enacted is the real question. Registration of arms is no solution since a stolen firearm will not identify the user. A ban on sales will not prevent a person wanting a gun from getting a gun. How a gun is used depends on the user and not on the law.

We believe a four-word directive in the world's truly great law will have more effect than all the restrictive legislation which could be made by men. These simple words are: "Thou Shalt Not Kill". Sound familiar?

More About Sibley

In an open letter to editors of Minnesota newspapers, Richard A. Landkamer of Faribault has directed severe criticism at Mulford Q. Sibley, University of Minnesota professor. Sibley wrote the controversial letter printed in the St. Paul Pioneer Press which drew heated charges from Kenneth McDonald, Third District American Legion commander, and caused editorial comment throughout the state.

Sibley is faculty advisor to the Student Peace Union at the University of Minnesota. Last year's president of the SPU, Landkamer's letter states, was John Tillotson who lives with his grandmother, Rose Tillotson Renaud, in St. Paul. Mrs. Renaud is head of the Communist party in Minnesota.

Sibley was also among the key officers of the American Forum for Socialist Education, a Communist front organization. The Communist "Daily Worker" in 1957 noted the AFSE was organized to bring together all anti-American elements which would promote cooperation between Communists and non-Communist leftists in the United States.

The professor was also affiliated with the Fair Play for Cuba committee, serving as faculty advisor for this group at the university. Another member of this Communist front organization was one Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President J. F. Kennedy. Landkamer's letter asks, "How many potential Lee Harvey Oswalds graduate from Sibley's political science classes at the U of M?"

Sibley is apparently much more than a casual member of the above-mentioned groups. We don't believe that academic freedom should extend to the teaching of subversion in our public schools. We would like to see the board of regents reconsider its decision in retaining Sibley on the university faculty. The party will surely see to it that he isn't among the ranks of the unemployed.

Falcon proves it's America's toughest compact in the rugged Monte Carlo Rallye!

Four Falcons started from Oslo, four from Paris, on routes calculated to be equal in difficulty and length. Weather conditions varied from clear, bitter cold through freezing fog to blinding snow—and the time schedules made no provision for delays. Here a Falcon swirls through a sudden snow shower, testing traction in a practice run.

Falcon entered two classes in Europe's 2,700-mile winter ordeal—won them both and finished 2nd overall out of 299 cars. That's durability!

In the Rallye's five special Alpine sections, Falcon was first overall in four, tied for first in one. That's roadability!

In the Rallye's final test around the Monte Carlo racing course, Falcons were first and second. That's maneuverability!

MONTE CARLO—The 83rd Monte Carlo Rallye started with 299 cars. Some 2,700 miles and 3½ days later, only 163 were still in the rally when the field struggled into Monaco—but they included all eight of the specially equipped Falcons that originally started!

This eight-out-of-eight record was perhaps more remarkable than the fact that, despite a handicap formula that favored the smallest cars, a Falcon captured second place overall. One car can have luck . . . but eight have to have total performance. Because the Rallye samples every variety of weather and road conditions the continent can provide, and because it winds up on the most remote byways in the French Maritime Alps, it is a supreme test of all the car's abilities. Falcon steering had to be flawless on glare ice above a 1,000-foot drop. Those fabulous V-8's had to run like dynamos.

The final results in the Monte Carlo Rallye gave Falcon 2nd place overall, 1st in Class 8 of the Touring category, 1st and 2nd in Class 5 of the much tougher Grand Touring category, 1st and 2nd in the final three-lap test on the Monte Carlo circuit. The best finish by a Valiant was 88th overall. Falcon gained invaluable experience in how to build a car better, make it tougher, sharpen up its total performance. That's the real reason Ford is interested in open competition—and why Ford-built cars have got so much more to show drivers. Drive one and see; it won't have six lights, or a horn you can hear for four miles in stormy weather, or the other special rally equipment—but it'll sure surprise you!

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

4H Leaders Council Hears Of Winter Shows Event

Red River Valley Winter Shows was the main concern of the 4-H leaders council meeting Monday evening, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent. Livestock judging will be on Saturday, February 22, and the purebred dairy heifer sale is on the same day. This is an opportunity for 4-H members to purchase good animals.

February 2 is also the day for the radio speaking contest. David Torgerson, Steiner, and Kathy Breiland, Happy Acres, are the two contestants that will be participating in the district contest.

Dairy demonstrations for 4-H'ers will be on Wednesday, February 26. Demonstrators should be enrolled in dairy, food preparation or health. Dairy products should be a significant part of the demonstration. Helps for the demonstrators will be given by Miss Offerdahl on February 17.

For the agronomy project members, a grain and crop judging contest is being held on Monday, February 24.

Another important date for the 4-H members to remember is Saturday, March 7. This is the date for the favorite food show. Any 4-H member enrolled in any of the food units or home improvement and family living project will be able to take part. The 4-H'ers are to let the office know by February 21 if they are planning on participating.

Share-the-Fun Festival and one-act play contest were mentioned. The clubs were urged to select their numbers now and to begin their practicing.

Junior leaders were to head the evening with recreation. Kathy Svendsgaard was chairman of the group. Faye Stucy, Deer Park, compared the world to a tennis shoe as part of the evening program. Mary Lundin climaxed the evening with slides on the 1963 Dairy Day.

The leaders were urged to attend the driver refresher course scheduled for Wednesday, February 5.

A meeting is planned for Friday evening, February 7 at 7:30 p. m. in the meeting room of the court house in Thief River Falls to assist farmers and other interested persons with planning their farm programs. Minnesota State ASCS Farmer Fieldman Everett Schumacher will be there to explain the provisions of the diversion program, and Chairman Knutson suggests that farmers become fully familiar with advantages of the 1964 feed grain program before completing their crop plans.

Producers on farms which grew barley or corn in either 1959 or 1960, or in both years, will have the opportunity to sign up in the program during the period February 10 through March 27.

Price Support on Oats 54c in 1964

The price-support rate for 1964-crop oats in Marshall County will be 54 cents per bushel—the same as for 1963, Marcel Dahl, chairman of the county Agricultural ASCS committee, has announced. County rates are established on the basis of Grade No. 3 oats.

The various county rates are based on the 1964 national average support price of 65 cents per bushel for Grade No. 3 oats.

Premiums and discounts which are applied for grade and quality to determine individual producer support rates are unchanged from the 1963 program, except that a discount of 7 cents a bushel will be made for badly stained or materially weathered oats grading No. 4. The discount for Grade No. 4 oats on the factor of test weight only is 3 cents per bushel. The discount for garlicky oats is 3 cents per bushel. Premiums are 1 cent per bushel for grade No. 2 or better, 1 cent for heavy test weight, and 2 cents for extra heavy test weight.

The chairman said that price support will be carried out through farm-and warehouse-stored loans and purchases. Support will be available from harvest time through January 31, 1965.

Banker Workshop Set Here Feb. 11 by State Association

Executive officers from nearly all of Minnesota's 700 banks will gather in a series of 14 workshop sessions during February and March to discuss a wide range of banking topics with officials of the Minnesota Bankers Association.

Included on the agenda for meetings are state and federal legislation, competition, banking education, and discussion of bank operations and activities of the state association.

Minnesota Bankers association Executive Secretary Kenneth A. The state secretary indicated that "the Workshops are full-day meetings of the president or executive officer from every bank in each area. Wichterman Speaks

Junior College Is RLF Meeting Topic

Education beyond the high school level in this area is now possible without additional local property taxes, according to information presented by Ben Wichterman, Plummer, former legislator and now vice president of the state junior college board. Wichterman spoke Tuesday evening at the annual meeting of the Red Lake Falls Civic and Commerce association.

Wichterman described the values of a community college to upgrade the social and economic standards of an area that has lacked adequate opportunity for higher education.

"The operation of state junior colleges as authorized by an act of the last state legislature will be completely supported by state funds," he said. "No local funds will be used. Each person in the state presently supports each public college at every level by the taxes he now pays. He will continue to give this support regardless of where the college may be located.

"The legislature will make the final decision on the number of junior colleges and will indicate their approval or disapproval of sites by the funds they appropriate for support of the junior college Plan," he added, noting that the junior college board has the responsibility to make location recommendations in January of 1965.

"The junior college law recognized the need for greater educational opportunities in northwestern Minnesota," the former state representative said. "The law provides that the board must give consideration to a state junior college in northwestern Minnesota."

Also speaking at the meeting was Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls who stated that the University of Minnesota board of regents is proposing an advanced agricul-

All believers in Republican principles are invited to attend, he added.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

Attendance at the four county meeting pertaining to the establishment of a regional library shows the definite appeal such an organization has for the citizens. Representatives of the Library Division of the State Department of Education, Miss Emily Mayme and Miss Marlys Howe, appreciated the active interest.

Remember, it is important that your county commissioner know your wishes on the proposed area development plan. Contact him at your earliest opportunity...convince him, if he isn't already cnvinced, to the welfare of every individual in the area. Time is short, because if the grant funds are not accepted here, they will be used elsewhere, in the Southern portion of the state, and it is entirely possible, and not at all improbable, that the residents o fthis area will not be given such an opportunity again . . at least not in the foreseeable future.

While we await the outcome of last Wednesday night's meeting. . . let's read!

How about "The Wapshot Scandal" by John Cheever. It is said that this volume is a "joy to read" because of the author's skill with the jigsaw of words. Some writers write words. . . Author Cheever writes magic! His characterizations are so complete. No more "human" characters ever peered out at a reader from the confines of book covers. The actions, and the reactions, of the book-people could be yours, or mine, or the neighbor's. Fantastically real, realistically fantastic, which ever way you describe it . . . you'll find it in "The Wapshot Scandal".

If you've a little more than "reading time" on your hands, why not come in and check out the new "Ceramic Design" volume by Denny. There's also the new "Book of American Needleword" published by Woman's Day.

If you're a stay-at-home traveler try "African Creeks I Have Been Up" by Spencer. There are some good mystery stories, new ones, on the shelf, too.

The latest Stamp Collectors guide is in, so is the Coin Collectors guide. Ann Landers "Talks to Teens About Sex,, is also on the "new arrivals" list. And just in time for Spring—"Party and Banquet Book"

Erle Stanley Gardner has left the corpse behind in his "The Desert is Yours" and taken his readers on a trip through the quiet and peace of the wastelands. There are photographs as well as words to help you picture the beauty and the solitude, the tranquility and the enchantment of one of nature's last frontiers...many times explored, not yet conquered. This is Gardner at his best, and the side with which we haven't become to well acquainted.

For those historically minded there's "A History of Modern Germany, 1648-1840" . . this is the second of a three-volume work by Hajo Holborn. The maps are excellent and it will prove invaluable to the student and inviting to the layman. The clear, concise writing is easy to read and the contents interesting and informative.

There they are . . . some of the newest for the borrowers. There is one to interest you, no doubt! If these are out when you arrive, just leave your name! But, remember, there are other books on the shelf...all interesting, all informative...it is up to you to decide where your interests lie, on which subjects you want information . . . the books are here, the librarians are present to help you find them. See you soon...at the library!

Fargo-Moorhead Firm To Sell Milk Through Soft Drink Vendors

A bold new program of making milk available to those who like it by putting it in pop bottles and selling it through existing coin-operated vendors was revealed at Moorhead Wednesday. Dairy industry authorities say the program could result in sale and consumption of added millions of gallons of fluid milk.

The "new" product—fresh, Grade "A" milk in an eight-ounce soft drink sized bottle—will be introduced in about two weeks. It will be offered in both regular white and chocolate forms and will be presented in a bottle aptly labeled N R G (energy) and placed in vending machines throughout Fargo, N. D., and Moorhead.

Announcement of the new package, sales and distribution program was made jointly by Cass-Clay Creameries of Fargo-Moorhead, and N R G Corp., Minneapolis, through the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee.

Cass-Clay is the first franchised bottler of fluid milk under the N R G program. Manager Vernon Sjoquist of Cass-Clay said arrangements were being completed for a program of kickoff activities which are hoped will draw national attention to the new method of making milk available to the public. Prominent figures were being invited to kickoff ceremonies which will be held on a date to be announced soon.

The program is certain to be scrutinized by both producing and processing interests within the dairy industry because of the hope it holds for the movement of over-abundant milk supplies.

"Cass-Clay's board of directors and our entire organization have faith in the future of the dairy industry and strongly believe that a key to getting the public to consume more of our product is simply making it more available," Sjoquist said.

"We've asked for, and received, the support of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee and the American Dairy Association to get this program off the ground."

Sjoquist said final tests of plant equipment for packaging milk in the new N R G bottles "will be completed within a few days."

He said the public is assured of getting "the same wholesome milk they've enjoyed delivered to their doors or from grocery dairy cases for years." The veteran dairy plant operator said a strict system of quality control and service for the vending machines will guarantee the constant freshness of the N R G product.

"We're absolutely certain we've got something in this N R G program that has been needed by our entire dairy industry—and the consuming public, too—for a great number of years," Sjoquist said.

"We feel this is going to be a giant step in getting the dairy industry up-to-date in gaining its share of the beverage market."

Sjoquist indicated plans for N R G kickoff activities would be made as soon as arrangements are completed. He also indicated subsequent reports would be made on the progress of the N R G sales program.

Speaks to Officers at Greenbush on Tuesday

Speaking at a multi-county workshop for Farmers Union local and county officers in Greenbush Tuesday, Edwin Christianson, president of Minnesota Farmers Union and chairman of the executive committee of National Farmers Union, told the group the broad use of direct payment measures was the "great advance in farm programs since the 1930's."

Christianson said that the experience with direct payments in the 1963 feed grains and wheat programs should demonstrate the feasibility of using payments as well in the dairy and soybean support programs.

Survey Indicates Rise in Education Costs in Future

Public School Revenue in Upper Midwest New Well Above U.S. Average

Public school revenues from state and local sources in the Upper Midwest, as a percent of personal income, are well above the national average.

Projecting large increases in school enrollments—double at the college level by 1975—and an even sharper rise in educational expenditures, the authors of an Upper Midwest Economic Study (UMES) report released today conclude the money is well invested. They point out that:

Educational attainments in the labor force can give the region a major advantage over other sections of the country.

Education creates jobs and is a mainspring for growth in productivity and technological progress.

Educational levels within each occupation are steadily rising.

"The Upper Midwest has less illiteracy than any other region in the country and surpasses the national average in per cent of adults who have completed high school," the report comments.

"The educational attainments of the Upper Midwest urban adults are higher than the national average at all levels of education. The region's rural adults are above the national average, except at the college level. Slightly more than 1 per cent of the Upper Midwest population, age 14 and above, are estimated to be illiterate, compared to 2.4 per cent nationally."

Data collected on adults of the region showed that "the chances of making over $10,000 a year are at least three to four times better for college graduates than for high school graduates."

Public Opinion

Editor, the Times:

Rumors to the effect that our new school is to be called Kennedy School points out the abnormal hysteria and emotionalism that has struck the population of the United States since the assassination of President Kennedy. Glamorous and romantic names such as Idlewild and Canaveral have been scrapped during this hysterical search of the American people for emotional release.

All this for a man whose sole contribution to the highlights of history, is that he breached the Monroe Doctrine and permitted the Communists to secure a bastion on our western hemisphere.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

The Pennington County Extension service and the Chamber of Commerce are co-operating in finding out the housing situation in Thief River Falls. Could you please call the Chambeer of Commerce Office, 681-3720; or the Extension Office, 681-2116, if you would have rooms available or are renting out rooms or apartments at the present time?

Does your money perform frequent disappearing acts, leaving you with nothing to show for it? You may not even recall what you've spent it for, but you do not have to be a magician to figure out a solution.

In a national survey, teenagers from 39 states admitted that one of their biggest problems is needing to learn to save, budget and spend money wisely.

The secret to getting something worthwhile from your hard-earned dollars is planning: in other words, deciding what you really want from your money before it disappears in unexpected ways.

It is easy to put your money to work for you. First, simply record in a special notebook what you spend each day. Classify spending under clothing, food and snacks, grooming and cosmetics, transportation, recreation, and so on.

Total these up to see what you spend every week in each of these groups. You may be amazed to discover how fast the dimes and quarters spent for snacks or cosmetics add up. Totaling the figures for the month may surprise you even more. Money often slips away fastest when it's spent for a lot of little items.

Now it's time for some decisions. Setting up a weekly plan is usually best. First list your "needs." These are things that you must purchase each week. Determine your exact income, whether it is from a part-time job or allowance, and set aside enough to cover the "needs."

Look ahead to the big expenditures. Is the prom coming up? Do you want a new dress or suit for graduation or for that special date? What about the clothes you will be needing for college or for the summer job Be sure to think carefully about how much you would like to spend, and can afford for these items. Put money aside, and resolve not to touch it until you are ready for the big purchase.

Are there future dreams for which you would like to save a vacation, summer camp or college? By the way, a little saving will now be a great help for the December pocket book.

The rest of your money is free to be spent for "wants"—that is things you would like to have. Wise shopping will help you stretch your dollars, but you will still have to sacrifice some wants for others that are more important. Perhaps you have just enough money for a new sweater. This same money, however, might buy instead three record albums or 20 magazines or 30 hamburgers. One choice is not necessarily better than the others, but since you can't afford all, the choice must be made.

Always spend according to your plan. You may find that you've allotted too much for some things, and not enough for others. This will mean making some changes, but don't spend any more until you have set money aside for one item, your prom dress, for example, or you may never get it.

Keep accurate records of your spending and saving; watch your dollars. Do not let them disappear! You will soon find that YOU are able to have many more things to show for your money—things you have "really wanted."

Former Pastor in City Presides at Church Meeting

Rev. A. C. Seitz Heads Minnesota North Dist. At Duluth Convention

More than 400 delegates and visitors attended the first regular convention of the Minnesota North district of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod held January 27-30 in Duluth. St. John Lutheran church in this city and Redeemer Lutheran in Plummer are members of the district.

Rev. A. C. Seitz, former pastor of St. John Lutheran in this city and now full-time president of the district, presided at the meeting. Reports indicated that district membership had increased its support to world missions of the synod by 12 per cent in 1963 and that 19 congregations and 12 pastors of the National Evangelical Lutheran church were received into membership of the district.

Rev. Paul Biegner, pastor of St. John and Redeemer churches, serves as head of the district's mission department. He reported that four new mission fields would be opened and developed in the district in 1964 and that 10 out of 19 of the district's circuits were planning spiritual life missions in 1964 or early 1965.

The convention adopted a goal of $830,000 for world missions through the district and synod in 1964, approximately $19 per communing member. William Ulrich of Plummer and Rev. Biegner were local congregational representatives at the convention.

Minneapolis to Get Another Span

To Be Fifth New Bridge over Mississippi River

Bids on 10 trunk highway projects estimated to cost $600,000 will be received Feb. 21 at the Minnesota highway department central offices in St. Paul, the department announced. None of the projects is in this area.

The biggest project involves construction of three piers for the St. Anthony bridge, which will carry TH 35W over railway tracks, Bluff street, the Missisipi River and 2nd street, west of Cedar avenue in Minneapolis.

When work begins on this bridge, there will be five major bridges under construction in the Twin Cities metropolitan area, all spanning the Mississippi river: the Lafayette bridge carrying TH 56 and the Lexington avenue bridge carrying TH 35E, both in St. Paul; and in Minneapolis, the Dartmouth avenue bridge carrying TH 94 and the Washington avenue bridge carrying TH 12.

Plans for the immediate future call for letting a contract for one other major bridge in the area to carry TH 494 over the Minnesota river.

In the past few years, four major bridges have been completed in the metropolitan area: one carrying TH 35W over the Minnesota river at the south edge of Bloomington; the Wakota bridge carrying TH 494 over the Mississippi; a bridge at Brooklyn Center carrying TH 694 over the Mississippi; and one carrying TH 5 over the Mississippi at Fort Snelling.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

Why all this fuss about recognizing Communist China when as a matter of fact representatives of our government have been holding regular meetings with representatives of Communist China for nearly ten years. The fact that these meetings have received little publicity doesn't detract from their importance in international relations.

Coming up is a meeting between U. S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot and Peking's Wang Ping-Nan, and it will be the 119th regularly scheduled session in a series that began in 1955. During that period there have been at least two unscheduled "emergency" meetings.

The New York Times News Service reports these facts from Warsaw, Poland, where all of the meetings have been held, and, incidentally, the meetings have been held in a Polish government guest house, just across the street from the Soviet embassy building. Presumably the officials of all other nations have been aware of these regular sessions. Our own officials have managed well in keeping the information from the American people.

But now that we know that our government has recognized the government of Red China informally, if not formally, it is a little easier for us to understand why some of our allies who have approached this problem a little more honestly, and a little more realistically, have become a little impatient with us at times.

According to the report from Warsaw the talks were initiated primarily to deal with the issue of Americans held prisoner in Red China and Chinese whom Peking said had been detained in the U. S. against their will. The report states:

> "As time went on the scope was widened to deal with other critical questions. Informed sources have described the meetings as 'very valuable.' "

For the Chinese people, as for us, there probably has been no publicity relating to this partial recognition. The Chinese people, most of them, no doubt are sure that we are a gang of imperialists whose main objective is to destroy them and then conquer the world.

The secret meetings that are being held in Poland may be of some value but our real problem is to reach the people of China themselves and regain their confidence in our good will. The best way to accomplish that is to provide a measure of recognition that will permit us to travel throughout China and permit the Chinese to visit us in our country.

Bobby Baker, who became a multimillionaire in a hurry as Vice President Johnson's assistant in leading the majority group of the Senate, came by his wealth in some rather large chunks, the Senate committee investigation reveals. One patron who speeded him on his way to wealth was Clint Murchison, one of the wealthy Dallas, Texas, Murchisons.

An unsecured loan from a Murchison bank enabled Baker to buy a block of stock in a Wisconsin Corporation. A couple of stock splits, along with a favorable ruling by the Internal Revenue Service, converted this no-money-down investment into a $200,000 profit. Just what service Baker performed to justify such a "gift" has not been made clear, but it may be assumed that his services were appreciated.

This investigation, now well under way, should be continued until every angle of the sordid story has been carefully examined. Perhaps it would be helpful if the Federal Bureau of Investigation were invited to participate.

The New York Times is openly opposed to the selection of any candidate for the vice presidency because of his religion. This position was taken because of the movement under way in the Democratic party favoring a member of the Catholic faith as a running mate for President Lyndon Johnson. Says the Times:

> "The nominee for the Vice Presidency on both the Republican and the Democratic tickets should be selected solely because he is the best qualified person available to step into the Presidency, if fate should call him there. Considerations of religion or sex or race of family or place of residence should not enter into this choice. Ability to carry on the duties of the Presidency of the United States with distinction is the proper, and the only proper, criterion."

It is unfortunate that this suggestion that the candidate for Vice President must be a Catholic has had some official support, which means that the campaign waters will be muddied if a Catholic now is nominated. There was no organized opposition to candidate John Kennedy because of his religion. The question of his religion was accepted as entirely incidental. But if the voters are called upon to support a candidate because he belongs to a certain church, then we are headed for trouble.

Our blunders in Vietnam are finally getting a little of the critical publicity they should have been receiving for some time. An article by James Reston of the New York Times Service, states:

> "The first casualty in every war is truth, and the war in Vietnam has been no exception. Only now is the Pentagon confirming the gloomy newspaper reports it was denying last autumn, but its official statements are still so confusing that nobody can quite make out what the official view of the war actually is."

Referring to conflicting reports by Secretary of Defense McNamara, Reston wonders just what has been going on in the distant Southeast Asian country. He observes:

> "Gradually, the U. S. has got sucked deeper and deeper into the bog in South Vietnam. First we were training the Vietnamese, then flying them in combat, usually without any clear knowledge among the American people about what was going on.
> "President Johnson has said nothing about this, and neither has Secretary of State Rusk, but it would be nice to know if any new intervention is now being considered.
> "It may be that so many official statments on Vietnam have been so misleading in the past that observers here are seeing contradictions in McNamara's testimony that don't exist. But if the situation is "grave" and the secretary of defence can talk openly about even the possibility of "taking all necessary measures within our capability," then the time has come for a much wider inquiry into the government's intentions."

This situation deserves more attention by Congress than it has received, with the possibility that our defense department is in need of a thorough overhauling. It is well to keep in mind the advice of former President Eisenhower to the effect that one of the most serious threats to peace could be a military machine controlled by a combination of militarists and industrialists.

Discussing the overall problem, the Winnipeg Tribune comes up with the following interesting observations:

> "United States policy is caught in a situation where all that can be done is to throw good money and precious lives after bad money and senseless slaughter. It is not necessary to go into all the ramifications of this to know that it has tragically failed.
> "There is no way—short of an all-out war with maximum U. S. military participation—by which this situation can be remedied from the outside. It is a job which the Vietnamese people must do for themselves. Charles de Gaulle's views are eminently sensible. They are founded on bitter experience, for the French tried and failed to do what the United States willy-nilly has become committed to."

With these observations, no doubt reflecting the Canadian point of view, I am in complete accord.

The Senate Education committee decision to investigate some of our University of Minnesota activities is long overdue. A thorough investigation of all of the state's costly education activities would be in order at this time, but the University itself is the main offender in this field, and its activities should be thoroughly checked.

The taxpayers of the state are not getting good value for the huge contribution they make each year to support this institution. In terms of enrollment the University is one of the largest schools in the nation and those who have a cash-register interest in its operations are more interested in its further expansion. What the University needs is less size and a higher standard of instruction. And the Legislature should find a way to give more direction to the spending of the funds appropriated to the University. The state loses all control over the money appropriated to the University once the appropriation has been approved.

It looks like baby brother Eddy is going to make good his promise to the people of Massachusetts that he would get a bigger grad of the federal pie for his home state if he were elected Senator. Space administrator James E. Webb told Congress that the Boston area is the best location for the $60 million electronics research center that will speed up the nation's extravagant space program.

MAIN STREET, U.S.A.

BY BERT MILLS

Washington Editor of "National Publisher"

Washington, D. C.—Every day of the year, more than 1,000 young men in every corner of the nation receive a "greeting" from the President of the United States—an order to report for induction into military service.

Actually only about 275 out of 1,000 will be drafted. Some of the rest will be deferred on physical, mental or moral grounds. The others will enlist in hopes of getting a better deal.

This nation has not been at war for more than 18 years and yet it is still considered necessary to force our best young men to fulfill a military obligation.

The present law dates back to 1940, 15 months before the Pearl Harbor attack put the U. S. in World War II. There was one lapse, lasting 15 months, when the law was allowed to expire. That was in 1947-48.

Only last spring the Universal Military Training and Service Act was renewed for another four years. Congress took only the quickest look at the Pentagon request before granting the extension. There were only three dissenting votes in the House, while the Senate spent only ten minutes in debating the issue before shouting through the bill on a voice vote.

Senate Investigation Asked

Now questions are beginning to be raised about UMT. A group of senators, headed by Republican Kenneth B. Keating of New York, have introduced legislation for a "definitive investigation" of the whole conscription system.

Unquestionably the present program is unfair. Despite the ideal of universal service, only about 58 per cent of men reaching the exemption age of 26 ever serve. The shocking percentage of rejections is such a disgrace that our national reputation is affected adversely.

In some communities, it has been a long time since anybody has been drafted. In others, every able-bodied single man is in uniform by his 23rd birthday. If the local enlistment rate is high, area quotas can be filled without conscription.

While Selective Service headquarters in Washington sets policies applying nationally, local boards interpret these rules in different ways. Some men are called up in one community who would be deferred if they were registered someplace else.

Standards are raised and lowered as the need for soldiers rises and falls. Economic conditions also affect draft calls, for enlistments are higher when jobs are scarce.

Population statistics are also a factor. A baby boom 18 years ago means a larger pool of draft registrants today. Population growth swells the pool of prospective servicement by one-third every six or seven years.

The result is the draft keeps on becoming less universal all the time. The military keeps raising its standards and rejecting more material. This is justified by the ever-increasing complexity of modern warfare and the need for brighter men to train.

Is a Peacetime Draft Necessary?

One of the questions that would be answered by the full-scale investigation Senator Keating is seeking is this: Is it really necessary for a democratic nation to force its young men to bear arms in peacetime?

The Department of Defense says "yes". Our military strength has been set at 2.7 million men for some time. With a high turnover rate in all services, Pentagon officials insist that there is no alternative to forced servitude.

About 550,000 men quit the armed services every year—and at least 80 per cent of them volunteered in the first place. They must be replaced in some way. Despite the tremendous cost of trading a trained man for a raw recruit, our military leaders insist the draft is the only way to keep our strength up to snuff.

Critics of UMT say that military power is waisted in performing non-military chores. No more than one soldier in five is ever in combat. The rest are engaged in housekeeping tasks, many of which could be done by civilians. Why must the General's chauffeur be a Private?

Social Problems Created

As the nation's draftees surrender their "civies" for uniforms, they have one thought in common—that old GI refrain, "Is this trip necessary?" The average draftee is as patriotic as the next American, but when he sees four out of ten escape the draft, he wonders why he must upset his life by serving in the military.

President Kennedy's 1963 order exempting all husbands from the draft was fine for those who choose to be married before 23. But the unwed cannot help but feel they are being discriminated against.

Student and essential industry deferments are another gripe of draftees. Those with enough brains and money can easily extend their education until their 26th birthday, thus earning a permanent deferment along with one or more advanced degrees.

Consider the situation of the 22-year-old college senior, and English major. He does not plan post-graduate education or early marraige. If healthy, he is draft bait. His roommate is a candidate for an engineering degree. He will go straight from the campus to a well-paying job in a defense plant, with draft deferment assured.

Of these two men, the engineering student has more to offer to the Army than the English major. Yet the one with a technical background is excused while the poorer prospect gets a "greeting" from the White House.

Aside from the personal gripes, the engineer might well make a career of the Army. The Arts grad will do his time and get out of uniform as fast as the law allows. It is these anomalies that are raising questions about our draft system.

River Canoe Trail Set in Wadena Co.

Seventy-mile Route Has No Portages or Dams

A 70 mile canoe trail with 8 developed camp sites has been established along the Crow Wing River in Wadena county, it was announced today.

The Minnesota conservation department's information bureau said they learned of the new development from Don Benrud, soil conservation service representative in Wadena. Benrud said SCS supervisors hit on the idea after attending a Land and People conference held at Duluth last September.

Beginning point of the canoe trail is Blueberry lake, which can be reached on county road 21 from Menahga. Camping facilities are free with drinking water and toilets found at each campground. Some even have telephones. There are no dams or portages and rapids may be navigated in safety, according to a brochure.

For those who don't have their own canoe or other equipment, outfitters may be found at Menahga, Nimrod and Staples.

End of the established canoe route is McGivern park, however voyageurs may end their trip at any one of several places along the route or even continue on to the junction of the Crow Wing and Mississippi rivers at Crow Wing state park south of Brainerd.

The brochure showing a map of the route, campgrounds and other information may be obtained by writing: Crow Wing Canoe Trail Box 210C, Sebeka, Minnesota.

The roof of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City is covered with Monel nickel-copper alloy to insure that the Museum's priceless art collection is not damaged by water leakage.

State Parks Note 75th Anniversary

The year 1964 marks the 75th anniversary of the Minnesota state park system, the Conservation Department observed today.

In 1889 the legislature disignated Camp Release near Montivideo as the first state park.

It was at Camp Release that the Sioux returned the prisoners taken by them during the tragic Indian uprising which swept through the Minnesota river valley in 1862 and claimed the lives of 450 white settlers.

Today, counting new state parks authorized under the 1963 Natural Resources Act, Minnesota's state park system includes 84 parks and waysides with 60 major parks of over 200 acres in size. Last year, Minnesota state parks were visited by an estimated 3,743,000 persons.

CURLING NEWS

by Jon Larson

We're happy to note that the men's membership has exceeded the 100 mark. The curling club is a dues paying member of the U.S.M.C.A. which entitles it to participate in state and national competition. All those interested in competing at the local level in the state playoffs, which will be held in Duluth, Feb. 14, 15 and 16, should list their names on the club bulletin board as soon as possible. This is most important as the deadline is Feb. 6. This club has been represented at state the past three years. We hope our representation will continue.

This past week in league play we found the Ardell Liden rink against the rink of his brother Don. The game was very close through six ends of play, however the seventh end proved to be disastrous for brother Don. Ardell, throwing last stones, scored four which was enough to give him the win.

We note that the Skippy Knutson rink, dubbed the "Untouchables," is bearing out its reputation by posting winning records on both of its league nights.

Charlie Smith, who was on the injured list last year, came back this year in top form by posting a decisive 15 to 1 victory last Wednesday evening.

In high school league curling we find the Spencer Oen rink leading the league after two rounds of play. The Tom Ekeren rink defeated the highly favored Don Erlandson rink by posting a 10 to 5 win. This evened their records at 11. They're now tied for third with several other rinks.

The Sunday afternoon 4H league is underway, with six rinks competing. The rink to beat in that league is skipped by Peder Furuseth. Any 4H'er interested in playing in this league should contact Harold Halvorson.

The States Dominion Bonspiel slated for Feb. 14, 15 and 16 will be a greater attraction than ever this year because of the fine competition entered. There will be three named events: First event, L. B. Hartz Wholesale; Second event, Bridgeman's; and the third event, Border Drug. Ten rinks will be entered from our club and all those interested were to list their rinks on the bulletin board by Feb. 5.

"Informing - Persuading Convincing ADVERTIZING"

A small town merchant of a generation ago is said to have used a single advertising medium and message during his 40 years in business: a two-column advertisement in the local weekly newspaper stating simply, "John Jones Sells Salt."

Even today many would say that John Jones was accomplishing what advertising is supposed to do: "Keep your name before the public."

But the thousands and thousands of firms that are now spending an estimated $12½ billion yearly in advertising would quickly point out that "keeping their names before the public" is a very small part of what they expect advertising to do for them.

Their view of advertising's role is quite different from that of the normal householder on the receiving end of seemingy limitless advertising messages.

The fact is that, regardless of our likes or dislikes about particular advertisments, most of us are dependent on advertising for a lot of information in our daily lives. And, whether consciously or unconsciously aware of its impact, advertising has the power to influence many of our decisions.

To millions of women advertising is news, more important than the news under a Washington or Moscow dateline—bargains at the supermarket, a new style in women's shoes, what's playing at the neighborhood theater tonight.

To millions of men it's news of a sale on golf clubs, a new improvement in razor blades, the latest model in sports cars, or where to get tickets for the hockey game. It's news — and in fact most news media today could not exist without advertising.

But still all too many people have a vague notion about advertising exerting some strange hypnotic influence on the public, a sort of huge vacuum cleaner that sucks the money right out of the pockets of unwilling customers. Some advertisers might wish it were that simple!

In contrast to the public's view of advertising as a glamorous adjunct to business and the entertainment world, the modern business man sees it as a way to reduce the cost of selling. And advertising's bill for its services still amounts to only two percent of the gross national product.

It's a valuable member of the whole marketing team . . . salesman, package design, market research, merchandising, sales promotion, publicity, point-of-purchase display, and the ever-present element, price . . .

Advertising's job is never done. The man who is sold on a firm's products today may be gone tomorrow. A McGraw-Hill survey reveals that each year, out of 1,000 subscribers to their business publications, about half stayed on their jobs. Of the rest 56 changed titles, 141 transferred to a different location, 304 were replaced as a result of resignation, death, or for other reasons. So it is necessary to continually present the advertising message.

Even the Soviet Union has belatedly discovered the economic importance of advertising. After many years of sad experiences with unbranded goods they have now begun using brand names and advertising to stimulate quality control, on the theory that consumers will choose those products that give the best service.

Professor Neil H. Borden of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration says in his classic book "Economic Effects of Advertising in Our Economy:"

"Since advertising has in large part been associated with the promotion of new and differentiated merchandise, a substantial part of advertising costs should be looked upon economically as growth costs . . . So long as an individual enterprise flourishes and a dynamic economy continues, advertising and aggressive selling will play a significant social role."

ELEMENTARY hockey is part of the winter sports program in Thief River Falls. In the top photo, Tony Dorn is shown giving instructions on how to play position on the ice. In the bottom photo, Monty Markstrom watches a scramble for the elusive puck. While the youngsters may be the stars of tomorrow, it has happened that the puck has been lying free in front of the net while offensive players were having enough trouble just to stand up, much less attempting to score. Teams play on local league basis with adult instruction.

CARRYING much of the pressure for the Goodridge Huskies basketball team this season is center Lon Szymanski, a 6' 8" junior. Only 16 years old, Szymanski is averaging 23 points per game and hit his season's high total with 47 points against Oslo. Goodridge is currently tied with Fisher for first place in the Polar conference, and carries a record of 11 wins and two losses for the season.

The Rams are Favored

The 20th annual Region Eight high school hockey tournament will begin this week, with sub-regional competition being slated for the Warroad arena on Saturday and Monday. The Region Eight tournament proper, will be held at Roseau on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 13 and 14.

And as has been the case during most of these tournaments, and especially so the past ten years, coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams are the odd-on favorites.

A resume of the championship finals scores, since 1945, reads like this: 1945, Thief River Falls, 3, Roseau, 1; 1946, Roseau, 6, Thief River Falls, 4; 1947, Roseau, 5, Warroad, 2; 1948, Warroad, 3, Roseau, 2; 1949, Warroad, 3, Williams, 2; 1950, Williams, 3, Thief River Falls, 2; 1951, Thief River Falls, 5, Williams, 4; 1952, Thief River Falls, 6, Warroad, 2; 1953, Roseau, 3, Warroad, 1; 1954; Thief River Falls, 3, Warroad, 0; 1955, Roseau, 2, Thief River Falls, 1; 1956, Thief River Falls, 4, Roseau, 2; 1957, Roseau, 5, Hallock, 0; 1958, Roseau, 3, Baudette, 1; 1959, Roseau, 5, Thief River Falls, 1; 1960, Thief River Falls, 4, Warroad, 1; 1961, Roseau, 4, Hallock, 0; 1962, Roseau, 4, Warroad, 0; 1963, Roseau, 2, Warroad, 0.

In the nineteen previous Region Eight tournaments, the Roseau Rams have been winners in nine. And in this cluster of nine Region Eight hockey titles, seven have been won in the last ten years.

And judging by the play of the Roseau Rams the past week, coach Almquist's squad will move into next week's regional play as a top-heavy favorite. Almquist has the knack of bringing a team along in such fashion that the squad is playing its best hockey at tournament time. And that's a gift, or talent, that is priceless.

And the Prowlers, well, the boys will have to make it the hard way, coming up through the sub-regional rounds, and then on and through the Region Eight. And don't forget that one of the games of which the Prowlers can rightly be proud this season was the 1 to 0 win over the Roseau Rams. Let's hope that next Friday's Region Eight finals will find the Prowlers meeting the Rams.

The Three Tigers

The Moorhead State college wrestling squads, the varsity and the frosh, have three "Tigers" on their rosters. Referring, of course, to the Gonshorowski brothers of Greenbush, who are attending Moorhead State. The three brothers—Raphael, Mike and Lawrence—were top-flight Region Eight wrestlers while competing for the Greenbush Tigers.

Raphael is one coach Bill Garland's varsity stars, and he is unbeaten to date. Brothers Larry and Mike are wrestling, with Larry wrestling at the 137-lb. class, and Mike wrestling at the 147-pound class.

Moorhead State college wrestlers turned in a minor upset this past week when, in a match held at Moorhead, the Dragons defeated the highly-touted Mankato State college wrestlers.

He's a Tiger, Too

And while it is a fact that Raphael Gonshorowski, the former Greenbush Tigers, continues to perform like a "tiger" with the Moorhead College squad, local fans can view a Powler "tiger" on Friday when they watch Joe Taylor in action against the Park Rapids Panthers.

Taylor, a junior, will undoubtedly be rated as one of the Prowler all-time greats in wrestling. And he is entering the Park Rapids match on Friday undefeated and untied, and except for the points that were scored by Bemidji's John Broullard a couple of weeks ago, Joe gave up his first dual match points. Joe, wrestling in the 175-pound class, pinned the Bemidji grappler.

Warroad Blanks Prowler Six 2-0

The Warroad Warriors riveted the Prowlers into third place in the Region Eight hockey conference standings on Tuesday night by scoring a 2 to 0 win over the Prowlers in a game played on the Warroad rink. The Roseau Rams, by defeating the Baudette Bears on Tuesday night, and the Warriors are tied for first place in the regional standings, and a coin-flip will decide the number one and number two teams for the regional tournament. Roseau and Warroad gain byes into the four-team Region Eight tourney at Roseau. The Prowlers, as the number three team, will meet the Region's number ten team, either Red Lake Falls or Bemidji, in a sub-regional game at Warroad on Saturday evening at 7:00 p. m.

In Tuesday night's schedule-ending game, the Prowlers played a creditable brand of hockey, but some expert goal-tending by the Warriors' Duane Foster, and some fortunate bounces of puck provided the Warriors with their 2 to 0 win. the Warriors with their 2 to 0 win.

After a scoreless first period, during which the Warroad team held an advantage in the shots-on-goal, with Dave Erickson kicking out ten Warroad tries, while Foster was tested on four shots, Warroad broke into the scoring column at the 4:10 mark of the second period. Allan Johnston, from the right sideboards, whipped a hard shot that went behind the Prowler net, but the puck hit the end boards, bounced over the net and caromed off goalie Erickson and into the cost net for a goal.

The Prowlers, a short while later, had a golden opportunity to score when Don Mathieu broke in on goalie Foster, but the Warroad netminder made the right guess and blocked the shot.

The Warriors added their "insurance" goal at the 5:31 mark of the third period when Vern Hodgson, digging the puck out of the corner in the Prowler zone, eluding a couple of Prowler defenders, and beat Erickson with a backhand shot from ten feet out.

Lists Deductions on Income Tax Returns for Interest, Taxes

(This is the third in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Deductions are allowed on both the Federal and the Minnesota income tax returns for the amount of interest and for certain taxes paid during the year. Real estate taxes and the interest payment on mortgages are often substantial and often constitute the two largest single deductions of a home-owner purchasing his property with a mortgage, but these deductions are not limited to these items nor available only to home owners.

The general real estate taxes are a deduction from both the Federal and the Minnesota income tax, but the annual installments payable with the general real estate tax for special assessments are not a deductible item. However, the portion of the special assessment payment representing interest on the unpaid balance of the assessment would be deductible as interest.

Not all taxes are deductible on both the Federal and the state returns. As a general proposition, Federal taxes paid are not a deduction for the Federal return and many state taxes cannot be deducted on the state income tax return. The amount of income taxes actually paid to or withheld by the Federal government, reduced by the amount of any refunds received, can be deducted from the Minnesota income tax, and any such amounts paid or withheld for the Minnesota income tax during the year may be deducted from the Federal return. The amount of Social Security or self-employment taxes paid to the Federal government are not deductible for the Minnesota income tax purposes.

Automobile drivers are entitled to deduct the amount of gasoline taxes paid whether or not their car is used in their business. Subsequent to July 1, 1963, the Minnesota gasoline tax was six cents per gallon and before that date the tax was five cents. In addition to the gasoline tax, automobile owners may deduct the amount paid for Minnesota automobile licenses during the year.

Other Federal and state taxes may be deducted although many of the excise taxes are not deductible on the Federal return, the Minnesota return, or either of them. Deductions for taxes paid, but not mentioned in this article, should be checked in the instruction booklet before being claimed on the return.

With a few exceptions, interest on personal debts is a deduction on both the Federal and state income tax return. Computing this deduction is no problem if the interest on an obligation is separately stated. However, on many installment purchase contracts a carrying charge is imposed and the interest portion of the payments is not separately stated. In this instance, you may deduct as interest an amount equal to 6 per cent of the average monthly unpaid balance on the installment contract during the year. This may be determined by adding the remaining unpaid balance at the end of each month, dividing by 12 and multiplying the result by 6 per cent. Interest which is paid on an obligation incurred in order to purchase tax exempt income producing property, such as municipal bonds, is not deductible. Likewise, interest paid on an obligation to purchase a single premium life insurance policy or annuity is not deductible.

The Minnesota deduction for interest is similar to that allowed on the Federal income tax return.

Traffic Volume on Rural Routes Listed by State

Only 220 Miles Carry Average of More Than 5,000 Vehicles Per Day

Urban highways are overcrowded, as is obvious to every motorist, but what about travel on the rural trunk highways, which make up almost 90 per cent of the 11,904-mile system of trunk highways in Minnesota?

Just how much traffic do our rural trunk highways carry daily on an annual basis, as compared to some of the 1,700 miles of urban roads that carry between 20,000-30,000 vehicles daily? The Minnesota highway department has come up with some interesting figures on the subject.

There are 10,184, miles of rural trunk highways in Minnesota, but only 220 miles, or about two per cent, carry an average of more than 5,000 vehicles daily the year around, according to traffic counts taken by the department.

Volumes on these 220 miles range from 5,000 to about 12,000 vehicles daily. TH 10 northwest of Anoka, for example, had an average daily traffic count in 1963 of 12,503 vehicles; TH 12 east of St. Paul had an average daily traffic volume of 10,070 vehicles the year around; and TH 169 northwest of Chaska had a count of 8,066 vehicles daily.

Other segements of heavily travelled rural trunk highways, with traffic counts just above 5,000 vehicles daily, are TH 169 southwest of Jordan, TH 52 north of Rochester, and TH 10 east of Moorhead.

These routes, however, are on the main lines of travel and are not truly typical rural highways.

More typical of the rural highways are the 4,900 miles that carry an average of between 1,000 and 5,000 vehicles daily on an annual basis. In this category are TH 60 southwest of St. James, TH 212 west of Sacred Heart, TH 16 east of Alden, TH 14 west of Rochester and many others.

Some 2,856 miles of rural highways carry between 500 and 1,000 vehicles daily, such at TH 75 south of Warren.

U of M Holstein Has Record of 769 Pounds Fat

B D I Mesalgove' Alma 4574893, a four-year-old registered Holstein cow owned by University of Minnesota at Crookston, produced 21,580 lbs. of milk, 769 lbs. of butterfat and 1,899 lbs. solids-not-fat in 305 days.

Solids-not-fat (SNF), the nutrients in milk below the creamline, are now being recorded for the first time in addition to milk and butterfat as a part of the Total Nutrient Testing (TN) program—launched last year by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

In announcing the new record, a spokesman for the national Holstein organization said that it compared to the average cow's annual output of 7,211 lbs. milk containing 270 lbs. butterfat. The "TNT" program is too new for a national SNF average to be established.

Home Inventory Has Value for Families

Families would do well to follow the practice of business and take a household inventory once a year.

The beginning of a new year is a good time to take stock of your belongings, to sit down and figure out what furnishings, clothing and other items in your house are worth, says Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent.

An inventory serves a number of purposes. A list of belongings is convenient when buying insurance or in placing a value on goods destroyed or damaged; in planning replacements and allocating income; in estimating new worth and in making a will.

Take the inventory room by room but don't try to do it all at once. Ask other family members to help, Miss Offerdahl advises. The children, for example, can take an inventory for their rooms.

Put the listings for each room on separate sheets of paper. Use these other headings at the top of each page: item, how many, original cost, year bought and present value.

In estimating value, consider cost and years of service. You may want to make your own estimate of depreciation, remembering that articles depreciate quickly once they are used and that depreciation is greatest the first year. Or establish depreciation by figuring the service-life of each item and divide the cost evenly through the years of service-life expectancy.

For example, studies show that the service-life expectancy of electric washing machines is nine years; electric clothes dryers, 14 years, electric refrigerators, freezer, gas and electric ranges and tank-type vacuum cleaners, 15 years; upright vacum cleaners 18 years. However, any piece of equipment will last longer if given good care or if it is used very little. Making an inventory for the first time takes considerable time and patience. But once it is made, it's an easy matter to make changes and bring it up-to-date each year. Put a copy in your safety deposit box and keep one at home so you can easily make whatever changes are necessary from time to time.

Job Success Held Related to Health

Educators and Lawyers Live Longest, Say Medics

What do you do for a living? The answer you give may have a bearing on the length of your life as well as on your physical and mental health, says the Minnesota State Medical Association.

If you are an educator or lawyer, you will tend to live a long life, studies have found. Following order are scientists and engineers, philosophers and theologians, doctors, artists and musicians, writers and actors. Explorers and poets average the shortest life spans.

Of course, there are numerous exceptions to these findings, but research is uncovering more about you and your work every day.

You are likely to live longer if you are successful in your profession. One explanation is that morale plays an important role in longevity, and those who achieve the most tend to have higher morale than the less successful.

In spite of what is commonly thought, those who climb high on the ladder of success are not likely to crack under the strain of the greater pressure. In fact, studies have shown that as men advance to positions of increasing responsibility, their mental and emotional stability increases, as does their ability to withstand strain. Persons who achieve—the greatest success in their occupations tend to have better balanced personalities and fewer nervous breakdowns than men who do not rise in their work.

Editorials . . .

"Recently, in my opinion, there has been too much talk about the Common Man. It has been dinned into us that this is the Century of the Common Man. The idea seems to be that the Common Man has come into his own at last. But I have never been able to find out who this is. In fact, most Americans will get mad and fight if you try calling them common. . I have never met a father and mother who did not want their children to grow up to be just common men and women. May it always be so. For the future of America rests not in mediocrity, but in the constant renewal of leadership in every phase of our national life."

—Herbert Hoover

Buckle Up and Live

Non-smokers who are critical of smokers for not heeding advice set forth in the recent government report on smoking and cancer, should perhaps take a little more critical look at themselves. Most of these people drive automobiles — mechanical vehicles which also claim far too many lives each year.

Research and investigation has shown that occupants of cars not wearing seat belts are 2½ times more likely to be injured or killed than those using the belts. A person thrown from a car is eight times more likely to be injured or killed than one who uses a seat belt.

If all car riders in Minnesota alone would use seat belts, estimates are that more than 100 lives could be saved in 1964 and some 7,000 people would be less seriously injured or not injured at all. It is just as important to use seat belts on short trips around town as on the highways because of the high percentage of accidents in urban areas.

As the National Safety Council says: "If you don't have seat belts, get them. If you have seat belts, use them."

We'll Have to Wait

Wasn't it a shame that $28 million invested in research, material, training and technology creashed on the moon without fulfilling its purpose? Television cameras, considered to be the most simple mechanisms on the 804-pound space craft, failed to operate and provide pictures of the moon's surface from close range.

Though discouraged by the near success which proved fruitless, space scientists are not about to give up their efforts. Ranger 7, the next flight after six failures which have cost $168 million, will probably be ready for firing in about a month. Maybe the number seven will prove lucky—both for the scientists and the taxpayers.

We may be quite certain that our failures are watched with great interest by scientists in the Soviet Union—men who are also dedicated to landing a man on the moon. And we may also be sure that moon shots have been made by the Russians and also ended in failure. The Russians have a habit of not talking about their unsuccessful ventures.

This much can be said about the space flight directed at the moon—it at least hit its target. The first five flights also failed in that category. This is in some small manner, we suppose, a sign of improvement. Our space scientists are learning—but the cost of education is high.

A New Idea

Dairy farmers in Minnesota and across the nation could well benefit by an idea advanced in the January 15 issue of the Dairy Record, a nationally circulated news weekly of the dairy industry. The editorial suggested the sale of milk in filling stations where carbonated beverages are normally sold. In part, the editorial said:

> 'The gasoline stations provide a tremendously large market for the sale of carbonated drinks and the bottlers must be given credit for having realized the huge potential of the market. Have those in the milk industry given thought to the huge volume of milk that could be sold through gas stations if it were available?
> "Some dealers in the past have made some half-hearted attempts to sell milk at filling stations by installing their own vending machines. This plan was doomed to failure at the outset because the station operator did not wish to have two vending machines. There was not enough room and he did not wish to be bothered by having to give his attention to two vendors."

In attempting to have milk distributors try the sale of milk in service stations, it was suggested that distributors make arrangements with companies which install other vending machines to handle milk also. The vendor company could make a profit, the traveler would be given a choice of beverage and the dairy industry would benefit by increased sales. It would be good to see Minnesota take the lead in this effort which would be promotional as well as beneficial to all concerned.

"Of course, many milk distributors will offer a dozen reasons why they can not sell milk through this outlet," the editorial continued. "That, unfortunately, is one of the big troubles with the milk business; there is too much negative thinking and too little on the positive side."

Junior College Hopes

Apparently generated by local discussion throughout the area, interest in junior college facilities for northwestern Minnesota is at a high ebb in the Thief River Falls community. It is good that the people are expressing their opinions and recognizing the need for higher education facilities here.

Many people, however, are not informed on what the current status of junior college plans is in Minnesota. A number of them are confused because of previous programs which were quite different. We will attempt to remove some of this confusion to give a clearer picture of what is being done.

Minnesota legislative action provided for establishment of a state junior college board to be appointed by Gov. Karl Rolvaag. This five-member board has been appointed. The legislation also provided that the board must give consideration to a state junior college in northwestern Minnesota.

Operation of junior colleges will be completely supported by state funds. They will not be operated by communities or school districts and will not increase the taxes of the communities or districts in which they are located. If there is to be a tax increase, it will come from the state level and affect all taxpayers, no matter where the colleges are located.

As a result of high interest by people in the area who are concerned about higher educational opportunities for our young people, a local junior college committee has been formed. This committee is compiling information to present to the state junior college board as a basis for having a junior college established at Thief River Falls.

It will be the attempt of the committee, and this should not be difficult, to prove to the junior college board that this community is the logical site for a junior college. Several surveys, conducted by state departments, have named Thief River Falls as the logical site for such location. Approximately 100 letters from interested individuals have been received by the local committee, offering assistance and encouragement and citing needs for a junior college to serve this area.

The committee is in the process of contacting area communities to determine interest. As evidenced by the letters and resolutions received, there is a much higher concern about college facilities than was at first expected. A united effort of the entire area is necessary and is apparently forthcoming.

Within the city itself there is a need for even more discussion and interest on the junior college program. Because of distance involved to larger schools and the resulting high cost, too many of our high school graduates do not go on to college. College facilities within commuting distance would be a tremendous boost for the future of these youngsters.

We believe that the area recognizes the need for a junior college and the educational opportunity that it offers. It remains now to show the junior college board and the state legislature that such a need is indeed a fact.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"I congratulate poor young men upon being born to that ancient and honorable degree which renders it necessary that they should devote themselves to hard work.'

—Andrew Carnegie

"Congress is sensitive to the rights of the states. After all, senators are representatives of their individual states. Cash Farm Receipts Down Slightly in '63

A decrease in livestock sales brought the total sales of Minnesota farm products down slightly for the second year in a row according to W. Keith Bryant, agricultural economist at the University of Minnesota.

Bryant says that preliminary estimates from government sources indicate that farm marketings cash receipts went from $1,458 million in 1962 to $1,417 million in 1963.

He went on to explain the sale of livestock and livestock products returned $1,020 million in cash receipts to Minnesota farmers in 1963, 4 per cent below 1962 returns.

Gross incomes of livestock and milk products decreased while turkey producers increased their cash receipts.

Despite increased marketings of cattle in Minnesota, total cash receipts from cattle and calves declined from $358 million in 1962 to $341 million in 1963, a decline of about 5 percent.

Minnesota hog producers also suffered a 4 to 5 percent decrease in cash receipts. Particularly heavy hog marketings in the first six months of 1963, coupled with increased competition from lower priced beef, pushed hog prices below 1962 levels in the same six months.

Marketings of Minnesota sheep and lambs dropped from 955,000 head in 1962 to about 732,000 in 1963, which resulted in another cash receipt reduction.

Milk producers in the state experienced a 2 to 3 percent decrease in cash receipts from milk products in 1963.

Cash receipts from egg sales brought Minnesota egg producers $61 million in 1963, a decrease of about 10 percent from 1962. Minnesota egg production decreased about 11 percent in 1963 from 1962 levels. This was the eighth consecutive year that egg production declined.

Higher turkey prices along with the higher proportion of heavy breeds resulted in about a 10 percent increase in cash receipts to the state's turkey producers.

Bryant said the relative importance of various enterprises did not change significantly from 1962. Cattle and calves and milk products remained the most important sources of cash receipts.

Traffic Fines of $1 Million Listed by Highway Patrol

Counties Receive 3/8 of Fines Collected, and Remainder Goes to State

Drivers on Minnesota highways convicted of violating traffic and motor vehicle laws paid over $1 million in fines last year, the Minnesota highway department reports.

This includes only those violators apprehended by the Minnesota highway patrol.

The $1,032,131 paid in fines represents convictions for 50,279 violations. Besides traffic law violations, fines were paid for defective equipment and over-loaded trucks.

Fine money is divided between the state and the county in which the fine is imposed. The county receives three-eighths of the fine money, which is credited to its general revenue fund. The other five-eighths goes to the state treasurer, who credits the money to a separate account.

Money in this account is then used to pay for all costs of participating in a nationwide police communication system chargeable to the state; and it also pays $16,000 monthly into the Highway Safety Fund, created by the 1963 legislature, for furnishing and installing railroad crossing signals at locations in communities that cannot afford to do so without financial aid. Remaining money is credited to the trunk highway fund for maintenance purposes.

State VFW Offers $1000 Scholarship

To Be Given Handicapped High School Graduate

The department of Minnesota, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will again offer a $1000 cash scholarship to a deserving handicapped graduate of a Minnesota high school, Commander L. A. DeBriyn of VFW Post No. 2793 announced today.

In order to be eligible for consideration, a candidate must graduate from a public, private or parochial school of high school level during 1964 and must be physically handicapped to a degree which would make it difficult or impossible to follow ordinary vocational pursuits.

An impartial board of judges will select the winner from nominations made by local Posts. Final judging will be on the basis of merit, disability, financial need, possibility of future success, willingness to work toward a goal, personality, and cooperative spirit.

The winning student will receive a $1,000 check at the state VFW convention in St. Cloud on June 18.

Thief River Falls post is anxious to nominate one or more candidates for the scholarship from the local area, according to Commander L. A. DeBriyn. Persons having knowledge of an eligible individual are asked to contact him as soon as possible.

Motorists' Survey Shows Pet Peeves

Inadequate Direction Signs Cause Complaints

The frustration of not being quite sure where he is or where he is going plagues the motorist most on the highway.

This was revealed in a just-completed AAA survey of the members of the near-9-million-member organization. Sixty-two per cent of those questioned about what annoys them most when traveling by auto listed "confusing or inadequate direction signs" as their pet peeve. Unclean restrooms also ranked high on the "gripe" list, being checked by 40 per cent.

Another part of the survey shows that the highway traveler likes all the comforts of home when he stops at a motel. Members questioned listed in this order, restaurant, television, guest coffeemaker in room and free self-service ice as things they like to have along with their standard motel facilities.

Other highway annoyances listed were: traffic congestion in urban areas, 33 per cent; large trucks and buses, 31 per cent; billboards along scenic highways, 30 per cent; very large house trailers, 19 per cent, and lack of service on freeways, 15 per cent.

Placing of confusing or inadequate direction signs at the top of the list bolsters the Minnesota AAA's view that the techniques of placing signs, signals and markings has not kept pace with modern road building.

As for motel facilities, once the motorist finds a motel in the midst of the confusing direction signs, 57 per cent picked "restaurant" as the most desired extra at the motel.

Secrets of Wardrobe Planning Revealed

Are you well dressed or is your wardrobe a hodge-podge of colors, styles and outgrown sizes? The secret of being well dressed isn't having closet after closet of expensive clothes. It's planning your wardrobe.

Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent, advises young people to ask these questions as a guide to wardrobe planning:

(1) What do I have now? To make the most of every dollar, it's important to have a clear picture of your present clothing before adding something new. Go through closets and drawers each fall and spring to examine your clothes for the coming season. Lay all garments and accessories out so you can see everything at once.

Try on each item and check the condition it's in. Then separate clothes and accessories into three groups: clothes that are wearable now; "near-wearables" that need only a little mending, cleaning or altering; and clothes no longer wearable.

(2) What do I wear? What are your social activities What do you do in your leisure time?

Where you go, what you do, and whom you do it with, all help determine the clothes you wear. Two swim suits would be impractical if you go swimming only twice a year. And if your friends aren't wearing knickers, for instance, chances are you won't either. Active sports such as tennis will re*quire more durable* clothing than will watching a baseball game. Decide what type of clothes are best to wear for your various activities.

(3) What do I need? Combine items in your wearable and non-wearable groups to make complete outfits. Repair near-wearables before doing this. Do you have the right blouses for skirts or slacks? List the garments you need to buy to wear with garments you already have. It's foolish to abandon a good skirt because you have nothing to wear with it.

Do you have the right accessories? The effect of a soft yellow dress would be shattered by wearing a bright red or blue purse. Be sure that everything you wear is completely accessorized with gloves, jewelry, purse, scarf, hat or whatever is suited to the outfit itself and to the places you'll wear it.

There will be many things you'd like to have, but plan first for garments like winter coats that you must have. Then concentrate on your major "wants,"— perhaps a dress for the prom or clothes for a ski trip. Many garments will tempt you, but you'll have to decide which are most important to you.

Always try to coordinate your wardrobe. Don't buy every color on the market when there's nothing like it in your closet. Learn what colors flatter you—your hair, eye and skin coloring and your figure type. Find your favorites. Then build around two or three becoming key colors for a put-together, money-saving wardrobe — for a well dressed you!

A BOY AND HIS HEROES

One of the keys to a boy's character is his choice of heroes.

For a hero is more than a portrait on the wall. A hero is an ideal — a blueprint of greatness.

And where does a boy find his heroes?

He finds them in books and on the playing field . . . in his school, his family, his Church.

The Church's contribution to a child's gallery of heroes is unique.

Bible study and religious education not only introduce him to the greatest lives ever lived . . . but they teach him how to build the same qualities of heroism into his own life.

WHAT'S THIS? No one ever would expect to see Minnesota's Princess Kay of the Milky Way photographed with a "pop bottle." But look what's in this one. Princess Kay, Audrey Meyer of Clarks Grove, gets the honor of putting a cap on the first bottle of N R G (energy), an apt name for a bottle of fresh, cold, Grade "A" milk. Thousands of bottles of milk such as this one — bottled under regular Grade "A" dairy conditions — will begin going into coin-operated vending machines soon. First market test of the "new" product will begin in Fargo (N.D.) and Moorhead (Minn.) in mid-February. Cass-Clay Creameries will be the first bottlers in the N R G program which is to be extended nationally. Aiding Princess Kay in capping of the first bottle are J. L. (Jack) Ckols, Minneapolis, originator of the N R G concept of offering milk-in-pop-bottles, and Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee. The new package and distribution program eventually is expected to provide an avenue for increased sales of millions of gallons of milk.

Bond Election Thursday

Goodridge School Plans Presented at Meeting

More than 200 people from the Goodridge area attended an open meeting Tuesday evening to hear about and discuss a proposed $28,000 building program for the Goodridge school. The proposal calls for construction of six classrooms and a new gymnasium. Voters in the district will express their opinions on the proposal in a special election on Thursday, February 13, from 1 to 8 p.m. in the school agriculture rooms.

Ernest Swanson, chairman of the Goodridge board of education, presided at the public meeting Tuesday. He told of the planning which has been in progress for several years and noted that much of the work in developing the proposal was done by a citizens committee, comprised of interested residents of the community.

Harold Janneck, high school principal, viewed the situation from the standpoints of "students, staff and space". He noted that the six classrooms proposed would be used to replace temporary class rooms now in use and to relieve pressure on overloaded classrooms now in the main building. He added that the gymnasium could be scheduled for as many as 10 periods during a day that has only seven to schedule.

Myron Denbrook of Grand Forks, architect, said that the proposed construction would provide for the basic needs of the school and that further remodeling could be done at a later date to fully satisfy the future requirements of the system. Only by careful study and planning, he said, can the needs of the school be fulfilled with the expenditure of only $28,000.

Dr. David Brown, superintendent, explained that a mill levy of 32.78 mills would be required to pay the principal and interest on the bond issue — based on a 20-year issue and five per cent interest. The increase would be

Council Approves Airport Plans, Assessment Roll

Approval of plans and specifications for the airport improvement project was accomplished by the Thief River Falls city council meeting in special session last week. Assessment roll on recent street improvements was also adopted.

Discussion of plans and specifications for the airport took place prior to approval by a 5-1 vote. Alderman John McGinley was out of town and absent from the meeting with Alderman Robert Carlson voting against approval. Plans have now been submitted to state and federal authorities for approval or revision. A detailed story on the airport plans will be published in a later edition of the Times.

A petition to the Pennington county board asking relocation of County Aid Road 75 in the approach area to the municipal airport was also approved.

38 People Injured

City Reports 237 Accidents in '63

Thief River Falls recorded a total of 237 accidents with property damage estimated at $37,328 and 38 persons injured during 1963, according to the accident summary prepared by the Thief River Falls police department. The number of accidents increased by five from 1962 and by 44 from 1961.

Four accidents involved pedestrians, two involved bicycles and two others involved railroad trains. In 1962 there were eight pedestrians, four bicycles and two railroad trains involved in city mishaps.

Thirty-eight persons were injured in 29 of the accidents, a decrease from 1962 when 50 persons were injured in 35 accidents. In 1961 a total of 24 accidents resulted in 31 injuries. Ninety accidents happened during the four winter months of January, February, March and December. There were 88 accidents on snowy or icy streets, 19 on wet streets and 126 on dry streets.

There was no hour during the day that did not have at least one accident, but early morning hours were the most accident-free. Accidents on days of the week included Wednesday, 37; Monday, Thursday and Friday, all 36; Tuesday, 32; Sunday, 30; and Saturday, 29.

Drivers in the age group of 25 to 34 were involved in the most accidents and also in accidents resulting in the most injuries. Fifty-four accidents involved parked cars while 19 cars involved were standing in traffic and 21 others were leaving or entering a parked position. Male drivers involved in accidents totaled 301 in both 1962 and 1963 while the number of female drivers involved in accidents increased from 65 in 1962 to 74 in 1963.

Thief River Falls addresses were listed by 263 of the drivers involved. Failure to yield the right-of-way is listed as the leading contributory cause of accidents, followed by improper approach from the rear, either following too close or improper passing. Ten accidents involved drivers who had been drinking.

Accidents were about equally divided between residential and business sections of the community with 88 accidents happening on state routes and 149 on local streets. Of the 447 vehicles involv-

Heart Fund Has Many Volunteers Working on Drive

Pennington county's 1964 Heart Fund campaign is now underway as part of the Minnesota campaign to raise $575,000, according to David Drotts, county chairman. Subchairmen have been named for all townships and communities in the county.

"This will give every resident of our community an opportunity to take part in one of history's greatest health crusades—to help beat heart disease," Drotts said. "This is a unique cause. It unites into one appeal diseases which are responsible for 54 per cent of all deaths in Minnesota—among them heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever and inborn heart defects."

Twenty-six volunteer workers will assist Drotts in the Pennington county campaign. Lester Gustafson is county treasurer for the Heart Fund drive with Mrs. R. J. Locker as Thief River Falls chairman, Mrs. Paul Sjulson as St. Hilaire chairman and Laurel Stephenson as Goodridge chairman. Township chairmen include the following:

Mrs. Frank Hible, Numedal; Dake Ayers, Norden; Mrs. E. L. Swanson, West North; Hanford Bjerke, East North; Thormod Christenson, Silverton; Jerome Mutneski, Goodridge; Herbert Vraa, Reiner; Clifford Lindquist, Bray; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bakke, Sanders; John Bornholt, West Rocksbury; Victor Walsberg, East Rocksbury; and B. B. Belswenger, Smiley;

Also Alf Jorstad, Kratka; Clofford Vad, Highlanding; Alfred Iverson, Star; Mrs. Veral Mosbeck, Polk Centre; Arno Cords, Black River; William G. Gilbertson, River Falls; Oscar Houske, Wyandotte; Leon McMahon, Mayfield; Mrs. C. W. Radniecki, Deer Park; and Clifford Iverson, Hickory.

ONLY TWO exhibitors at the crop show at the Pennington County Seed and Feed Show Friday in Thief River Falls gained more than one championship. They were Curtis Johnson, left, and Otto Rupprecht, both of rural Thief River Falls. Rupprecht had championships in certified wheat and bin-run barley while Johnson gained his championship ribbons in oats and silage. There were a total of 329 entries in the crop and forage division — more than three times the entries made in 1963.

428 Entries Made in Seed-Feed Show Friday

Women Enter 99 Exhibits, Hear of Lamb Preparation

Homemakers participating in the Pennington County Seed and Feed show on Friday in the Thief River Falls city auditorium entered 99 exhibits, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington county home agent. A total of 125 women attended the speaking program which featured Mrs. Frances Wershler of the Manitoba agriculture and conservation service.

Mrs. Wershler, promotion officer in the radio and information section of the publication branch, spoke on lamb preparation and showed slides of meat cuts and preparation. Lamb is generally more readily available in the fall and prices are lowest at that time, although lamb can usually be obtained throughout the year, she said.

Flavor and tenderness are main attractions for the use of lamb in meal planning, Mrs. Wershler said. Since tenderness in lamb does not vary as much as in beef, there is not as much variety in cooking methods needed. Lamb may generally be prepared in much the same way as beef. Preparation of lamb in tempting ways will overcome the stereotyped idea that lamb has a bad flavor, she added.

A style show in which 15 local persons exhibited their homemade garments was new to the women's program this year and was presented following the speaking program. Participation prizes were awarded to the women modeling.

Division Entries

First, second and third place winners respectively in each of the lots open for entries included the following:

Dress—Mrs. Donald Rupprecht, Thief River Falls; Mrs. W. A. Hallstrom, Red Lake Falls; and Mrs. Robert Parnow, Goodridge;

SPEAKERS featured at the Pennington County Seed and Feed show Friday included two guests from Canada. At left are Dr. L. H. Shebeski, chairman of the plant science department of the University of Manitoba, and Mrs. Frances Wershler, information officer. Silas Hanson, chairman of the Pennington County Crop Improvement association, is showing them some of the exhibitor's checks being distributed to winners in the show's various divisions.

March 13-14 Production

Cast Selected for Operetta at LHS

"Brigadoon" is the title of the operetta to be presented by the music groups at Lincoln high school on March 13 and 14 in the school auditorium. The production will be under the direction of Bryant Ulseth and tells the whimsical tale of a magic village in Scotland which comes to life every 100 years and disappears after a single day.

The plot involves two American adventurers who find Brigadoon on a day when a wedding is to take place. Bryan Collver, as the old village schoolmaster, explains to Rick Kenney as Tommy that a miracle happened in 1747 which permits the village to hibernate except for one day in each century. The magic spell would cease, however, if any native left the village.

Portraying characters in the production will be Karen Moe, Flo-

Cigarette and Liquor Taxes Are Received Here

Receipt of liquor and cigarette tax for the period covering July through December of 1963 was noted today by Ellsworth Jorgenson, Pennington county treasurer. Distribution to counties is made by the state of Minnesota.

Cigarette tax totaled $1,667.35 and averaged 95 cents per capita. It will be deposited in the general revenue fund of the county. Liquor tax of $2,898.67, averaging 59 cents per capita, will be distributed to townships, city and villages in the county.

Crop and Forage Show Draws Twice 1961 Show Total

Participation in the 7th annual Pennington County Seed and Feed Show Friday was far above expectations of the sponsoring organizations. A total of 329 entries were made in the crop and forage show—more than three times the number of entries last year and more than double the entries in 1962. Women's division entries totaled 99.

Attendance at the afternoon speaking programs, held in separate sessions for men and women in attendance, was also large. Approximately 150 men heard three speakers in the city auditorium basement while about 125 women were in attendance at the program for ladies on the auditorium main floor. The women's division is discussed in another story in today's Times.

Main speaker for the men's program was Dr. L. H. Shebeski, chairman of the plant science department of the University of Manitoba. He told of advances being made in developemnt of hybrid wheat, predicting that hybrid wheat varieties would be in production by 1970 and that they would increase wheat yields by 50 per cent.

In 1962 the Japanese discovered a gene to give sterility to the male portion of the wheat flower, Dr. Shebeski said, permitting fertilization by pollen from the female portion of other plants. This has provided a means whereby hybrid varieties can be produced on a large scale.

Having spent five months in Russia and Poland as an exchange scientist, Dr. Shebeski told of the research work being done in these countries. He also showed slides taken in these countries and told of their methods to improve plants and livestock.

Sheep Discussed

Dr. Ray Arthaud, extension livestock specialist from the University of Minnesota, discussed practices in regard to sheep management. He urged early lambing in January and February to take advantage of higher prices on the early market and recommended feeding of lambs rather than selling them as feeders. He said there was a need for fall pasture and that a mixture of rape and oats was very adaptable to this area.

George Pitt, president of Valley Feed & Supply company of Spring Valley, N. Y., reviewed the prospects for specialty crops in the area and conducted a sign-up for production of millet and sunflow-

James Roger Harbott Is Fined After Police Say He Drove Over 100 m.p.h.

James Roger Harbott, 22, St. Hilaire, Minn., was fined a total of $200 in East Grand Forks Municipal Court Wednesday on two charges stemming from a wild chase through East Grand Forks at a speed police estimated over 100

He was fined $100 for drunk drivng, and $100 for failing to stop for a police officer, according to a story in the Grand Forks Herald.

Two passengers, Howard Wayne Peterson, 23, Rte. 3, Thief River Falls, and Stuart Orlan Sweet, 22, St. Hilaire, each were jailed with Harbott and fined $10 for drunkeness.

The speeding vehicle was first spotted by a patrolman at 1:30 a.m. on DeMers Avenue. The police officer summoned help from two other patrol cars, one from Grand Forks, which assisted in the chase.

The Harbott car drove north out of the city, and then returned, eluding a roadblock by the police. It was pursued through the city to the south where it escaped onto another highway. It was stopped at Crookston at 3 a.m.

Ranum-Blitvich Vows Spoken Here February 1

Zion Lutheran church of Thief River Falls was the scene February 1st of the wedding of Miss Dianne Blitvich of Minneapolis and Bruce Ranum, also of Minneapolis. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Blitvich of Hibbing, and Mrs. Harry Ranum of Thief River Falls and the late Mr. Ranum.

The chancel of the church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, white pompon mums and deep pink carnations, and a pair of candelabra. The pews were trimmed with white candles and satin ribbon.

The double ring ceremony was used, with Rev. Leland Steen prompting the vows. Mrs. Leland Steen played traditional organ music preceding and during the ceremony. She accompanied the bride's aunt, Mrs. Dale Finney of Hibbing as she sang, "The Wedding Prayer" and "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with fitted bodice and short train. The sleeves and bodice were trimmed with an overlay of appliqued lace which extended to either side of the skirt. The gown was buttoned to the waist in back and was detailed with long sleeves which came to a point at the wrist. The shoulder length butterfly veil was topped with a headpiece of four white roses and seed pearls. She carried one large white cabbage rose.

The bride was attended by her sister, Suzanne Blitvich of Hibbing as maid of honor, and Joy Anderson and Marilyn Helle of Minneapolis as bridesmaids. They wore full length cranberry red satin Empire dresses with pink beaded insets at the waist. Their headpieces were formed of a large red rose with a nylon net veil and they wore cranberry red shooes. They each carried one large pink cabbage rose.

The flower girl was Barbara Dinsmore of Minneapolis, cousin of the groom. She wore a floor-length Empire styled dress of pink satin, and red shoes. She carried a basket of red roses, pink and white carnations and wore a headpiece of small red roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, James Ranum as best man and his friends, Gary Langness and Bruce Braaten of Minneapolis as groomsmen. All the gentlemen of the bridal party wore black tuxedos and white carnation boutonnieres with the exception of the groom, whose boutonniere was of white stephanotis.

The ring bearer was Tommy Blitvich of St. Cloud, a cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a cranberry red dress with matching shoes and a pink and red hat. Her corsage was of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

The groom's mother wore a champagne taffeta brocade dress with black accessories. She wore a corsage of deep pink roses, pink carnations and white stephanotis.

The ushers were Gerald Carlson, Gary Waldner and Roger Bevis of Minneapolis, all friends of the couple.

All eight grandparents of the couple were in attendance. The grandmothers all were presented with pink and white corsages and the grandfathers with white carnation boutonnieres. They are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Blitvich and Mr. and Mrs. George Finney of Hibbing, the bride's grandparents and the groom's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alberg and Mr. and Mrs. Benhard Ranum.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception in the church parlors for about 100 guests. Mrs. Lawrence Wold, friend of the couple, acted as hostess and the Ladies of Zion served.

Mrs. Phillip Hanson of Minneapolis, friend of the couple, and Mrs. John Mayerich of Hibbing, aunt of the bride, served the punch. Miss Linda Finney of Hibbing, cousin of the bride, was at the guest book.

The five-tiered wedding cake was trimmed with cranberry red roses and was topped with white bells. It was baked and decorated by Mrs. Gilfred Sannes. Mrs. Gerald Carlson of Minneapolis, friend of the couple, cut and served the cake. Miss Judy Ranum of St. Paul, sister of the groom, poured coffee.

Misses Sharon McShane and Carol Welch of Minneapolis, friends of the couple, opened and displayed the gifts.

For going away the bride wore a gold suit with brown accessories and a white rose corsage. After a brief honeymoon the couple is at home in Minneapolis.

The bride is a graduate of Hibbing high school, class of 1961, and Gale Institute, 1962. She is employed by an Investor's Diversified Services in Minneapolis. The groom graduated from Lincoln high school in 1959 and is a student at Augsburg College in Minneapolis. He will begin his student teaching at Wayzata high school on February 17.

Guests at the wedding were in attendance from Thief River Falls, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Hibbing, St. Cloud, Warren and Kelliher. Photo by Lund Studio, Roseau.

PROBLEM CHILDREN

Q. I have a 5-year-old who can really work up a storm. Why do children have temper tantrums?

A. Because they haven't learned self-control. Anger is a natural emotion. There are times when everyone would like to beat the floor and chew up the rug. Many doctors say that children fly off the handle for two reasons. They have found that tantrums put them in the center of the stage (and like ham actors they want all the attention). Or they may really believe that they have been denied something they should have. The child doesn't particularly care whether you agree with him or not.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

"Everybody's" Birthday Party Staged Feb. 5

An "Everybody's" birthday party was staged at Community Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, February 5, under sponsorship of the Woman's Society for Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild. In attendance were about 85 guests, who were seated at 12 tables, one for each month of the year, each guest at a table representing the month during which her birthday occurred. Table decor was in keeping with the birthday theme, with centerpieces, favors, and a birthday cake with a miniature candle.

Mrs. Irvin Wilson served as emcee for the program, which opened with a vocal solo by Mrs. William Collins, with Grace Looker providing piano accompaniment. The pastor's wife, Mrs. Dean Headley, offered a prayer and an appropriate message from the Scriptures. Benediction was pronounced by Mrs. Ira Nicholson.

It was noted that this is the start of the 25th year of the organization. The program stressed the meaning of the society to a charter member, represented by Mrs. Fred Monroe; a young mother, by Mrs. Phil Hess, and a guild member, represented by Mrs. Margaret Race. Mission slides and records on "Christian Art in Southern Asia" tied in with the mission theme, were shown by Rev. Headley, and Mrs. Marshall Hankerson showed slides of previous birthday tables.

The candles at the tables were lighted after the program, and words to "Take My Life" were sung to the tune of "Happy Birthday," as they walked past to review the tables and make their contributions to the mission fund in a large box decorated to represent a birthday cake. Cake and ice cream were then served.

The kitchen committee was comprised of Mmes. R. Looker, Steve Jaenette, N. E. Muzzy, Claude Davidson, W. Fischer, James Muzzy, and A. Evenson.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

No hostess is averse to receiving compliments on the refreshments she serves, or to the praise of her family, voiced or implied, in regard to her cooking. These bars are sure-fire in that respect, and they are attractive to serve, and timely for February, when cherries are a perennial feature, harking back to the incident of young George Washington and the cherry tree.

The Christoffersons are especially fond of sweets, and these rate a hit with them in any season. You're bound to like them, too.

Cherry Bars

Cut ½ cup butter into 1 cup flour and 2 tablespoons powdered sugar. Mix as for pie crust. Press into an 8x8 inch pan, and bake 10 minutes at 375 degrees. Remove from oven. Have prepared the following mixture:

2 eggs, beaten until light

Add: 1 cup sugar

¼ cup flour

½ teaspoon baking powder

½ teaspoon salt

½ cup coconut

1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix well.

Fold in: 1 cup chopped nut meats

1 small bottle maraschino cherries, drained.

Spread this mixture evenly over the baked mixture. Return to oven and bake at 350 degrees for about 20 minutes or until a delicate brown.

Cut into bars when cold.

Even busy "career girls" like our homemaker (she has been a teller at Union State Bank, full time, for seven years, and still is) need hobbies for diversion. Mrs. Christofferson confesses to spending every available minute in reading books and magazines. Sewing is another of her interests but she has little opportunity to indulge it. Trying new recipes both in cooking and baking fascinates her, and she lists this as a hobby. Her husband, Alvin, is also a lover of reading, but he likes the outdoors also, and is an avid sports fan, hunter and fisherman. He is an inspector for the Minnesota Dept. of Weights and Measures. They have a grown son, Gary, who is employed with the state highway department out of Thief River Falls.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Christofferson are natives of our town. They are members of Trinity Lutheran Church, and Mrs. Christofferson is active in a church circle and the TLCW.

Legion Auxiliary Sets Campaign for 'Radio Free Europe' Friday

Friday, February 14th has been proclaimed "Radio Free Europe Day" by the Ecklund Holmstrom Unit 117 of the American Legion Auxiliary, according to Mrs. Orville Feragen, unit president. Mrs. Harold M. Johnson has been named chairman.

Local Auxiliary members are joining American Legion Auxiliary units throughout the country in spearheading the 1964 Radio Free Europe Fund Drive. Contribution booths will be set up in the two local Banks of February 14th.

All funds collected during this campaign, will be used to strengthen and improve the broadcast operation of Radio Free Europe. RFE is a private, non-profit American enterprise, broadcasting daily to the 80 million people of Poland, Hungary, Czechslovakea, Rumania and Bulgaria. Broadcasts are made on several frequencies simultaneously to break through the heavy Communist jamming. It refutes Communist lies and distortions with 3000 broadcast hours a week to the once-free people of Eastern Europe who now live under Communist tyranny.

Mrs. Johnson said, "The Ecklund-Holmstrom Unit of the American Ligion Auxiliary is proud to join the thousands of Legion Auxiliary Units all over the United States in their support of Radio Free Europe. Despite the current relaxations of some East-West tensions, the Communists try to maintain a monopoly on information for their propaganda war against the free world. But Radio Free Europe has shown that the Iron Curtain is not soundproff. The broadcasts strengthen the bonds of friendship between the East Europeans and the free world of which they are rightfully a part."

A contribution to the Radio Free Europe Fund will help assure that RFE continues to get the truth through.

Public Opinion

Editor, the Times:

In reply to the letter submitted by Mr. H. R. Johnson:

As he said "Glamorous and romantic names such as Idlewild and Canaveral have been scrapped"—but the name Kennedy, I believe, has a lot more meaning to the human heart than either of the above.

He also claims "Mr. Kennedy's sole contribution is that he breached the Monroe Doctrine and permitted the communists to secure a bastion on our western hemishere".

To me, that's an insult to a man whose contribtuions to the world and his country were many and great. He tried to restore our confidence in ourselves and other nations in us. Your new school should be a proud structure with such an honorable name of a great leader.

With a large number of youngsters using the machines, parents are advised to warn their children of the dangers involved and urge care in staying clear of moving parts on the vehicles.

Goodridge School Bond Proposal Aired Last Week

about 14 per cent of total taxes paid in both Marshall and Pennington county portions of the Goodridge district.

A considerable amount of the discussion during a question session revolved around the high school being proposed for the Grygla-Gatzke-Skime area. Dr. Brown said the Goodridge school could operate with a very slight increase in cost if the Grygla students did not attend the Goodridge school.

Some consideration was also given to the possibility of forming a joint Goodridge-Grygla district. Dr. Brown said that residents of the Grygla district could operate as part of the Goodridge district for 116.15 mills in school taxes as compared to the 166.38 mills estimated in the Grygla reorganization proposal. Accuracy of the estimates was questioned by several visitors attending the meeting.

Former Senator Ray E. Wirth said it was the responsibility of the citizens of the Goodridge district to provide for the students that are in attendance at this time. He suggested that it was the concern of the Grygla area people if they felt a high school is needed, and that the Goodridge district must govern itself by its present needs.

Lunch was served following the meeting by the Goodridge Parent and Teacher association.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor:

I would like to know why we need a bookmobile at the expense of the taxpayers. I do not believe the taxpayer is obliged to furnish reading material to the public any more than they would be to furnish free movies or other forms of entertainment.

I do not know what the motive behind so many of these schemes are, but I think it is that someone is looking for a good easy job at taxpayers expense.

Very Truly Yours,

Re: Public Opinion Feb. 6, 1964

One finds it hard to believe that Mr. Johnson's statement about President Kennedy's "sole contribution" was written in seriousness. What is inconceivable is that a person could actually have the effrontery to make such a derogatory remark about the deceased. It hardly seems civilized to kick a man when he is down, to say nothing of kicking him after he is dead.

Driver Refresher Course Attended By 55 Last Week

Safety Specialists On Program Sponsored by County Extension Service

A total of 55 people were present at the driver refresher course held in Thief River Falls on Wednesday, according to Miss Carolyn Offerdahl, Pennington County home agent.

Leo Steinmetz, safety promotion officer of the Minnesota Highway department, opened the meeting on Wednesday with giving some statistics on why this type of course was needed. The one fact that should make an impression on the minds of those attending the refresher course was that even though traffic accidents are lower in rural areas, the deaths are higher.

Obert Lilo, safety officer of the Minnesota Highway patrol, spoke on why we have the traffic laws and the officers to enforce them. He stressed that many times you are able to "get by", but sometime you will "get caught"—not only by the highway patrol but also by having an accident.

Anthony Madunich, driver's license examiner for the surrounding area, spoke on the skills and techniques of driving. He reviewed the road test and the written test in the driver's examination. The reading of the driver's manual gives all the information that is needed for the taking of the above two tests.

Answering of questions followed and consisted of a panel of the above three men plus Sheriff Charles Richards and Captain Fehleen of the highway patrol.

Climaxing the meeting was a movie entitled, "Freeway Driving Is Different". This movie showed how to get on the freeway, how to drive on the freeway and how to get off the freeway.

This refresher course was sponsored by the Pennington County Safety council and the Pennington County Extension service.

Lions Hear Talk on Anti-communism

Hear Dr. K. McFarland in Recording Wednesday

Members of the Lions club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday noon heard a warning against the Communist drive for world domination, contained in a recorded address by Dr. K. McFarland, nationally known lecturer from Kansas. The recording was presented by Vernon Nelson, who was introduced by Clarence Mattson, program chairman.

McFarland said that the United States must have the most powerful armed forces in order to bargain effectively with the Communists, who, he said, have a long record of broken promises.

He supported the United Nations organization as originally conceived, but said it has been weakened by the admission of many newly-created small countries, which, he maintained, favor a continuation of the cold war as a result of the financial support they are receiving from this nation.

Prowler Wrestlers Defeat Park Rapids

It was a come-from behind effort by coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestlers here Friday night as the local matmen, boosting their season's mark in dual competition to nine wins and two losses, edged out the highly-regarded Park Rapids Panthers, 20 to 18.

Prowlers travel to Crookston for a match against Northwest School Aggies; and on Monday, Feb. 17, the Prowlers will meet the Warren Ponies at Warren. In previous matches against these squads the Prowlers had a loss and a win. In a schedule-opening match against the Aggies, the Prowlers dropped a 29 to 21 decision; and in a match against the Ponies held here last month, the Prowlers scored a 27 to 18 win.

In Friday night's competition here, the Park Rapids squad, with but three matches remaining on the 12-match program, held an 18 to 9 lead. But in these three matches the Prowlers picked up 11 points to gain the victory.

Co-captain Terry Nelson, wrestling in the 165-lb. class, scored a pin as he defeated the Panthers' Gary Nelson, and gained five points for the Prowler cause. Joe Taylor, continuing his unbeaten string in dual competition, defeated Park Rapids' Charles Bishop, 4 to 0, picking up three points, and the Prowlers trailed by one point, 18 to 17.

With the outcome resting on the heavyweight match between the Prowlers' Ellsworth Senum and Park Rapids' Allen Crandall, the crowd, and the two squads, too, were in a foot-stomping mood. Senum picked up two points on a takedown, and then added a point on an escape. Holding a three-point lead with but seconds remaining, Crandall gained a reversal, paring the lead to one-point, but the match ended with Senum the winner, on a decision, 3 to 2, and giving the Prowlers the match, 20 to 18.

Prowler Quint Drops Tilt to Bemidji 70-49

Coach Jack Junker's Prowler cagers took a loss, to Bemidji, and gained a win, against Halstad, in the two interdistrict games played last week. The Prowlers will play a pair of District 31 conference games this week. On Friday, Feb. 14, the Prowlers will meet East Grand Forks at East Grand Forks; and on Saturday, Feb. 15, coach Irv St. John will bring his Warren Ponies here for a game.

In last week's play the Prowlers dropped a 70 to 49 decision to the Lumberjacks at Bemidji on Friday night, and then, on Saturday night, here, held off the Halstad Pirates to score a 65 to 62 win.

In Friday night's game at Bemidji, the Prowlers kept within reach of coach Bun Fortier's defending Region Eight champions until late in the third period when, on baskets by Duane Sheets and Bob Saeger, and free throw by Sheets, the Jacks gained a 10-point lead, 44 to 34, with 1:35 to play.

It was a well-balanced scoring attack, with three players in double figures, and strong rebounding off both boards, that gave Bemidji their decisive 70 to 49 win over the Prowlers. Forwards John Warford and John Dow, showing accuracy from the outside, led the Bemidji scorers with 16 and 12 points, respectively.

The Prowlers had two players in double figures, with Ken Larson and Bob Olson having 16 points apiece. Olson did effective rebounding against the stronger Jacks, but Bemidji had too many able rebounders and as a result coach Fortier's club could control the boards.

Playing on the Lincoln high school court on Saturday night, the Prowlers were hard-pressed to hold off the ever-hustling Halstad Pirates, finally winning by a 65 to 62 score.

Halstad, trailing by a 34 to 29 score at the intermission, and a 46 to 38 score midway in the third period, put on a rally that shoved coach Neil Johnson's young squad into a 49 to 48 lead at the end of the third period. And it was only due to some sharp outside shooting by guard Mark Anderson, who hit for four field goals in the period, that kept the Pirates from holding a greater lead.

In the final period, with 1:30 to play, Halstad, on some brilliant basketball by guard Duane Ramstad, had the score in a 61-all knot. But Bob Olson, scoring his three field goal of the period gave the Prowlers a 2-point lead with 1:05 to play. Ron Tronnes scored a Halstad free throw point, but Rich Nelson, with two seconds to play, dropped in a pair of free throws, giving the Prowlers a well-earned 65 to 62 win.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Pair of "Naturals"

Those sub-regional hockey tournament games that are to be played on the Warroad Arena ice tonight, Monday, are a pair of "naturals".

At 7:30 p. m., the Baudette Bears will play the Indus Trojans; and at 9 p. m., the Prowlers will meet the Crookston Pirates. The winners of these two games will gain berths in the Region Eight tourney at Roseau on Thursday and Friday.

In first-round play in sub-regional competition on Saturday, Baudette drubbed East Grand Forks, 10 to 1; Indus edged Hallock in overtime, 4 to 3; Thief River Falls bested Red Lake Falls, 8 to 0; and Crookston defeated Williams, 6 to 2.

Not only do Monday night's sub-regional games have the importance of giving the winner a spot in the Region Eight tournament, but the games also have the added color of being between natural rivals. During the season, Baudette and Indus divided their two-game series, and being friendly rivals from the river-bank of the Rainy, the game tonight should be a good one. And coach George Schlieff's Prowlers, although they scored a pair of wins over the Crookston Pirates during the season, aren't taking coach Bob Strand's club lightly. The margin of victory in the two Prowler wins amounted to but four goals. In the first game of the home-and-home series, the Prowlers won by a 3 to 1 score, and in the second game the Prowlers tallied a 2 to 0 win.

Crookston has one line—center Ken Epema and wings Jim Brolsma and Gary Nelson—that can compare favorably with any line in the region. The trio, and especially Epema and Brolsma, are strong skaters, and stronger competitors. The outcome of the game will undoubtedly hinge upon how well the Prowlers "contain" this line, and if coach Strand will be able to use this line on a "double shift" basis.

They Are Making a Move

The T & S Implement team of the Business Bowling league—and you remember they were league leaders early in the season—have been perched on the lower rungs in the standings the past several weeks. Last week they were in eighth place in the standings, but the boys won four points on Tuesday night, and, to hear them talk, they are "making their move".

The team, realizing that they are in a high-average league, and that the league is also a handicap loop, have been using these past several weeks in adjusting their averages. From now on in, says their spokesman, the T & S is the club to watch, and Inga's Cafe and Thief River Creamery better take warning.

Lake of the Woods Walleyes

From all reports, the fishing continues to be good at Lake of the Woods. Last Friday a party of five, guided by Mouse Efteland, Squire Overum and Joe Rinowski, made a limit catch of walleyes off Gould Point in Manitoba. And these fish were all of fine size. The trophy fish, though, which was hooked by Efteland, broke the line and got away.

Long Point, north of Williams, has been producing a number of walleye limits. And in addition the saugers have been showing activity up there. Saugers? That's where "chalk-line" Bud Schuster should be, for he is unquestionably the deftest sauger fisherman in town.

And speaking of fishing, Vern Nelson was recognized as a Manitoba Master Angler as a result of that 11-pound walleyed pike he caught last season. The receipt of this award should certainly put a jinx on Vern's fishing luck. It's some years ago that Am Wysoski was given an award for a northern pike that he caught in the Winnipeg river, and since that time Am has been having his troubles in making catches. The "boys" have relegated Am to such mundane duties as taking care of the minnows, handling the anchor, and being sure that the coffee is hot. The serious, and successful, fishing is done by the other members of the V. F. W. sportsman's club. And I image Vern will have the same experience.

Local 'B' Quint Splits Two Games

Loses to Bemidji 46-42; Tips Halstad 'B's 47-36

Coach Bob Gaarder's Prowler B cagers, after losing to the Bemidji B's, 46 to 42, at Bemidji on Friday night, moved back into the win column on Saturday night by scoring a 47 to 36 win over the Halstad B squad on the local court.

Playing at Bemidji, the Prowler B's turned in a "cold" first half of play, scoring but six points as coach Phil Bahn's Lumberjacks, with guard Dan Christianson leading the attack, piled up a 36 to 6 lead at the end of the first half. With Mike Benke and Dave Gustafson doing the bulk of the scoring, the Prowlers outpointed the Jacks, 36 to 10, in the second half, but the rally fell four points short of knotting the score.

In Saturday night's game here, the Prowler B's, with Harold Overbye getting 12 points and Mark Stromberg adding 11 points, defeated the Halstad Pirates B's, 47 to 36.

Les DeBriyn was elected president of the Thief River Falls Retriever club at the annual meeting held Saturday evening in the American Legion club rooms. Approximately 30 members and wives attended the dinner meeting.

William Pederson was elected vice president with Floyd Ball named secretary-treasurer of the organization. Robert Farmes, area game manager showed slides and provided commentary on the area game situation including management and habitat acquisition and improvement.

Odd Fellows Will Meet on Tuesday

Regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Odd Fellows lodge will be held Tuesday, according to Millard Nelson, secretary. The session will be held at 8 p. m. in the Odd Fellows hall. Joint meetings with the Rebekah lodge; recently proposed by the chapter, will not begin until a later date. Odd Fellows will also meet in regular session on Tuesday, February 18.

Just the thing for picnics are the new edible paper plates.

CATCHER Earl Battey of the Minnesota Twins is offered a serving of rolls as Thief River Falls was one of his stops on the banquet circuit Wednesday. Battey was guest speaker at the Elks Father and Son banquet which drew an attendance of more than 400 at the Elks club rooms. The youngster is John Nelson, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Nelson.

Prowler Six Tips RLF in Playoffs

With John Hellquist making his debut as a wing, scoring four goals, and with John Weigelt turning in a three-goal "hat-trick", and with sophomore Monte LeMoine adding a tally, the hockey Prowlers scored an 8 to 0 win over the Red Lake Falls Eagles in a sub-regional tournament game played at Warroad on Saturday night.

Other sub-regional games played on Saturday found the Baudette Bears scoring a 10 to 1 win over the East Grand Forks Green Wave; the Indus Trojans edging out the Hallock Bears in a two-overtime game and the Crookston Pirates defeating the Williams Wolves, 6 to 2.

Pairings for Monday night's (tonight) games will find the Baudette Bears facing off against the Indus Trojans at 7:30 p. m.; and the Crookston Pirates meeting the Prowlers at 9 p. m.

The winners of tonight's game will join the Roseau Rams and Warroad Warriors in the Region Eight tourney to be held at Roseau on Thursday and Friday.

Hellquist, who has shown scoring ability, was shifted to right wing on the line centered by Don Mathieu, and co-captain Elroy Frolland, who had been at that wing spot, was placed at defense. Frolland, a veteran campaigner and a strong and rugged skater, will give the blue-line contingent quite a boost. The player shifts by coach George Schlieff proved effective against the Red Lake Falls club, for Hellquist connected for four goals, and Frolland turned in a top-flight game at defense, being paired with Jim Anderson for long turns on the ice.

Deduction of Medical Expenses on Income Tax Return Explained

(This is the fourth in a series of articles on income taxes made available as a public service by the Minnesota State Bar Association, Public Relations Committee.)

Special provisions apply which offer tax benefits to those who have incurred medical, dental and hospital expenses during the year or who have received income from their employer during periods of illness. The actual expenses incurred for such items constitute a deduction, subject to certain limitations, on both the Federal and the Minnesota income tax returns. Wages or salaries received from an employer while absent from work because of illness are exempt subject to a maximum weekly limitation and waiting periods.

Actual expenses paid for doctor bills, dental bills, hospital bills are clearly qualified for this deduction. In addition, the expenses of eye glasses, wheelchairs and other health aids are deductible. Drugs and medicines prescribed are deductible, but on the Federal return only to the extent that the amount paid for such items exceeds 1 per cent of a taxpayer's adjusted gross income. Personal items such as tooth paste and toiletries cannot be deducted as drugs although they may have a health connection.

The amount paid for premiums on hospitalization, accident or insurance premiums may be included in determining the medical expenses deduction. The amount of the medical expense deduction must be reduced by any proceeds which are received from such insurance policies.

The deduction on the Minnesota income tax return is not limited, and the full amount of qualified medical expenses as well as the full amount paid for drugs and medicines may be deducted. On the Federal return only the amount by which the total of such expenses exceeds 3 per cent of the adjusted gross income of the taxpayer may be deducted. This 3 per cent limitation does not apply if either a taxpayer or his wife is 65 years of age or older, nor does it apply for medical expenses paid for a dependent father or mother who is 65 years of age at the end of the year.

The 1 per cent limitation for drugs and medicine applies in determining the total amount of medical expenses even in the case of taxpayers or dependents who are over 65 years of age. A special form or separate schedule must be used by taxpayers who claim a medical expense deduction for the expenses of persons 65 years of age or older.

The maximum amount of medical deductions is limited on the Federal return to $5,000 for each exemption claimed by a taxpayer on the return with an overall limitation of $20,000. Again, this limitation does not apply in the case of medical expenses for persons 65 years of age or older or who are blind.

Up to $100 per week of wages or salary may be excluded if such amounts were received during periods of absence due to sickness or injury by virtue of a wage continuation plan of an employer.

In cases of absence due to sickness the exemption does not apply until after 7 days of absence have elapsed, but the exemption applies from the first day in cases of absence due to injury. When the exemption applies to an absence of less than a full week, the amount excluded is determined by dividing the number of days in a regular work week into $100 and multiplying that by the number of days actually absent.

The exemption is limited by the total amount of compensation actually received for the period if less than $100 per week. In order to exclude a portion of income on this basis, the taxpayer must file a separate schedule showing a computation of the exclusion or a W-2 form from the employer showing the amount excludable for this exemption.

Kittson Co. Gets $400,000 Grant for Court House

Federal Agency Makes Grant; County to Vote on $300,000 Bonds Mar. 10

Residents of Kittson county will go to the polls on March 10th to decide whether or not the people should authorize the county board of commissioners to bond the county for the amount of $300,000 in order to build a new court house in Hallock. The amount and time of the vote was set by the county board as they met in their regular February session on Monday and Tuesday of last week.

The vote was set following the receipt of information last week from the regional office of the Accelerated Public Works Administration in Chicago stating that an appropriation of $400,000 in matching funds was granted for the construction of a new county court house, the total cost of which will not exceed $800,000.

The Kittson county board met in a special session Thursday night with Vincent Piper, a representative of the Housing and Home Finance Agency of Chicago, at which time they accepted the federal grant of $400,000 offered by the agency, providing the county can match this amount for the construction of a new court house.

According to a news release from the county board issued on Tuesday, the county already has $100,000 on hand which can be used for the construction of a new court house, therefore in order to match the $400,000 federal grant the county needs a bond issue of $300,000.

On-Job Training for Vets Sought

VA Cites Need for Jobs for Disabled Veterans

Openings for "on-the-job" training of disabled veterans are being sought by the Veterans Administration.

Mr. John R. Parrish, Center Director of the Veterans Administration in Fargo, says this is the surest way to obtain permanent employment for the veteran when his training is completed.

Merely to train veterans in vocational schools or colleges accomplishes only a part of the task—they are still unemployed. Mr. Parrish said their handicaps rather than their abilities may loom large in a prospective employer's eyes.

On the other hand, VA officials have learned that if an employer trains the disabled veteran in his own shop, there is strong assurance that he will retain the trained veteran as a "tailor-made" employee.

Mr. Parrish asks the aid of veterans groups, employment agencies and the business world in general in locating employers who will offer disabled but ambitious veterans a chance to take training in specialized lines of work with a goal of permanent employment.

Tells Best Way to Select Vegetables

Choose Them for Color, Nutritionist Advises

Color can be a reliable guide in choosing vegetables that are chockful of vitamins—especially A and C. That's why extension nutritionists at the University of Minnesota say homemakers who want to get the most nutrition for their vegetable dollar should pay close attention to depth of color.

Vitamins A and C are needed for healthy body tissues. Deep yellow and dark green indicate an abundance of vitamin A, the nutritionists point out. They cite these specific examples:

Bright orange mature carrots give you several times as much vitamin A value as pale-colored young ones. Even so, young carrots are a good source of Vitamin A.

Deep orange sweet potatoes or yams are higher in vitamin A than the lighter-colored varieties. Half a large or medium-sized deep orange yam will provide the day's requirement for vitamin A.

The dark green leaves of leafy vegetables are richer in vitamins A and C than light green leaves.

Green peppers are high in vitamins A and C.

Editorials . . .

"One comfort is that great men, taken up in any way, are profitable company. We cannot look, however imperfectly, upon a great man without gaining something by it. He is the living fountain of life, which it is pleasant to be near. On any terms whatsoever you will not grudge to wander in his neighborhood for a while." —Carlyle

A Salute

During this, their national week, we extend our congratulations to the Boy Scouts of America. Their program of Americanism, mixed with the spirit of adventure and challenge, is in the highest tradition of our great nation.

Not to be overlooked is the effort of countless adults who give freely of their time, money and talent to provide the dedicated leadership so necessary to this organization. Helping to guide the lives of young men is no small responsibility, and those who have accepted the responsibility have carried it well.

To the Thief River Falls area Boy Scout troops and their leaders—we extend a hearty salute.

Sordid Starlet Saga

Consideration of deporting one Richard Burton on a morals issue has been requested by a member of Congress. Forthcoming action or inaction will mean little. Burton and his constant companion, not-quite-yet divorced actess (the term is used quite loosely) Elizabeth Taylor, will probably be the first people in history to involve a governmental investigation in promotion of a motion picutre.

Aside from the political implications of the Profumo scandal, that English episode dwindles to nursery rhyme innocence beside the brazen indifference to morals shown by Burton and Taylor. What little dignity the motion picture industry had has now been walked on with muddy shoes.

Deporting Burton might show public disapproval of his actions. It would mean that he and his million dollar Cleopatra would have to carry on their affair elsewhere, probably his native England. At any rate, the whole situation provides overtures our nation can well do without. It leaves us with a touch of nausea.

Civil Rights (?) Again

We have said in the past that more editorials were forthcoming on the pending Civil Rights legislation. This is another one. If you are not concerned about your freedom, don't bother to read it. If you are concerned, and agree that points stressed here are dangerous, write your Senator or Congressman—or both.

Information is taken from a booklet entitled, "Unmasking the Civil Rights Bill" and contains the dissenting opinion of members of the House judiciary committee including E. E. Willis, E. L. Forester, William M. Tuck, Robert T. Ashmore, John Dowdy and Basil L. Whitener.

The men state, "The reported bill is not a 'moderate' bill and it has not been 'watered down'. It constitutes the greatest grasp for executive power conceived in the 20th century."

The last editorial dealt with the effect of the law on farmers. The following statements of dissenting views should be of interest to home owners:

"The right of homeowners in the United States to freely build, occupy, rent, lease and sell their homes will be destroyed by this bill. Title VI will be construed by the administration to cover 'land to be developed for residential use' and 'the sale, leasing, rental or other disposition of residential property and related facilities or the occupancy thereof," whenever there is involved FHA or GI financing, financing by a national bank or any bank or savings and loan association covered by the FDIC or any other type of federal financial support. The quotations are from Executive Order 11063, mentioned below.

"Federal personnel (not the homeowner or his wife) will make decisions as to the personnel building the home, the renting of a single room or several rooms, as well as the rental, leasing or sale of the home whenever race, color or national origin is concerned. Federal personnel will also dictate the actions of realtors, developers, attorneys and the lending institutions.

"What of the right of property? What if the person who seeks to rent a room, lease or buy a home, is not, in the eyes of the homeowner, trustworthy or desirable? If race, color or national origin is involved—and, by the nature of things, these must be involved—the federal inspector (not the homeowner or his wife) makes the decision. The alternative — foreclosure, blacklisting, cancellation of any federal benefits under any program.

"Already, without any legislative authority whatsoever, the President has issued Executive Order 11063 dated Nov. 20, 1962, purporting to put all of the above into effect concerning an estimated 30 per cent of the home building in the United States. This has been done in spite of the fact that Congress, on six different occasions, defeated amendments to then pending housing acts granting the President authority to so act. If this bill is passed, it will validate that order. Moreover, it will give the President carte blanche to subject every homeowner to federal control."

Unless you would like to have your taxes increased to hire a federal inspector to tell you what you can or can't do, let your elected national officials know about your concern. They need your support to turn the tide of pressure groups.

Friendly Panama

In the Times mail a few days ago came a mimeographed letter with a mimeographed signature of simply, "An American in Panama". Handwritten on the top of the letter was a request to have it printed in our paper. The request came from "a G. I. from Thief River Falls who's stationed in Panama".

Four American soldiers were killed in bitter fighting there early in January. In part, the letter states:

> "These four soldiers along with hundreds of their brothers in uniform guarded the borders of the Canal Zone. Their mission was to protect the lives and property of Americans and Panamanian citizens from the large, FRIENDLY groups of Panamanians who entered the Canal Zone. One of their purposes was to plant their national banner as gesture of FRIENDSHIP.
> "After this gesture was completed and they were being escorted from the zone by their reluctant hosts, there appeared other FRIENDLY citizens of Panama. These quiet people, in their excitement over their OPERATION FRIENDSHIP venture, began to throw stones, sticks, bricks, bottles, and other items at their hosts in gleeful joy."

The letter goes on to state that the order to fire back came after many members of the Canal Zone police and soldiers had been killed or wounded by small arms fire. Panama radio then branded the American forces murderers and accused them of "committing a barbarous act on the FRIENDLY people of Panama."

In conclusion, the letter notes: "At night as you stand along the border you can still seem to hear the shouts of our FRIENDLY guests screaming "Yankee Go Home", and you wonder, was it worth the lives that were lost on both sides?"

It's Been a Great Year

Minnesota's Republican party, still nursing its wounds suffered in the gubernatorial recount following the last election, has recovered enough to fire a volley at Gov. Karl Rolvaag. In its weekly publication, the party lists Gov. Rolvaag's actions dring his first six months in office. Actual accomplishments are understandably omitted, but the report makes for interesting reading. It is as follows:

> March 1963—Rolvaag announced that he would not submit a budget proposal to the Legislature (But on adjournment day asserted that the Legislature had not appropriated enough money, a statement which was contradicted by experts). He also asked and received $10,000 for purchase of a new limousine to replace the made-in-Minnesota economy Ford.
> April 1963—Rolvaag vetoed the unemployment compensation bill which would have provided $8 million in weekly benefits and the ore briquette bill which would have spurred employment on the Range.
> May 1963—Rolvaag named to the top post in state government the brother-in-law of Sen. McCarthy—a man who had no experience in government whatsoever—Stephen Quigley. Pay: $16,000.
> July 1963—Rolvaag succeeded in taking two stands on civil rights—each opposed to each other. At the Governor's conference in Miami Beach, he voted with the southerners against a human rights resolution. The next week he flew to Washington and testified before a Congressional committee for civil rights.
> August 1963—Rolvaag's campaign advertising agency received the juicy $75,000 state advertising account in conjunction with the state Dept. of Business Development. John Nevin, defeated DFL candidate for auditor, replaced career professional James Lee as assistant commissioner of business development at $11,408.
> September 1963—Rolvaag told state government department heads that they cannot talk to the news media without checking with him first. Vladimar Shipka, defeated Liberal State Senator, named state ARA Director at $12,000-a-year, replacing a career professional; Ted Shields, brother-in-law of Orville Freeman, named Game and Fish director at $10,500-a-year.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

The President's Commission on Registration and Voting Participation has brought in a large number of recommendations, most of them suggestions that would make it easier for more people to vote. The Commission thinks that the minimum voting age should be lowered to 18 and that literacy tests should be dispensed with.

From my observation there should be reasonable literacy tests, and lowering the voting age to 18 would be a mistake. There undoubtedly are young people 18 years old who would be just as well qualified to vote as some who are 21 or older. But as a group they are still immature mentally. The fact that young men of 18 are considered old enough to enter the military service is justified by their physical development. I like the following reactions of the Wall Street Journal:

"These proposals would indeed make it easier to vote. But what proponents of liberalizing or removing existing barriers seem to lose sight of is that they exist for a highly useful purpose. That is to protect our society and its governments against the irresponsible, and against those who understand neither our political system nor the issues facing it nor the full meaning of the voting privilege.

"If not a duty, voting unquestionably is a privilege, and privileges unquestionably require qualifications. The Constitution wisely left it to the states and not some Federal commissariat to set those qualifications. It is the poorest kind of public policy to debase the privilege in the mistaken belief that lower standards can improve the political process."

It is encouraging to know that Panamanians are not getting much encouragement from other Latin American countries in regard to their demands concerning the Panama Canal. James Nelson Goodsell, Latin America correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, writing from Panama City, states that hemisphere support for the Panamanian stand has not been as firm as observers here thought it would be when the first clashes over the Canal Zone occurred. He reports:

"Both in official governmental reaction throut the hemisphere and in editorial viewpoints in Latin-American newspapers, there has been a noticeable reluctance on the part of Latin Americans to sidle up to the Panama cause and embrace it."

Goodshell quotes a few of the left-wing newspapers of the Latin American countries and their attacks generally follow the Castro line. He concludes:

"But a survey of the hemisphere embassies in Panama City indicated that not one of the nations, except for Cuba with which Panama does not maintain relations, has put out a statement of wholehearted support.

"Indeed, many of the countries have either stated their general hope that settlment of issues can be obtained in quick order, and a few have voiced their views through a respected statesman."

It appears that we can write Panama off our list of trouble spots as one problem we can quit worrying about. Possibly a few reasonable concessions would be in order, concessions to the people of Panama rather than to its present blustering government.

It now appears that passage of the tax-cutting bill can be looked forward to as a certainty. While spending more and taxing less doesn't sound sensible to me, all of us can at least hope for the best.

It is interesting to note that some of the economists who have supported the plan now are not too sure it will work out as well as they had earlier predicted. M. J. Rossant, reporting for the New York Times, states:

"Some of the most fervent supporters of tax reductions are expressing concern that the Texas-size package proposed by President Johnson may be too much of a good thing.

"According to those economists having second thoughts, packing most of the proposed tax relief into the current year can provide too great a stimulus now, making it more difficult to maintain economic stability later."

But for Economist Walter Heller there is no cause for alarm. If the peak is threatened by a slump then all we have to do is provide another tax cut and increase expenditures still more. It's all just as simple as that. According to him we've got our financial problems licked and prosperity is here to stay — that is as long as we are willing to continue cutting taxes and increasing expenditures.

Legion Auxiliary Asks Active Americanism

"Don't take free America for granted!" This is the plea of the American Legion auxiliary to its members throughout the nation as it gives emphasis to Americanism activities during February, according to Mrs. Melvin Ernst, Americanism chairman of Ecklund-Holmstrom auxiliary unit in Thief River Falls.

"The Auxiliary is endeavoring to awaken more active appreciation of the individual freedom that is the heritage of Americans," explained Mrs. Ernst. "If we fail to recognize and value our freedom, it could easily slip through our fingers, and with it all the other things that make Americans the most favored people in history.

"These are dangerous days for freedom," she continued. "Half the people of the world live under some kind of dictatorship, their activities and even their thoughts tightly controlled by their governments. World domination continues to be the goal of communism, in spite of present smiles and peaceful gestures. To achieve this they know that free America must be buried.

"Then we have sweeping changes taking place within our own country, as the population grows by leaps and bounds, and vast cities spread over the country-side. The individual becomes smaller and smaller in today's America of big business, big labor and big government. We must be alert to the dangers to individual liberty which result from the very bigness of our nation and the complication of its economic life. There must always be room for the free way of life in America, no matter how crowded our cities become.

"This will not happen if we take America for granted. We must make conscious effort in behalf of freedom; give it thought and understanding, and teach our children to value it above all earthly possessions. By the activities of our 13,500 American Legion auxiliary units throughout the country during February, we hope to help awaken Americans to this realization."

What Fears Do You Have?

My experience has taught me that most women fear snakes. Men have fears also, but being men they're not supposed to admit them. Children often fear imaginary animals such as dragons or real animals they have never actually had contact with such as gorillas.

Our fears are learned. Little girls for example, who have not yet learned that it's the feminine thing to do, have no fear of frogs or snakes. Any number of scientific studies have proven this. As the girls get older and find that their mothers are frightened of frogs or that snakes may bite, they naturally learn to fear these creatures.

This is a fairly easy learning process to understand. But there are some fears which are difficult to understand. Is a fear of high places the same thing as a fear of snakes? What about the fear of closed-in places like closets and elevators? Some people get panicky if they ride in an elevator. They are not afraid of its falling. They are not afraid anyone in the elevator will hurt them. What are they afraid of? Surprisingly enough they haven't the slightest idea.

These fears, which seem so unreasonable and unlike our normal fears, are called phobias. Almost every kind of phobia has been seen and treated in psychotherapy that can be imagined. The fear of closed-in places is called claustrophobia. But some people fear wide open spaces, (agorephobia). Others fear high places (acrophobia), any crowds (dempphobia) and so on. One poor fellow dared not go near tall buildings for fear they would fall on him, (batophobia). Imagine what a life he would lead in New York City!

Phobias were a keen mystery until about the turn of the century. Here is what they found: If a person does something which makes him feel very guilty, he tries to blot the entire experience out of his memory. If he does this successfully, his emotions settle down. However, if he meets something which reminds him of that guilty experience, he becomes nervous and afraid and has to get away from it. He does not recall the guilty event: it still remains forgotten. All that we see, or that he sees for that matter, is the fear. As soon as he leaves the place or thing, his emotions quiet down. And that is the phobia.

Two young boys were swimming near the foot of a waterfall. The older boy suggested they race to the falls and back. The younger boy hesitated, but finally agreed. They swam the first distance and the bigger lad was in front and, on the return lap, could not see that behind him his buddy was exhausted and yelling for help. Amidst his own splashing and the sound of the waterfall, the cries for help were not heard.

The second boy drowned, and although his parents never accused his friend of neglect, the good swimmer sensed hat the parents of the drowned child held him responsible. In a year's time, the incident was largely forgotten, but then the older child became afraid of running water, (hydrophobia).

He could not take showers, only baths. He had to scoop water from a container rather than have it run from a faucet. Heavy rainfalls terrified him, and he had to hide his head under a pillow so as not to hear the sound of the water splashing off the roof on to the sidewalk.

Have you analyzed his trouble yet? The running water reminded him of the guilty tragedy that happened at the waterfall. His hydrophobia protected him from remembering the drowning.

Too bad he didn't have a chance to talk out his guilty feelings rather than push them into the unconcious. Either that, or he should have moved to a desert.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Office at the Fargo V A Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—When the VA forecloses on a GI home due to delinquent payments and then puts the reclaimed property up for sale, does the new purchaser also have to be a veteran?

A—No. Repossessed homes may be sold to anyone. In fact, if a veteran sells a home he has bought with a GI loan, he may sell it to a non-veteran.

Q—I have heard VA programs on both radio and TV. Is this considered fair to the taxpayer to spend government money in this way?

A—Most, if not all, of the VA programs heard on radio and TV are being given free public service time by the stations.

Q—A veteran's widow lost her pension when she remarried. Her second husband was also a veteran and now he is dead. Can she return to the pension rolls, if she is within the income brackets, as the widow of the first veteran or the second veteran?

A—She is no longer considered the widow of the first veteran but she would be eligible as the widow of the second veteran.

Q—Has the so-called "Long Bill" been passed by Congress to allow reinstatement of lapsed GI insurance policies?

A—No. None of the bills which would have allowed reinstatment of lapsed GI insurance policies have been passed by Congress.

PROPOSED expansion plans for the Thief River Falls municipal airport are shown in the above sketch prepared by the Times from the engineer's layout plans. City councilmen approved the plans and specifications at a special meeting recently and they have been forwarded to state and federal officials for further action. Proposed cost of the project is $253,400 with the total to include $125,000 in federal funds, $82,800 in state funds and $45,100 in city funds. Plans call for extending the 90-ft. wide runway from 3,700 feet to 5,100 feet; surfacing of the runway, taxiway, entrance road, car parking area and expanded apron area; purchasing property or securing easements for clear zones at the ends of the runway; and various amounts of land clearing, ditching and land shaping. D. H. Stewart, city engineer, is the engineer for the project.

Airport Expansion Should Get Underway This Summer

$253,400 Project Includes Runway Extension Plan

Pending approval by state and federal authorities, work on expansion and improvement of the Thief River Falls municipal airport will likely get underway this summer. The project, estimated to cost $253,400, will be jointly financed by federal, state and local funds.

Of the total funds to be expended, the federal government will provide $125,500 and the state $82,800. The city's share of the total will be $45,100. Project plans and estimates were prepared by D. H. Stewart, city engineer, and plans and specifications were approved at a special meeting of the city council last week.

Basic to the improvement plans is the extension of the runway and landing strip. It is planned to abandon the southeast 300 feet of the runway to provide approach clearance over county highway 17. This will require a 1,700-foot runway extension to provide the required 5,100-foot runway needed for landing of larger commercial aircraft than those presently in use.

Estimates of cost are also based on extending the runway at its present 90-foot width, extending the landing strip at its present 300-foot width and expanding the apron from the present 180x224 size to 180x610 feet. Surfacing of the parking area and entrance road is also planned.

Lighting work on the proposed project involves the moving of marker lights, the placing of additional marker lights on the runway extension, construction of six-duct bank across the proposed apron extension, construction of obstruction lights in the northwest approach and the lowering of lighting cables in the area to the northwest of the apron.

According to the engineer's preliminary report, it will be necessary to clear and grub trees for the runway extension and for flight approach clearance in the northwest approach. Grading

Board Acts on Multi-county Library Feb. 18

Defers Action after Hearing Request of Delegation Tuesday

A delegation of 20 interested citizens, including many from the rural areas, appeared before the Pennington county board Tuesday to ask support for the multi-county library proposal offered on a trial basis by the state library division to residents of Pennington, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau counties. Principal spokesmen for the group were Ray Ulferts, president of the Carnegie library board, and Gene Beito, member of the board.

After the discussion, the county board indicated that a decision in the matter would be reached at an adjourned meeting next Tuesday afternoon, February 18, at 3:30.

The board appropriated $1,275.55 to cover the county's share of maintaining the probation and parole officer, and also made its annual appropriation of $150 toward the support of the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

Several salary adjustments were approved by the board. The assistant county engineer was given a raise from $470 a month to $485, and the bookkeeper in the office will receive $360 instead of $350 a month. The sheriff's salary was increased from $5,000 a year to $5,420, and the tractor mower operators were raised from $2.50 an hour to $2.75.

School Board Adopts Two Resolutions

Ask Junior College, Urge County Support Of Regional Library

Thief River Falls board of education adopted resolutions Monday evening calling for a junior college to be located at Thief River Falls and urging the Pennington County board of commissioners to support the multi-county library plan offered by the state library division. The action took place at a regular meeting of the board.

The first resolution urged ". . .that the state junior college board establish a junior college in northwestern Minnesota with Thief River Falls as its site." It noted that "a number of independent studies have indicated that Thief River Falls is the most logical site for the establishment of a junior college" and that the city "has already indicated its great interest in furthering and improving education by the establishment and maintenance of one of the first area vocational-technical schools in Minnesota."

The second resolution asked the county board to take part in the multi-county library proposal offered by the state library division. The offer to provide multi-county service with a bookmobile from library headquarters in Thief River Falls was made recently. Costs of the program during a trial period would be borne by the state, affording the four counties involved an opportunity to evaluate the results of such service.

Considerable discussion was devoted to various phases of the new building program with "Curly" Roberts, representative of the architectural firm of Hammel & Green. Work on the new schools is progressing slightly ahead of schedule due to the unusually mild winter weather.

In other action, the board awarded a high school equivalence certificate to Dale F. Bruggeman on the basis of his passing G. E. D. tests in the armed service and voted a $10 per month increase in salary for Clayton Molstad of the school custodial staff.

A reminder was issued to board members of the meeting of the state school board association Wednesday at Fertile. Most members of the board indicated they planned to be in attendance.

Junior College Group To Coordinate Efforts

Speakers Bureau, Brochure Planned For Public Use

Junior college hopes for Thief River Falls are being translated into coordinated action this week. Robert Flynn, who has been named coordinator for the junior college committee, has announced the opening of a business office in a basement from at the Union State Bank.

Beginning at 1 p.m. today (Thursday), Mrs. Robert Bredeson will begin work as secretary in the office. A considerable amount of correspondence, file arranging and other office work is being conducted as the city proceeds in its efforts to secure junior college facilities.

Arrangement of a speaker's bureau is one of the primary considerations of the coordinator. Organizations desiring to hear more about the junior college situation or what they can do to help may call the office (681-1801) or address correspondence to the Thief River Falls Junior College Committee, c.o. Robert Flynn, Union State Bank, Thief River Falls.

Support Received

Flynn also noted that nearly 120 letters and a number of resolutions have been received by the committee. Some have been addressed directly to the committee or individual members, and some are copies of letters and resolutions which have been sent to the state junior college board.

"We appreciate any and all efforts being made by individuals and organizations in support of our efforts to have a junior college located here to serve the northwestern Minnesota area," Flynn told the Times today. "In order to become better aware of the support which is being received, we would also appreciate receiving letters and resolutions for forwarding to the junior college board or copies of such letters and resolutions for our records."

To Prepare Brochure

Work is being done on the preparation of an informational brochure which will be available to the people in the area within a short time, Flynn added. It is

W. Whitney Says Here He Wants to Seek Senate Seat

"I want to run for the U. S. Senate," Wheelock Whitney of Wayzata told meetings of Republican leaders in International Falls, Bemidji, Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks this week. He met with a local group Monday noon.

Whitney, winding up his six-week tour of Minnesota to find the extent of grassroots support he would have in a Senate race, said that he will seek the GOP nomination if enough resolutions urging him to run are passed at the precinct caucuses and if he is convinced a coalition of Republican and independent voters strong enough to beat Eugene McCarthy can be formed.

Goodridge Bond Vote Thursday

Goodridge school district voters will go to the polls today (Thursday) from 1 to 8 p. m. to express their opinion on a proposed $228,000 bond issue for new school construction. The proposal calls for construction of six classrooms and a new gymnasium.

Typographical errors in the Monday edition of the Times listed the proposed issue as $28,000 rather than the $228,000 figure proposed by the school district board. Supt. David Brown called the errors to the attention of the editor Tuesday.

Voting will be held in the high school agriculture rooms at the school.

Mrs. Jaycees Plan Baby-Sitter Clinic

Thief River Falls chapter of the Mrs. Jaycees is making plans for a baby-sitter clinic to be held during the month of March, according to Mrs. James Fisher, project chairman. The series of meetings will be open to all persons interested and including boys, girls and adults.

The course will be conducted on each Tuesday throughout the month of March with meetings from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. Meeting place has tentatively been set for the courthouse meeting room and further details on time and place of meetings will be announced later.

A fee of $1 will be charged for the course and a test will be given at the last session. Course members successfully completing the test will be presented with a billfold-size certificate and their names will be entered in a baby-sitter directory if they so desire.

Speakers for the clinic will be Elton Cummings, Thief River Falls police chief; Ray Langevin, city fire chief; J. M. Wilson, Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager, who will demonstrate mouth-to-mouth resuscitation; two nurses discussing infant care and action to take in the event of emergencies; and a representative of the county civil defense organization.

Advance registration will be accepted at any time by Mrs. Fisher at the apartment above the Falls Theater or at the theater during regular business hours. Persons interested in the clinic may also register at 6:30 p. m. on the first night of the course. Pre-registration would be appreciated but is not necessary. The $1 fee is payable at the first meeting.

It has been suggested that parents who have regular baby-sitters provide them with the clinic fee since it will help them to improve in the performance of their important duties.

ADULT COOKING COURSE

Ministers Ass'n. Calls for Junior College in City

Adoption of a resolution calling for establishment of a junior college in Thief River Falls was accomplished at a meeting of the Thief River Falls Ministerial association Thursday. The meeting was held in the Trinity Lutheran parish house.

Speakers at the meeting were Cy Carpenter, chairman of the Pennington County Rural Areas Development committee; M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools; and Robert Flynn, coordinator for the local junior college committee.

The presentation included a review of the law which provides for the establishment of state-operated junior colleges in the state and the appointment of a board to recommend sites and assist in establishing the schools. Action taken by the local junior college committe was also presented together with future plans and ideas.

The resolution unanimously adopted by the association noted that ". . . .the great need of the Northwest corner of the state would recommend this area for the establishing of a junior college, inasmuch as there is no school of higher learning on the college level located in this area at the present time."

The resolution further states that Thief River Falls would be a logical choice ". . .because of its geographical position, with a network of highways making it easily accessible to the entire area, because it is a center of population for trade and hospital facilities and because the city has proven its interest in education by the establishment of an area vocational school and by greatly enlarging its educational facilities."

Arctic Cat Wins Snowmobile Derby

ACCUSED of using ether in the gasoline after winning a large international snowmobile derby in Wisconsin, Edgar Hetteen of Arctic Enterprises in Thief River Falls insisted that samples of the fuel be taken for analysis. Roger Skime, winning driver, is shown with the machine above while samples are being taken. See accompanying story for details.

Officials at Arctic Enterprises, Inc., in Thief River Falls are elated at the showing made by their vehicles at the first annual snowmobile derby held last weekend at Chanticleer ski resort near Eagle River, Wisconsin. There were more than 100 entries in the contest which was witnessed by a crowd in excess of 5,000 people.

Roger Skime, plant employee driving a Deluxe Model 100 Arctic Cat with optional 8 h.p. motor, won first place over approximately 75 entries in the low horsepower division. Separate divisions were held for vehicles with engines of 9 h.p. or less and for those with more than nine horsepower.

The race was conducted over an obstacle course about a mile in length and included steep hills and rough, wooded country. "It was a real test of the stamina and maneuverability of the machines entered," stated Edgar Hetteen, company president. Five American and two Canadian manufacturers were represented at the derby, but nearly half the machines entered were Arctic Cats. The event was open to individuals, companies or anyone who wanted to enter.

Following the victorious race turned in by Roger Skime, representatives of a firm manufacturing one of the vehicles beaten accused Arctic Enterprises of using ether in the gasoline, Hetteen stated. Quick to defend his product, Hetteen had the winning vehicle driven directly to the judges' stand.

Before the eyes of an interested crowd, a sample of gasoline was taken from the vehicle's tank in a borrowed tube formerly used for an expensive cigar. To avoid any tampering by the accusers, who were considerably deflated by Hetteen's ready acceptance of their challenge, the tube of sample gasoline was turned over to forestry personnel for shipment to the University of Wisconsin to be analyzed.

If anything got more attention than the locally-produced Arctic Cats at the derby, it was the appearance of Barbara Bonville, Miss Wisconsin. The lovely state winner of the Miss America preliminary pageant was hired by Arctic Enterprises to make an appearance for the day. Hundreds of photographs of Miss Wisconsin with the Arctic Cat were taken during the day, Hetteen said.

As frosting for the cake, Miss Bonville drove an Arctic Cat in the "Powderpuff Derby" and finished third—not far behind Mrs. Hetteen who was a close second in the event.

Arctic Enterprises has entered several snowmobile derbys this winter and fared well in all of them. At the St. Paul Winter Carnival, featured on a network telecast last Saturday, an Arctic Cat driven by Skime finished second in a snowmobile obstacle course test.

By way of additional information concerning the local enterprise, Hetteen noted that a Model 50-E (largest made in the local plant) was sent to Switzerland by air express Tuesday from Chicago. The order was placed by the company's exporter. Air express to Switzerland cost 36 cents per pound with shipping weight of the vehicle being about 1,000 pounds. That amounts to about $360 in freight charges from Thief River Falls to Chicago.

The local firm is now dealing for export of the vehicles to eight foreign countries for both government and civilian use. The negotiation also includes the new line of rubber-tired vehicles being produced by Arctic Enterprises in Thief River Falls.

Volz Speaker at Ash Wednesday Service in City

Missionary to Africa Is Son-In-Law of Former St. John Church Pastor

Rev. Paul M. Volz, a missionary of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod to Nigeria, West Africa, presented an illustrated slide lecture at St. John Lutheran's second Ash Wednesday services at 7 and 8:15 Wednesday.

Rev. Volz is a son-in-law of Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Seltz, now of Brainerd. Rev. Seltz was former pastor of St. John Lutheran.

Pastor Volz is now on furlough, having completed his second three-year term of service in Nigeria. While in Nigeria he served first as advising missionary for about 40 congregations and 20 primary schools. Later he supervised Christian literature production and distribution in addition to teaching church history and Christian doctrine courses at the seminary.

On his recent tour he was in radio and mass communications work, serving as branch manager of the Lutheran Hour's West African office. He recently organized and directed the production of a radio program in Nigeria for use over a new station in Ethiopia.

Rev. Volz' plans are to return to Africa with his family in mid-April. There he will move to Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia, to take up new duties as audience relations officer for "Radio Voice of The Gospel".

Charles Stone Speaks

Sales Tax Studied By Rotary Monday

Charles P. Stone, general counsel for the Minnesota Taxpayers association, was guest speaker Monday noon at a regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club. "Tax Reform in Minnesota" was the topic of his talk which dealt with the possibilities of a three per cent sales tax to provide relief from high property taxes in the state.

Also introduced at the meeting was Wheelock Whitney, candidate for GOP endorsement for the Senate in opposition to Sen. Eugene McCarthy. Whitney was in the city for a meeting with county Republican officials.

"The record of accomplishment of the 1963 Legislature in a number of areas was good," Stone told the Rotary club, "but tax reform was not one of those areas. Although both of the Governors and the Legislature were fully aware of the necessity of overhauling our inequitable and patchwork tax structure to improve our state's tax climate for business, industry and employment, no such action was taken."

The Taxpayer's association representative reviewed the high relationship of Minnesota to other states in property and income taxes, stating that real estate taxpayers need relief and that personal property taxes block growth and jobs.

Proposing a three per cent sales tax to replace percentage losses in reduction of property taxes, Stone said, "The only argument against a sales tax that has any real validity is that it tends to be regressive—that is, it tends to bear a little more heavily on those in the lower income groups than on those with higher incomes.

"Regressivity can be eliminated from a sales tax by exempting certain items, such as food and medicines," he added. But exemptions sometimes produce difficult problems in compliance and administration. Regressivity can also be eliminated from a sales tax by adopting the unique suggestion, first advanced by the 1956 Minnesota Tax Study committee's research staff, of permitting a fixed dollar credit—say $10—for each member of the family unit, against the family's state income tax liability. This would be in addition to the personal credits which he now receives."

Proposals set forth by the committee were included in a bill presented to the 1963 Legislature. Although the hearing before the House tax committee for the proponents of the bill lasted a good two and one-half hours and was by far the best attended and most enthusiastically supported hearing of the entire session," Stone stated, "no vote was taken and the bill died in committee.

A Legislative interim commission has been created ". . . to study the tax resources and economy of the state. . . and needed revisions in the tax laws of the state to provide more equitable treatment to all the people and to encourage development of the state's economy." The commission is currently holding meetings throughout the state to obtain the views of Minnesota citizens.

NWS Holsteins Set High Record

A new milk and butterfat production average for the registered Holstein herd owned by the University of Minnesota, Crookston, has been announced by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The herd has completed its latest testing year with a per-cow average of 16,741 lbs. of milk and 591 lbs. of butterfat, based on 44 completed records.

Production averages are calculated on the commonly employed two-milkings-a-day, 305-day, mature equivalent basis, providing a comparison standard for selection in registered Holstein breeding programs.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Carolyn Offerdahl

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Large containers usually - but not always - give some cost advantage over small containers. As a rule they mean a lower cost per serving, per ounce or per pound. Individual packs cost over twice as much as corn flakes in the large package. A hotdog from a half pound package may cost about a penny more than one from a pound package. On the other hand, there may be no cost advantage in buying the 32-ounce package of frozen peas over the 10-ounce package.

It is a good idea while you are at the store to make a quick comparison of costs per ounce or per pound of small and large containers. If limited time makes this too difficult, prices and sizes of containers can be jotted down for comparison at home.

Comparisons should be made only for containers the family can use without waste. Comparisons of food used regularly will be most worthwhile since the cost advantage can be realized often.

Would you like to have whipped cream that would hold up for an hour or so at your next get-together? Here is what you do. Pour whipping cream into a bowl and add to it three tablespoons of unsifted powdered sugar and one-half teaspoon vanilla for each half pint of cream. Then chill the cream mixture, bowl and beaters thoroughly.

Remove the chilled mixture and utensils from the refrigerator and whip only until the cream is stiff enough to hold its shape when the beater is lifted. At this stage the smooth glossy texture and shape will hold for several hours. Why don't you try it the next time you have company?

Here is a meat roasting trick that I will pass on to you. The most accurate test for doneness of meat is to insert a meat thermometer into the thickest part of the roast. But when a meat thermometer is inserted in the top of a large ham or standing rib of beef, it is almost impossible to get the roast into the average oven. So insert the thermometer into the side of the roast instead. It makes no difference where the thermometer is inserted as long as the bulb rests in the thickest part of the meat and does not touch fat or bone.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

"Read More in '64" is the slogan prominently displayed in your library . . . and there just isn't any better way to spend your time than that, is there? After the chores are done and things have sort of quieted down (for the time being), there's great pleasure in the knowledge that only an arm's length away from your easy chair is the wherewithall to take you away from wherever-you-are and put you where-you've-never-been-before (or where you've already been and you want to go back.)

There are those who'd give anything to follow in the wake (literally) of one Eric C. Hiscock and his wife. Hiscock has authored three travel books besides this, "Beyond the West Horizon." His newest and latest is a masterpiece. He describes 140 places visited by them on their second 'round-the-world-in-a sailboat venture.

This particular travelogue begins in July of 1959 at Yarmouth, Great Britain, and ends August 8, 1962, same place! The places they visit, the people they see, the colorful incidents they experience are in the book.

The photographs (in color) give the reader the feeling of actually being on the scene. The word-pictures of the author are as easy to read, as vivid as the actual photos. This volume is an absolute "must" for those who can't get away right now, but who are suffering from the wanderlust, that age old incurable which strikes all of us . . . occasionally!

If you haven't visited your library recently, you've missed a treat! Mrs. Marshall Hankerson and Mrs. Milton Rierson worked and worked on the winter scenes which turn the juvenile section into a winter fairyland! There is Mr. and Mrs. Snowman and son; there is Benny the bear with his skates and sled. There's the home of our near-neighbors, the Eskimo, done with iceblocks of marshmallow. The display case shelters figurines dressed in traditional cold-weather garb, all in keeping with the seasonal fairyland.

Now, from one extreme to the other, climate wise — "Summer Employment Directory," published by the National Directory Service, is ready for reference. The directory lists summer jobs for 1964, available in the U.S. Therefore, if you are seeking summer employment, or you know someone who is or who will be soon, this is a mighty good little book to study.

Have you done any wiring, lately? Perhaps you are thinking of doing some . . . that's electrical wiring for home or farm. The name of the newest book to be received in this category is "Adequate Wiring for Home and Farm" written by E. W. Jones and L. W. Johnston. The contents cover everything from "essential wiring" to the "small generating plant." The wording is comprehensible to the layman. The subject matter is of interest to the professional.

If remodeling your home is on your "Things To Do" list, a handbook for the owner who wants to do it right, but not do it himself is exactly what A. M. Watkins has produced in his "Complete Book of Home Remodeling, Improvement, and Repair." It covers everything from attics to basements and all the problems betwixt and between.

Anyone for "Art?" Three brand new volumes are ready for the shelf . . . "Children Are Artists" by Daniel M. Mendelowitz; "Ways with Art" by Harold Stevens and "Notes for a Young Painter" by Hiram Williams.

After you've returned from the sea voyage with Hiscock and his wife and you're back to "landlubbering" take "An Overland Journey" from the shelf. The words of Horace Greeley, one of the greatest of the great newspaper editors of all time. Charles T. Duncan did an admirable job of editing dispatches. Professor Duncan is dean of the School of Journalism, University of Colorado (and Minnesota born, by the way!) This book carries Greeley's "Go West Young Man" theme from beginning to end.

"The Social Security Program in the United States" is discussed most intelligently by Charles I. Schottland in his new book. The author knows his subject well since he served as Commissioner of Social Security under President Eisenhower. Versed in all phases of social work (he is currently Dean of the Florence Heller Graduate School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare at Brandeis University), Author Schottland brings his reader up to date, and a bit into the future, with his views on the popular, but always controversial subject at hand.

New books are constantly coming off the presses. New authors are consistantly turning out excellent manuscripts. Old books and authors of yesterday continue to be much in demand. A book is a friend. The joy, the glow, and the warmth of words, well chosen, can never be taken from you. Make a lot of new friends this year . . . "Read More in '64", won't you?

You'll be glad you did!

Republican Caucus Supports Dr. Judd as 'Favorite Son'

Also Calls on Wheelock Whitney of Wayzata to Seek U.S. Senate Seat

Among a half-dozen resolutions adopted by Pennington county Republicans at a joint precinct caucus Tuesday evening was one endorsing Dr. Walter Judd, former Minnesota congressman, as a favorite son GOP candidate for the U. S. presidency in 1964. Mrs. Robert Bredeson, county chairwoman, presided over the session.

Peter Probasco, finance chairman, reported on progress of the fund drive currently under way among party members in the county. The date of Monday, March 23, was set tentatively as the date of the biennial county convention.

Among other resolutions adopted were those supporting the establishment of a junior college in Thief River Falls; urging Wheelock Whitney, mayor of Wayzata, to file for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator; and supporting the taconite amendment to be voted on in the November election.

Following a report by Vernon Nelson on the recent tax hearing in Bemidji, the caucus adopted a resolution urging the replacement of the present personal property tax by some other levy.

Junior College Committee Has Organized Effort

planned to have this material available for speakers to distribute when discussing the junior college situation, thereby permitting neighborhood discussion on a factual basis following area meetings.

"With increasing interest being shown in the junior college possibility at Thief River Falls," the coordinator added, "we feel that such a brochure is a necessity. Many people in the area, understandably, are confused about the facts involved. For instance, many do not know that junior colleges, under the new state plan, would be supported by the state as a whole rather than just by the areas they serve. All Minnesotans will share the costs, no matter where the colleges are located."

Meeting Planned

The committee is also working to assure a large attendance at a meeting on Friday, February 28, when James P. Shannan, member of the state Junior college board, will be in the city to discuss the action of the 1963 Legislature in regard to junior colleges. All persons are encouraged to plan to attend the meeting which will be held in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

"We are pleased that so many people have recognized the need for higher education facilities in this area," Flynn concluded. "Recognition of the problems is a major first step. The next step is to transmit the concern of this area's people to those who can help fill the area's educational void. That job is the basic responsibility of our committee."

More than 850 high school students visited the school for a record attendance at the annual event.

Public Opinion

Editor, Times:
Dear Sir:

It gives great interest and an increasing challenge to observe construction progress on the two new school edifices. With such rapid advance toward completion comes the opportunity for us to provide suitable names which will give rightful honor.

Names already enscribed on our local schools give honorable recognition to famous men on both the national and state levels. For this we are justly proud. As we consider names for our two new schools, let us consider possibilities from the local level. After all, it's on the grass roots level that local advance is made and supported. We can be proud of some of our local citizens who have given so much of their time, energy and themselves to help make our education system progressive as it is today.

Our city is honored to have a local citizen who has given of himself so unselfishly in support of our schools on both the local and state school boards. I proudly suggest the name of Dr. A. E. Jacobson. Today his advice is still sought for solving school affairs and in establishing school policies.

We also have a citizen who has served our schools so efficiently over the years. Her interst in the local education picture is still very inspiring. We do well to recognize and regard Miss Lyda Batten, a former teacher, as we consider naming one of our new schools.

With careful consideration we can have school structures in our city that bear names of respected people on the national, state and local levels. Let's give such civic recognition to some of our own citizens.

Judith B. Wold

Editor Times:

The location of a Junior College has recently become of interest to many local residents. This college, to be built with state funds, could provide greatly improved college facilities to a large number of people if centrally located at Thief River Falls. The nearest colleges to this area are at Bemidji and Grand Forks.

A number of people in Thief River Falls and the surrounding area have contributed of their time to work on this project. I have regretfully noted that Representatives Andrew Skaar and Richard Fitzsimmons have not (to my knowledge) publicly committed themselves on their views of this matter. I am of the opinion that as our elected representatives these men would be interested in spearheading this and all projects that benefit their districts.

Erling Lundeen
Goodridge, Minn.

Dear Mr. Lundin:

As you are Editor of the Times, I am writing to you in regard to an article run on the school bond information meeting held in Goodridge.

I feel that the statement made by Dr. Brown to the effect that the Goodridge school could operate with a very slight increase in cost if the Grygla students were lost is highly misleading and inaccurate, and should be clarified so that the voters may be better informed when they go to the polls to vote.

In a private meeting with Dr. Brown and Mr. Janneck, I was told that should Goodridge lose the Grygla students they would lose over $50,000 in tuition.

I was also told that they could cut their bus expenses by approximately $1,600 and by offering some subjects only every other year, they could eliminate approximately five teachers. This would result in approximately a $25,000 saving and would leave approximately $25,000 which would have to be raised by increased taxes. Figuring that it requires over 32 mills to raise $17,100 ($500 per one mill) for the yearly payment on the bond, it would take a further increase of approximately 45 to 50 mills to cover this $25,000 deficit.

An increase of 45 to 50 mills on top of the original 32 mills is no slight increase to me (and I am sure other taxpayers would agree).

I am not against better education, but I question whether this building project would actually give the students a better education.

Should Goodridge lose the Grygla students and be forced to reduce the teaching staff and curriculum offered, could it not be that the students would receive less education in spite of increased costs to the taxpayers?

Yours truly,
(Name Withheld on Request).

Dear Editor:

As you no doubt know, the voters of the Goodridge school district are voting on a $228,000 bond issue today (Thursday). This vote comes as the result of considerable amount of study on the part of a number of people in our community. The particular proposal being considered has been determined to be the most desirable of several considered.

The question being decided in this election is not only one dealing with the construction of an addition to our school, but rather a question of the future of our entire educational system in the Goodridge area. Simply stated, if this issue passes, our school system will continue to provide our children with high quality education—if it fails, the days of our secondary school in Goodridge are numbered. It is indicated that if we are unwilling to provide adequate facilities in Goodridge for all of our students, other communities are willing to provide for them in their community centers—in either case, the cost to the taxpayers of the Goodridge school district would be about the same. Whether the students are educated in Goodridge or in some other town, the cost will be higher than it is today—the decision must be made as to where we want to spend our school dollars.

So, my fellow citizens in the Goodridge district, I invite you to decide where you want your children to go to school. If you want them to be in Goodridge, vote yes on this issue.

Bur regardless of how you feel in the matter, the important thing is that you make your wishes known by taking the time to vote. Take the time to investigate both sides of the question, and as an informed citizen, come to the polls and cast your ballot. The polls in the Agriculture classroom of the school, will be open from 1-8 p. m. today (Thursday).

Sincerely,
Ernest L. Swanson
Chairman of the Board
School District No. 561
Goodridge, Minn.

Plans submitted to state and federal authorities are expected to be acted upon within approximately six weeks. At that time approval will be given or recommendations made for change.

Runway extension is being planned to provide landing area for Convair aircraft which are being proposed for use by North Central Airlines. The present 3,700-foot runway is too short for the larger planes.

Tax Information Returns Soon Due

Business Firms Warned to File by February 28

Information returns covering 1963 payments for salaries, fees, commissions and other compensation of $600 or more, not covered by tax withholding and reported on Form W-2, must be filed by businesses on or before February 28, 1964, according to George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue in St. Paul.

Payments of rents, royalities, annuities, pensions and other fixed or determinable income totaling $600 or more must also be reported.

Information returns must be filed also by payers of dividends or interest of $10 or more paid to any one person during 1963, and the recipients must receive a record of the amounts reported to the government, Lethert said. Dividend and interest requirement reporting applies to all payments made on or after January 1, 1963.

Forms 1099 and 1096 should be used for these infomation reports, Mr. Lethert indicated. Information contained on Forms 1099 and 1096 will be used by the Internal Revenue Service in its automatic data processing system as a compliance check, he said.

Potato Growers of Valley Oppose Marketing Order

Potato growers of the Red River Valley overwhelmingly opposed reinstatement of marketing order No. 38, a mail vote counted at East Grand Forks revealed Saturday.

The North Dakota-Minnesota Potato Control Board announced that 773 growers opposed reinstatement and 290 voted in favor of it.

North Dakota growers voted 418 to 174 against reinstatement, and Minnesota growers cast 355 against and 116 in favor.

The election was supervised by the 14-member control board after growers in the valley petitioned the board to reinstate the order which was discontinued back in 1962. Potato growers in all counties bordering on the Red River were eligible to vote.

Advises GI's to Check Insurance Beneficiaries

Former GIs were advised today to keep their beneficiary list up to date on their insurance policies.

John R. Parrish, director of the Veterans Administration center in Fargo said the law requires the VA to pay insurance claims to the beneficiary named by the veteran. But too often, Mr. Parish said, the original record of beneficiaries, compiled when the policy was issued, is sadly out of date. The most common reasons for obsolete records are marriages, remarriages, divorces and deaths of those of record.

Parrish advised veterans to write to the VA office to which they send their insurance payments, being careful to give their full name and policy number as well as the old and new beneficiary listings. The VA will help when a veteran has forgotten the old beneficiary listing by sending him a microfilm copy of the old listing as well as a new beneficiary form to be filled in with up to date information.

Side Line Observations

BY BILL DAHLQUIST

According to the Knickerbocker News, New York city is now building windowless schools so there will not be windows for the children to break. According to this publication:

> "In the past year window replacement has cost the school system in excess of $1 million and the maintenance people are admitting they're licked. One new school will be windowless, another will have windows only on the courtyard side and a third will have huge ceramic screens to protect its glass."

The News points out that existing schools will continue to be a problem; stating that the only effective remedy has been to install heavy metal screens that make the schools resemble houses of detention. It suggests that if these measures fail, the next logical step would be to teach school in a cave.

I can think of another solution that I believe would be more effective. As I see it, what New York City and much of the nation needs, is a good, old-fashioned, back-to-the-woodshed movement.

President Lyndon Johnson's recommendation favoring compulsory double-time for overtime was offered with the thought that employers would thus be encouraged to reduce overtime and employ more regular full-time workers. In the background there is also support for a shorter work week, probably a reduction from the present forty hours to 35.

Our experience with overtime here at the Times probably is typical of the problem for many small industries. Our work-week is subject to peaks and depressions. In the nature of our production problems there are days that require a substantial increase in man-hours of labor. There are other days when the regular labor force is adequate without extra hours. It therefore is more economical to maintain a labor force that will be able to meet all of the normal production needs and pay the regular workers overtime for the longer hours required to meet the peak needs.

The fact that our production requires skilled workers is not unusual, and an increase in the cost of a shorter work-week, combined with higher overtime pay, would be a big factor in boosting overall production costs, which, of course, would require higher prices for the products we sell. There is no unemployed skilled labor available to us that would be willing to work on a part-time basis.

And so I am not favorably impressed with President Johnson's proposal for increased production costs as a solution for our unemployment problem. One of the main reasons for our high unemployment is the fact that we have already priced ourselves out of too many competitive markets. One good example is the shipping and shipbuilding industry. The building of ships and the operation of ships was once an important factor in our economic life. Now, in spite of costly government subsidies, an added expense to the taxpayers, as a nation we no longer are an important factor in this giant world-wide operation that provides employment for millions.

As I see it, President Johnson's proposals will not help solve the unemployment problem. On the contrary they would encourage "moonlighting", the growing practice of one employee holding two jobs. I am satisfied that what he proposes would not be in the best interests of our country.

The next bundle of wisdom that will come to you in this column of side line observations will come from Mexico, and therefore may be a little late. But in order to be prepared for the things I hope to observe in Mexico, I have been doing a little special reading and should be able to present at least a background of the problems I would like to explore. Letters of introduction from Congressman Langen will help me meet the people I want to talk to and of course I always can meet the fellows down there who write and also interpret the news.

So for a few weeks struggle along as best you can without me. During that time I will try to pick up some interesting information about our neighbors to the south. If there is something really serious you can reach me through the Carlson Travel Service.

Reach Agreement on Span over Red River in Kittson

North Dakota Highway Commissioner Walter R. Hjelle has announced that a final agreement has been reached between his department and the Minnesota highway department concerning construction of a bridge over the Red River to connect North Dakota Highway 5 in Pembina County and Minnesota Highway 17 in Kittson County.

The bridge's exact location will be on one of two proposed sites, both of which are located on a section of land situated 12 miles east of Hamilton, N. D., and 10 miles west of Hallock, Minn.

Hjelle said both departments will survey the proposed sites in the near future to determine which is most feasible. The costs of construction will be shared equally by the two states.

Trapping Season for Beaver and Otter Set

The 1964 beaver and otter trapping regulations were announced today by the Minnesota conservation department's game and fish division.

Beaver may be taken from 6 a. m., March 7 to 6 p. m., April 19. Otter may be taken from 6 a. m. April 5 to 6 p. m., April 19.

This year most of the state will be open. All of Cook and Beltrami counties, except for some of the western townships will be closed. Lake of the Woods and Koochiching counties will also be closed together with the Kabetogama Pennisula in northwestern St. Louis county.

The canoe routes in the Superior National Forest canoe area which were closed in previous years will be open to trapping this year. Counts of active colonies indicate that the population has built up to a level where the animals should be trapped to help keep the population in balance with their limited food supply.

Otter may only be taken in the area north and east of State Highway 95, U. S. Highways 10 and 371, State Highway 89 and east of the road from the town of Four Towns to Warroad.

No beaver or otter may be taken in the closed area.

All statutory game refuges in the open area are open to beaver trapping except for the refuges in Pine County, and the Schoolcraft and Paul Bunyan Refuges in Hubbard County. All state parks are closed to trapping.

On wildlife management areas, beaver may only be taken by securing a permit from the game refuge manager or area game manager.

No more than ten beaver or more than three otter may be taken by any one licensed trapper during the seasons prescribed.

All beaver and otter pelts must be submitted to a game warden or other authorized agent of the game and fish director for inspection and for the purpose of affixing a seal to the pelts. This must be done not later than five days after the close of the season in the zone where the animal was trapped.

The Department's announcement said the beaver trapping season was set on the basis of information obtained from 2,000 miles of aerial census flown during the month of October and on ground observations made by game and fish field personnel.

They were all at sea about money
. . . till a Thorp manager took the helm

To this particular couple, financial peace of mind and happiness seemed forever out of reach. Monthly bills, payments on home furnishings and car . . . all took such toll of his paycheck that little was left for savings or the essentials of good living.

Finally they went to their Thorp office manager for counsel. They knew him to be a solid community member and good neighbor. An efficient businessman, but warm and friendly — typifying Thorp's hometown understanding of people and their needs. He suggested (and they accepted) the Thorp Balanced Budget Plan . . . a loan sufficient to immediately pay off all bills, with just one repayment a month to Thorp. A payment lower than the former total outgo — leaving funds to balance their budget, get more out of life, and face the future without financial fears and worries.

Cases like this remind your Thorp office manager how important his service is to this community.

He sincerely wants to give you prompt help: loans of $50 to $5000 or more — with up to 36 months to repay — and financing service of every kind. Call on him soon, to make a good friend you can turn to any time.

Prowler Six Defeats Pirates in Overtime

Don Mathieu's rebound goal at 1:41 of the fourth eight-minute overtime period gave the hockey Prowlers a 3 to 2 win over a stubborn and every-trying Crookston Pirates squad in a sub-regional tourney game at Warroad on Monday night.

The win moved the Prowlers into the Region Eight tournament at Roseau on Thursday, with coach George Schlieff's blue-and-gold team scheduled to meet the Warroad Warriors in a first-round game at 9 p. m. on Thursday, Feb. 13. The Baudette Bears, handing the Indus Trojans an 8 to 1 lacing in an earlier game on Monday night, also gained a berth in the Region Eight meet, and the Bears will play the defending champion Roseau Rams at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday, Feb. 13.

The Region Eight championship finals, with the winner gaining a berth in the state high school tourney, will be played at 7:30 p. m. on Friday, Feb. 14. A consolation game, between the losers of Thursday night's first-round games, will be played at 9 p. m. on Friday.

In Monday night's marathon between coach Bob Strand's Crookston Pirates and the Prowlers, it was some top-flight goal-tending by the Pirates' Tom Vind that kept the Crookston club in contention and forced the twenty-five minutes and forty-one seconds of overtime play.

Crookston, in the opening minute of play, on a hard drive by defenseman Chris Myrold, took a 1 to 0 lead at the 0:22 mark. And the Pirates held that advantage until late in the second period when, at the 11:05 mark, Mathieu beat Vind with a backhand shot from in front of the Crookston net.

The Prowlers gained a 2 to 1 lead in the third period when, on a shot that was partially screened, Mathieu scored at the 5:45 mark. But the Pirates came back with the equalizer less than two minutes later when Jim Brolsma and Ken Epema, the two Crookston veterans who have played stellar hockey for coach Strand's club this season, combined for a goal, with Brolsma's screened shot beating goalie Dave Erickson.

The two teams rocketed through three eight-minute overtime periods, and it was at the 1:41 mark of the fourth overtime period that Mathieu, completing a "hat trick" performance, banged in his own rebound, flipping a backhand shot past goalie Vind.

Thieves Win 2 of Last Three Games

Defeat Crookston Twice and Lose to Grand Forks

The senior hockey Thieves, scoring a pair of wins and taking one loss, continue to set the pace in the Northwest Hockey league. The season's schedule will be concluded next week, on Feb. 22 and Feb. 23, with the Crookston Pirates and the Grand Forks Warriors playing the Thieves on the arena rink. The Pirates will play the Thieves at 8:00 P.M. on Saturday night, Feb. 22; while the Warriors will be here for afternoon game on Sunday, Feb. 23.

Playing the Crookston Pirates here last Wednesday night, the Thieves, with Eddie Holmes racking up four goals, defeated Bud Salem's Pirates, 13 to 4. On Saturday night, in a game played at Grand Forks, coach Cliff (Fido) Purpur's Warriors, with Stan Paschke playing fine all-around game, defeated the Thieves, 9 to 4.

On Sunday afternoon, in a game played at Crookston, and which was forced into an overtime period, the Thieves, with Eddie Holmes, assisted by Dale Wennberg, scoring the game-winning goal, defeated the Pirates, 7 to 6. The Thieves held a 3 to 1 lead at the end of the 1st period, and a 5 to 3 advantage at the end of the 2nd period, only to have the Pirates, on goals by Tony Schmitz, Eddie Derosier, and Ron Abelson, tie the game at 6-all.

PIVOT efforts of Kenny Larson in last week's basketball game at Bemidji enabled him to get a pass off to a teammate in the hotly-contested battle. Defensive pressure is being exerted by John Warford, Bemidji's fine all-around athlete, who led the Lumberjacks' scoring with 16 points. Larson also scored 16 points for the Prowlers, eight of them on free throws.

STRETCHING to no avail is Dunne Sheets (54) of Bemidji as Bob Olson of the Prowlers fires for two of his 16 points in Friday night's game at Bemidji. The Lumberjacks controlled the rebounds and showed balanced scoring with 11 men in the scoring column to gain a 70-49 decision. Sheets contributed nine points to the Bemidji cause and was a strong rebounder.

A Hockey Marathon

It appears to be a habit for the Prowler hockey teams to engage in record-breaking overtime games. When the Crookston Pirates and the Prowlers, in a Region Eight sub-regional tourney game at Warroad on Monday night, moved through three complete eight-minute overtime periods, and into the fourth overtime period, a long-play record for Region Eight tournament games was set.

But that game, which was ended when Don Mathieu flipped in a shot at the 1:41 mark of the fourth overtime period, giving the Prowlers a well-earned 3 to 2 win, does not measure up to the length of the game played by the 1955 Prowlers against Minneapolis South in the state tournament.

It was back in Feb. of 1955, the 24th, I think, that coach Dennis Rolle's Prowlers played the South high Tigers in a game that required eleven overtime periods. At the end of regulation time the two teams were in a 2-all knot, and they began play in five-minute overtime periods. The two teams had gone through ten five-minute overtime periods and were at the 1:50 mark of the eleventh period when Jim Westby, on a slap shot, scored the tally that gave South a 3 to 2 win. That's the same Jim Westby who played with this season's United States Olympic team. And, too, the present Prowler assistant coach Gerry Westby, played with the South high team in that epic game. The game did not conclude until 12:25 a. m. on the 25th; and it had started at 7:30 p. m. on the 24th

A remarkable aspect about the Prowler vs. Pirates game at Warroad on Monday night was the fact that the two teams, traditional rivals in all sports, played more than an hour of actual hockey and not one penalty was called by officials Joe Vinet and Vic Lindquist. It makes a difference when the players have respect for the officials, and know that these officials have the game "in hand".

And now it is on to the Region Eight tourney proper. The Prowlers will play coach Myron Grafstrom's Warroad Warriors at 9:00 p. m. on Thursday. The tourney will be opened by the game between coach Oscar Almquist's Roseau Rams and the Baudette Bears, with the face-off slated for 7:30 p. m.

Eighth States-Dominion 'Spiel

Thirty-two rinks will begin competition on Friday at the Fair Grounds curling arena in the eighth annual States-Dominion bonspiel.

The 76th annual Manitoba bonspiel was concluded on Saturday night, and this week nineteen of Manitoba's top-ranked rinks are competing for the right to represent the province in the Canadian bonspiel.

A number of the curlers who participated in the Manitoba bonspiel last week will be down here to participate in the States-Dominion. There will be several "name" curlers in the contingent of Winnipeg rinks that will invade the local arena.

And, of course, the Hank Monson rink from Grafton, N. Dak., winners last season, will be on hand. And it is probable that this rink, as it was last year, will be skipped by Orvil Gilleshammer. And it was last weekend that the Orvil Gilleshammer rink won the North Dakota state title and the right to enter the United States national tournament.

Make a trip or two out to the Fair Grounds this weekend and watch the excitement.

Just for the Ride

The fourth annual American Legion bowling tournament was concluded on Sunday night, and moving into the prize award class was the Northern Chevrolet team of our fair city. The tournament, held at Fergus Falls, was rolled over the Northern Aire lanes, and was in competition for three weekends.

The local Hamm's Beer squad—Marv Washnesky, Lloyd Samuelson, Elton Cummings, Am Wysoski, and Emil Dostal—was the high average squad representing the local post, and this team was expected to roll into the "money". The Northern Chevrolet team—Arnold Kelley, Bob Carlson, Dave Clough, George Glum and Arnie Engelstad—was along merely for the ride and to provide some "color" to the tournament.

But what did the Chevy's do? They rolled a 2941 aggregate to gain third place in the team event, and their lanky southpaw Kelley will probably place in the all-events. The team rolled actual-pin games of 904-857-916 for a fine 2677 total, and with a handicap of 264 pins, had their aggregate of 2941. Individually the boys had these actual-pin totals: Bob Carlson, 566; George Glum, 555; Arnold Kelley, 592; Arnie Engelstad, 488; and Dave (Golden Ball) Clough, 476.

Said one of the Northern Chevvy team members: "It would have been better if we had left Sam and Marv and Am in one of the fish-houses we saw on Lake Sally. Then those boys could have brought back a perch or two."

Valley Shows Hall of Fame Launched Feb. 23

Four names have been selected for the Winter Shows "Hall of Fame" and these individuals will be honored at a special program to be held during Red River Valley Winter Shows week, Crookston. An anonymous committe has been at work on this project for almost a year.

The program will be held on Sunday, February 23, at 7:30 p. m. in the Winter Shows Arena. The public is invited.

In addition to the "Hall of Fame" presentations, there will be a program of music by a massed chorus, including 200 voices from the Climax, Fisher, and Crookston high schools. Also appearing on the program will be the Winnipeg Police Pipers band of Winnipeg, Canada.

The Winter Shows Board of Managers has been interested in the matter of building "better human resources" through its work with 4-H and F. F. A. youth and also through the recognition of outstanding farmers and their wives at the annual Valley Farmer and Homemaker banquet.

An additional "human resource" program is being launched at the 1964 Winter Shows in the Hall of Fame presentations. In our nation, there are always a few citizens who give their time and energy over-and-beyond the call of duty for "building the community" purposes.

The board of managers wishes to recognize men and women citizens of the Valley who have made special contribution over a long period of years—not only to the Red River Valley Winter Shows—but also to the building of the agriculture of the Valley.

Ed Christianson Addresses FU Officers at RLF

"Farm programs of the future should be built upon the foundation of the successful operation of direct payment programs in 1963," a state farm leader said this week.

Speaking at a multi-county workshop for Farmers Union local and county officers at Red Lake Falls February 4, Edwin Christianson, president of Minnesota Farmers Union, told the group the broad use of direct payment measures was the "great advance in farm programs since the 1930's." The officer meeting was held February 4 at Red Lake Falls.

Christianson said that the experience with direct payments in the 1963 feed grains and wheat programs should demonstrate the feasibility of using payments as well in the dairy and soybean support programs.

Attending the officers' workshop from this area were Highlanding, Pioneer, Union and Good Hope local officers.

Potato Firm Eyes Kittson County

Law Firm Engaged to Help Form Subsidiary

Ore-Ida Foods, Inc., world's second largest potato processor is ready to expand its operations to Minnesota, an attorney said Saturday.

The firm, headquartered at Ontario, Ore., has engaged the Hallock law firm of Brink and Sobolik to help form a subsidiary to be known as Northern Properties, Inc. Attorney Lyman Brink said Ore-Ida has deposited $120,000 to buy and to obtain options on land in Kittson county.

Kittson is part of the Red River valley. There is speculation that land near Halma, just south of Lake Bronson state park, is under consideration by the firm.

A vast underground lake in the area contains more than 4 billion square feet of water that could be used for irrigation. The supply is considered inexhaustible.

Ore-Ida corporation uses artificial irrigation methods in all of its potato-growing locations in other states.

Rug Making Topic at Middle River Monday, Feb. 17

To make a braided rug is the topic of a workshop to be held in Middle River at the Lutheran Church at 1:30 p.m. Monday, February 17.

Many homemakers in the Marshall county extension home program have expressed an interest in learning to make a braided rug. It is a good pastime for those interested in handiwork, and it is a way of having an inexpensive but good rug for home furnishings.

Mrs. Arvid Toren of Middle River and Mrs. Edward Carlson of Newfolden will demonstrate the technique of rug making. Those interested are invited to attend the afternoon meeting. Items to bring are scissors, thread, ruler, and strips of fabric to practice braiding.

A potluck lunch will be served.

Editorials . . .

"Our society cannot achieve greatness unless individuals at many levels of ability accept the need for high standards of performance and strive to achieve those standards within the limits possible for them. We want the highest conceivable excellence, of course, in the activities crucial to our effectiveness and creativity as a society; but that isn't enough. If the man in the street says, "Those fellows at the top have to be good, but I'm just a slob and can act like one" —then our days of greatness are behind us. We must foster a conception of excellence which may be applied to every degree of ability and to every socially acceptable activity."

—John W. Garnder

He Can't Win

Dr. Walter H. Judd, former Congressman, is being pushed as a "favorite son" candidate from Minnesota in the race for Republican endorsement for President of the United States. He can't win—so the experts say—and his candidacy is both in the form of recognition by the state Republican party and an "out" to prevent the necessity of backing one of the other hopefuls.

It's too bad that Dr. Judd won't be able to win the nomination. He is certainly among the best qualified for the highest office in the land. His keen awareness of national affairs, bordering on the near-prophetic, resulted in his advice being sought many times by key national figures while he served in Congress. His appraisals and his advice were usually right.

Dr. Judd has a thorough knowledge of politics and the working of legislative bodies. Best of all, more than any other nationally-known Republican spokesman, he can enunciate the principles of the party so that all persons understand and respect the principles for which the party stands. And, believe it or not, party principles should not be tossed aside in an election campaign.

Dr. Judd can't win. The state party officials, and members of the Judd for President committee, are the first to admit it. We only wish that he could.

That Sales Tax

With the appearance in Thief River Falls Monday of Charles P. Stone, general counsel for the Minnesota Taxpayers association, the talk of a sales tax for Minnesota has again been aroused. As we look at the proposal, it seems to make a good deal more sense than any other plan—whether we like the idea of another tax or not.

Minnesota now ranks among the top 10 states in the nation as a high property tax state—sixth place, in fact—and has the highest property taxes of any state west of the Appalachian mountains. This should indicate that a study of the tax situation is in order—and it is in fact being studied by a legislative interim commission.

Some have said that relief in property taxes should be made up in increased income taxes. Minnesota now ranks third highest in the nation in income taxes, both on $5,000 and $10,000 income. Increasing the income tax would place the people of the state in an even worse position. State income taxes are now used principally for education.

The association recommends a 10 per cent reduction in the real estate tax and has the following to say about the personal property tax:

> "Everyone in the business community agrees that attenion also must be focused on the personal property tax. Taxes on personal property—particularly those on farm and business inventories and productive machinery—are difficult, if not impossible to administer fairly and equitably. They discriminate against those engaged in businesses that require ownership of property.
> "Elimination of these inventory and productive/machinery items from the property tax base will encourage growth and expansion of business and industry now located in Minnesota, and will promote the influx into our state of new business and industry, thus helping to provide the additional jobs that we need so badly to keep our young people here at home, and at the same time broadening our tax base and generating more tax dollars, both for the state and for the local taxing districts."

Main items which the association says should be exempted are household goods, productive machinery, manufacturers' inventories, stocks of merchandise of wholesale and retail merchants, farm livestock and farm machinery and machinery permanently attached to real estate.

To replace the revenue lost through the 10 per cent reduction in real estate taxes and the personal property tax exemption, the association proposes a three per cent sales tax. At present the sales tax is used in 37 of the 50 states and Minnesota is surrounded by states having sales taxes.

To offset the possibility that a sales tax would bear more heavily on the lower income groups than those with higher incomes, the association proposes a fixed dollar credit for each member of the family unit against the family's state income tax liability. This would be in addition to the personal credit now received. The sales tax would provide enough money to replace property tax reductions and to reimburse the school fund for income tax refunds.

We would like to see the interim commission come to the realization that tax reform in Minnesota is not sacreligious. We do not like to see new taxes added to the burden of the people, but we do believe that a properly administered sales tax—as a replacement tax—could be a great help to the state of Minnesota.

One Man's Opinion

How often have we heard it said, whether in voting or discussing of governmental affairs, that the voice of an individiual is lost? It is quite true that one man's opinion will be lost if he does not express that opinion where it can be heard or felt—like to his government representative or at the polls on election day.

The ordinary taxpayer may complain without much success about excessive taxes and wasteful spending, but the voice of the taxpayer is being heard with increasing force. "Your Taxes", a publication of the Oregon Tax Research association, states:

> "Taxpayers are in a grim struggle to increase the level of spendable income and to find means of retaining more of their income for their own purposes. Governments are in the same struggle and seek to increase the level of spendable income by increasing taxes. It is at this point that the desires of government come into severe and increasing conflict with the desires of the taxpayers and the result is a mounting tide of resentment against the expansion of government. It is apparent that taxation is now a matter of keen personal interest to an increasing number of voters."

As a result of the increased interest which the Oregon publication mentions, the taxpayer need not feel that he is alone. They may now feel that they can collectively demand economical government and the restriction of government to those matters for which it was intended and which only it can perform.

Farm Chemicals

Considerable controversy over the use of agricultural and other chemicals has arisen in the last couple of years. The confusion created has resulted in a fear of chemical use. This should not be the case. Used as they were intended, and in the amounts and areas recommended, they are not only safe but necessary.

In discussing farm chemicals recently, Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, had this to say:

> "The average consumer probably does not realize that use of agricultural chemicals is one of the key factors in the technological revolution in farming that has resulted in an abundance of high quality, nutritious food at bargain prices. Other factors that have contributed to our highly efficient system of farming are the application of power and genetic improvement.
> "Sensational charges that tend to discredit all uses of agricultural chemicals in agriculture serve no real purpose other than to substitute mass hysteria for calm and thoughtful study and appraisal. Agriculture recognizes the need for regulation in the use of agricultural chemicals. . .but excess regulation would not improve enforcement of safety precautions. It is something akin to asking for greater regulation of poisons in order to keep children from opening medicine cabinets."

As the population of our nation increases, the demand for food products will increase proportionately. Chemical pesticides and weedicides will be needed to help meet this need. We can foresee no danger if the chemicals are used according to directions.

What's In a Name?

Public opinion, as evidenced by letters to the Times, has been running high in regard to the naming of the new school(s) in Thief River Falls. In particular, the question voiced has been whether or not the school(s) should be named after the late President Kennedy.

It is not hard to trace the origin of the names of Washington and Lincoln schools in Thief River Falls to their namesakes—both men whose birthday anniversaries are observed this month and who are recognized after the passage of time as having left significant marks in the annals of our nation's history.

Names of Northrop and Knox schools are also, I am sure, related to men of at least state historic significance. It may or may not be good to continue naming schools in this tradition. What history will say of President Kennedy remains for the historians to determine. This community should not be concerned with personal memorials because of a tragic event—no matter the qualifications of the man in question.

We would like to see a change in tradition. There are a number of people in this community who, throughout a period of years, have contributed much to local education and to education in general. We would like to see the new schools named in tribute to them—as local recognition for service and dedication to the task of educating our youth.

Naming of the school is, in itself, a minor point and should not really be a cause for dissention. The important thing is that excellent educational opportunity is being provided in our community—whether in schools bearing names or not. The test is in the training that the students receive. After all, what's in a name?

In Minnesota...
after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

UNITED STATES BREWERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

To date, Mrs. Rolvaag and I have finished two of the four proposed fact-finding visits to our mental hospitals and institutions for the mentally retarded. Sponsored by my office in cooperation with the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children and the Minnesota Association for Mental Health, these bus ride tours have been a stimulating and rewarding experience.

Full Load

On our first trip we carried almost a full busload, nearly forty persons, to institutions in Brainerd and Fergus Falls. Seldom before has a group enjoyed such an intimate acquaintance with the treatment programs being offered in our hospitals. We sat with patients and heard them discuss openly and frankly the strengths and weaknesses of our program. We received forthright statements from the administrators about the problems and the high aspirations for our state facilities.

Second Tour

Our second tour took us to Moose Lake, Duluth and Cambridge. As in the first our, we were frequently surprised at the strengths of our present programs and ofter made aware of their weaknesses. I was particularly impressed with the growth and progress of our state's new community mental helth centers, the day care centers for retarded children, the rehabilitation centers, and some improvements in our hospitals and schools.

Support Grows

It seems that as we moved along on our tours, more interest and more support joined us. In each community we met with local leaders, legislators, and private citizens who have a deep and abiding interest in helping others. Participation in our dinner meetings was excellent, and I believe that for each person we personally talked to and learned from, there are ten others that they will inform and enlist in the cause.

Closer Ties

Thus far, this series of bus tours has helped this administration to establish closer ties and contacts with local mental health and mental retardation leaders throughout the state. They have provided an open forum for learning and discussion of the problems and accomplishemnts in these fields. We have been able to see for ourselves how our various mental health and mental retardation programs are working, how our money is being spent, and, most important, how people are being helped.

New Interest

—Since making that first tour to mental hospitals and institutions, I have been impressed by a reawakened public interest in state programs for the mentally ill and retarded. A good deal of publicity attended our tours and this has stimulated people to write and to think a little more about the problems we face in providing services in the future.

Get MORE egg dollars

Now is the time to do something about your egg income — to get the highest possible return from your flock. Take your cue from official Random Sample Tests conducted from California to Rhode Island in which Starcross 288 proved to be the top profit producer. Just look at the three year summary of Shaver superiority in Western New York Random Sample Tests.

	Net Income	Eggs Per Pullet Housed	Per Cent Eggs Large and Extra-Large
Shaver Starcross 288	$2.976	245.9	75.37
Test Average	2.418	222.5	70.70
Shaver Advantage	+.558	+23.4	+4.67

A New Layer—Starcross 288 was developed from strains with the best egg-producing and feed-conversion qualities. Poultry scientists took these desirable characteristics and bred them into one layer. The result is a bird that excelled in across-the-board comparisons of white egg layers.

Your egg income next fall and winter depends on the chicks you choose now. Stop in or phone the Swift Hatchery or your nearest Swift's Hatchery dealer and see these official egg laying test results for yourself.

Highway Dept. Warns Load Limits Due Soon

Annual load restrictions on many of Minnesota's trunk highways are due to be imposed in the next few weeks, the Minnesota highway department reports. It has sent out annual reminders on this to heavy shippers and others concerned.

Axle load restrictions normally go into effect the first part of March, with actual signing on the highways dependent upon weather conditions and the ability of highways to carry heavy loads. Restrictions are necessary on roads not capable of carrying legal axle weights of 9-ton because they break up during spring thaw under heavy loads.

Anyone engaged in heavy hauling, including movement of construction equipment, should attempt to complete such hauling while the ground is still frozen and before restrictions become effective, the department advises.

About 7,000 of the 11,904 miles of trunk highways will be restricted in order to protect them from severe damage to the surfaces and bases, which would result in costly repairs. Last year 6,780 miles were restricted to loads varying from four tons per axle to seven tons per axle. In 1962, 6,880 miles were restricted.

Because these restrictions are necessary to protect highways, residents and industries of over 400 communities cannot be served by trucks hauling normal loads over these highways for about 8 to 10 weeks each spring.

The Minnesota Highway Department recognizes the plight of these communities, but there is little the department can do in a short period to alleviate this condition.

In early 1962, the department embarked on a construction program aimed at up-grading state roads in order to eliminate in the foreseeable future the necessity of applying springtime axle load restrictions.

A year's subscription to the Times costs only $5.00.

State Highway Map for 1964 Due Soon

Over 600,000 Copies Were Distributed Last Year

Minnesota's 1963 official state highway map had a highly successful run last year, being about the most popular state publication available to the public.

The Minnesota highway department reports it is presently issuing the last few of the 660,000 1963 maps it had printed last year, and that the 1964 edition will be ready for distribution near the end of March.

It may be a rarity, but a Minnesota highway map could turn up in Africa or England. Since February last year about 650,000 maps have been distributed. They have gone to every state in the nation, Canada and Mexico; and two even went to Uganda, Africa, and three went to London, England.

Most of the maps stayed right here in Minnesota. They were distributed to Minnesotans mainly by the highway department, from its central office and district offices. The department also supplied maps to chambers of commerce, county highway departments and area postmasters for limited distribution to individuals.

The map is a prime piece of tourist literature, according to the Minnesota department of business development, which mailed out about 180,000 of them last year to persons in the midwest and elsewhere.

Crops and Soils Meeting Set for Crookston Feb. 24

William F. Hueg, assistant director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, will be the guest speaker at a Crops and Soils meeting scheduled for Monday, February 24, of Red River Valley Winter Shows week, Crookston.

Dr. Hueg will speak at the Crops and Soils luncheon meeting to be held in the dining hall at the Northwest School of Agriculture at 12 o'clock noon. Persons interested in crop production in the Red River Valley are invited.

On the same day, the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association will hold a meeting at 9:30 a.m. at the Northwest School, Hill building. The Land Use Seminar will convene in the library of Kiehle building, Northwest School, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Highways Are Big Business in U.S.

Receipts for Highways to Hit $13 Billion in '64

Receipts and disbursements are a good way to obtain an overall look at the size of the highway business.

A report just issued by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads states that nation-wide receipts for highways by all units will reach $13.5 billion in 1964. Of this, $1 billion will be in bond proceeds.

The 1964 total will represent a 5 per cent increase over 1963.

The federal highway trust fund, collected wholly from excise taxes on highway users, will amount to $3.6 billion—or 29 per cent of current income excluding bonds. State and local imposts on highway users will total $6.4 billion—or 51 per cent of the gross. Most of the remainder will be provided from property taxes, assessments and general fund appropriations, largely at the local level.

Most of the federal funds are not spent directly, but are paid to the states in reimbursements for work done on federal aid roads.

Highway disbursements in 1964 are expected to reach $12.8 billion, plus $744 million for retirement of bonds. Capital outlay (expenditures for right of way, engineering and construction) will amount to $8.1 billion or 63 per cent of total current disbursements (excluding debt retirement). Maintenance is expected to cost $3.2 billion or 25 per cent of the total. Capital outlay will be 5 per cent and maintenance 4 per cent higher in 1964 than in 1963.

KING AGASSIZ With the work of men like George Nornes, the present King Agassiz, many more doors in the future will be opened to agriculture in the Red River Valley.

Nornes has been the vocational agriculture instructor at Climax for the past fourteen years. He was crowned King Agassiz at the last year's Winter Shows.

During his reign as King Agassiz, Nornes has made many personal appearances. Among these have been the Minnesota State Fair, a Minnesota Twins baseball game, Red River Valley Dairymen's convention, and state and national F.F.A. conventions.

Anyone can help to select another capable King Agassiz. Nominees should be 25-40 years old, and should be closely associated with agriculture.

Many local banks in the fourteen northwestern counties of Minnesota have been displaying posters with the rules and ballot boxes for receiving names placed in nomination. County agents may be contacted in the various counties in regard to local nominations procedures.

107 Drownings in State During '63

Despite the increase in water-oriented recreation during the past 10 years, the number of drowings in Minnesota have been declining.

The bureau of information, Minnesota conservation department, reports that from a high of 180 drownings in 1944 the number of drownings for subsequent years has never reached this figure.

Lowest number of drownings recorded since the 1944 peak was in 1956 when 87 persons became water fatalities. There were 107 drownings during 1963.

During the past 20 years, the drowning rate has averaged 132.3 per year. For the first ten years of this period the rate was 146.9 and for the last 10 years it was 117.9.

An increased awareness on the part of the public of the importance of learning to swim was credited with helping bring about a reduction in water fatalities.

Walnut Timber Is Sold by State for Record High Price

The conservation department reported today that good quality black walnut timber continues to bring a premium price on the market.

At a sale of state-owned timber at the Winona county court house on Tuesday, Feb. 4, the department's forestry division sold 13,700 board feet of mature black walnut logs for an average price of $606 per thousand feet.

This is the highest average rate ever received at a state sale for "woods-run" black walnut. The three tracts of timber offered for sale brought far in excess of the appraised value.

One tract sold for $987.00 per thousand feet. Total income to the state for the three tracts was $8,304.

The timber was located on lands under the jurisdiction of the state game and fish division in the Whitewater wildlife management area. Timber on all state land is managed and sold by the forestry division.

Eight buyers attended the sale, most of whom were representing out-of-state companies interested in purchasing black walnut suitable for the manufacture of veneer.

Darrow Lundeen Herd Leads DHIA During January

Seven Cows Included in Association Produced over 500 lb. Fat in Year

Orville Peters, supervisor of the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association, lists the following herds as the top ten in the association for the month of January:

	Milk Av.	Fat Av.	Test Av.
Darrow Lundeen	1396	48.5	3.48
Myron Carlson ..	1085	47.5	4.38
Don Bruggeman .	1404	46.8	3.34
John Burtness ..	1262	45.2	3.58
Wallace Reierson	1113	41.1	3.69
Clyde Christenson	1044	39.8	3.81
Paul Morkassel ..	968	39.0	4.03
Martin Hanson ..	1037	38.7	3.74
Earl Erickson ..	807	38.3	4.75
Harold Sabo	1039	37.4	3.60

The herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd of the month.

If too many dry cows are included in the herd then the average for that month may be low even though the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk.

There were 25 herds on test with a total of 751 cows and an average of 30 cows per herd during January with the Pennington association, 80 percent of which were milking. The average amount of milk produced per cow was 926 pounds which tested 3.72 percent fat. This amounted to 34.5 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Seven cows finished with over 500 pounds B. F. during the testing year, in a 365-day or less lactation. They were:

	Days	Milk	Fat
Art Stenberg	365	16520	581
Dale Svendsgaard	304	14980	508
Myron Carlson ..	357	11360	512
Myron Carlson ..	347	17300	745
Mehrkens Farms	304	13380	501
L. Hamrick	365	16600	556
L. Mamrich	365	21140	693

Fourteen owner-sampler herds were on test with a total of 334 cows, 81 percent of which were milking.
